PRICE FOR PITCHER PLACED AT $25,000

Kleffer Denies That He Intends to Sell Beavers as Recently Reported

OAKLAND, Cal., July 22.—William H. Kleffer, president of the Portland club, whom Commissioner Landis barred out of organized baseball, said while attending yesterday's game here, that he did not talk with Frank Chance while in southern California about buying the Portland club. Kleffer said no one had yet shown him any money.

Kleffer stated that he believed he would sell George Wahlberg, his big young southpaw pitcher, although he had no deal yet. The best offer yet made for Wahlberg, according to Kleffer, is $25,000, but the Portland president declared it would take twice that much to buy the pitcher. Bob Conner, scout for the New York Yankees, was one of those who talked to Kleffer about Wahlberg.
