"Bear That Hunted Cobb" to Come Here

The bear that hunted Irvin S. Cobb, America's great humorist, during his trip through Oregon two years ago, will soon be shown in this city, according to a statement made yesterday by A. Whisnant of Bend, Oregon, who accompanied Mr. Cobb on his trip and who was in Salem yesterday arranging with a local theater for the showing here.

The picture in addition to being extremely humorous is a thriller in its scenic features for it was staged through the Cascade mountains and shows many of the wild animals and birds which the party encountered, said Mr. Whisnant.

The famous bear hunt the story of which appeared in the Cosmopolitan recently by Mr. Cobb, is shown from beginning to end. The animal fell from a big pine and its fall is something that has never been shown on the film. This picture is called "Hunting the Big Silence."

SLAYER CASE IS AFFIRMED

Richard M. Brumfield Obtains No Relief in Appeal to Supreme Court

Appeal to the state supreme court has availed nothing for Dr. Richard M. Brumfield, Roseburg dentist, convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to hang for the killing of Dennis Russell, Douglas county recluse.

The supreme court yesterday upheld in all respects the action of the lower court in Douglas county where George H. Bingham of Salem was the presiding judge. The affirming opinion was written by Justice McBride.

A retrial of the case was sought in the appeal, the contentions being based on arguments for change of venue and errors by the lower court.

Brumfield was originally sentenced to be hanged at the state penitentiary on January 13 last. Execution was stayed by the appeal to the supreme court. The slayer's attorneys now have 20 days in which to file a petition for a rehearing. The supreme court will adjourn for the fall vacation on August 1, so if the rehearing is asked it probably will be some time in September before the court passes on the motion. After final action by the supreme court it will be necessary for Brumfield to be returned to Roseburg to be re-sentenced.

Higher Appeal Unlikely. It is not probable that the case will be taken to the United States supreme court on appeal, though an effort might be made. When Attorney Charles Garland of Portland attempted to get the Kerby and Rathle case into the supreme court at Washington a justice of the highest court indicated to him that it is the policy of that court to leave cases of this character to the states.

Justice McBride's opinion points out that the bill of exceptions furnished by the appellant's attorneys was very meager and that the principal ground relied upon in the appeal is the action of the lower court in refusing defendant's application for change of venue and the court's action in overruling a motion to quash the indictment.

Error Claims Listed. The assignments of error were, refusal of the court to quash the indictment; refusal to grant a change of venue; overruling defendant's challenges of certain jurors; admission by the court of applications made by Brumfield for life insurance in favor of his wife; giving of certain instructions to the jury; unconstitutionality of the capital punishment law.

In upholding the refusal of Judge Bingham to quash the indictment the McBride opinion holds that it was legal for Joseph L. Hammersley of Portland to examine witnesses in the grand jury room, since he was regularly appointed as a deputy prosecutor in the case.

Change Not Warranted. The motion for change of venue was denied first by Judge Hamilton and then later by Judge Bingham. The supreme court holds that change of venue would not have been warranted, and that any possible prejudice against the defendant caused by newspaper articles would have been aroused in other counties as well as in Douglas county.

Upholding the lower court in allowing certain jurors to sit over the objection of Brumfield's attorneys, the opinion remarks that "the disqualifications of a juror challenged on account of actual bias are not judged in this state by the rules of common law."

"The question is not so much

PRINCIPALS IN BRUTAL LOS ANGELES MURDER.

Mr. A. L. Phillips.

Mrs. Clara Phillips, 23 years old, and the wife of a wealthy Los Angeles oil promoter, has been brought back to Los Angeles from Tucson, Ariz., charged with the murder of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, 29 years old and a widow. Mrs. Phillips invited Mrs. Meadows for a ride through the country and when a lonely road was reached outside the city limits, opened her handkerchief and produced a hammer which she had previously bought in a five and ten cent store. In a fit of jealousy she accused the widow of stealing her husband's affections and started to beat her over the head with the hammer. There was a struggle, but it did not last long. Mrs. Phillips returned to the waiting automobile and proceeded to the city as though nothing had happened.

Body of Accident Victim Is Unclaimed at Morgue

The body of the man who died early Monday morning following an auto accident on the Pacific highway still lies in the Marion county morgue, unidentified and unclaimed.

Coroner Rigdon is making every effort to establish identification of the man, who is about 65 years of age, but so far his efforts have been futile. There was nothing, other than a watch, in the man's possession at the time he was struck.

He suffered a fracture at the base of the brain and never recovered consciousness after being hit.

Mr. Broke—I can't raise $5; That's all there is to it! I received a notice from my bank this morning that I had overdrafted.

Mrs. Broke—Well, try some other bank. They can't all be overdrawn.
