

MINE WORKERS WILL REFUSE HARDING PLAN

WASHINGTON, July 14.—A practical certainty existed tonight that the United Mine Workers of America will refuse President Harding's offer of arbitration to settle the coal strike, both bituminous and anthracite.

John L. Lewis, president of the union, William Green, secretary-treasurer and Phillip Murray vice president, left a final conference at the White House which President Harding and Secretary Davis late tonight determined, it was understood, to recommend a refusal of the government's order to the union policy committee which will meet here tomorrow.

The expected refusal, it was said, will apply to the anthracite mines as well as the bituminous, although employers in the anthracite region have accepted practically without condition. The union viewpoint is that the anthracite fields, with their potential production of two million tons of coal a week, should not resume work, because this coal supply, along with non-union production of bituminous, would lessen public pressure for a strike settlement.

The only light cast upon the government's possible further course was a White House declaration today that President Harding felt no doubt he had power to operate the mines in an emergency. They might run the risk of impeachment in taking such a course, it was indicated, but he was said not to fear such a possibility under existing conditions.

INDIAN SCOUT CITY'S GUEST

James Slickpoo Tanks Up on Firewater—Lands in City Bastille

SPOKANE, Wash., July 13.—James Slickpoo, an old federal Indian scout and a Nez Perce veteran of Chief Joseph's war was recently a guest of the city, because of too much "firewater" and his weakness for visiting bootleggers. Because of his war record, the famous Indian was released.

About a year ago Slickpoo became so full of spirit that with the aid of two companions he burned up most of his clothes and $40 in money, and was arrested while going about town in his original Indian costume. After his session in police court that time, he was loaned $2.40 to get back to the agency at Lapwai, Idaho and shortly afterwards returned the money.

Last year Slickpoo was one of the main attractions at the Lewiston-Clarkston fair, appearing in a street parade carrying an American flag and wearing a priceless Indian dress composed of fancy beads and a large collection of elk teeth.

During the trouble with Chief Joseph in 1876, Slickpoo was an Indian scout with the government forces and it is said that he did more good work in putting down the uprising than any other one person.

A Business Motive Power

The time must come when all businesses will consider the advisability of advertising in the same spirit that a manufacturer ponders over the advisability of adopting a new machine. One does not install a piece of labor-saving mechanism because it suits his fancy; but because the efficiency of the business requires it.

He expects the new machine to reduce his cost to operate—perhaps to make a better product—and thus aid him in meeting competition and making larger profits.

Advertising is exactly similar. The man who refuses to consider it as a possible expedient, simply shuts his eyes on one of the problems of his business. He might as well ignore the banks as sources of credit when he has need to borrow capital.

On the other hand, the man who looks to advertising to checkmate all weaknesses and shortcomings of his business and to carry it along to victory despite these, has a child-like faith in the miraculous.

Advertising will not make his product or his service any better than they are but it will bring him the full benefits of their merits. It will not eliminate wastefulness in his factory or his store but it will reduce his cost to operate. It will not make illogical selling methods successful; but it will assist good selling methods, and often point the way for improving them.

Advertising is the most inexpensive motive power that the manufacturer or merchant can buy today. It is a form of stimulus that brings excellent returns on the investment.
