ocal Manufacturing Concern Finds Demand for Tiling Products.

The dry season, seems to have had two kinds of effects on the farming business in the Willamette valley-it has enormously boosted the drainage district to get rid of water, and likewise it has just as enormously increased the interest and investment in irrigation to get water back on. The Oregon Gravel company of Salem has found the demand so persistent for drainage tile that it recently moved its plant down to the river where it has its gravel supply right at hand, and is just now preparing to go into the drain tile business. It has heretofore put out only culvert tiling, as a main-line, but the de mand for more drainage on the farms, has led to the increase so

Head of Grain Inspection Department of Service Commission Quits.

James W. Church, chief inspe tor of the grain inspection department of the public serves commission, yesterday subm his resignation to the commis in Salem. Members of the comission declared the resignat was unexpected and that W. Church's services have been h ly satisfactory. Mr. Church has been with the grain inspection department ainto its organization in May, 1917, first serving as chief clerk. He was made chief inspector Augus 1, 1918, and has continued to that office since. The comsion is not advised as to his pl for the future. The resignati becomes effective August 1. "The resignation came as entire surprise to all members the commission," says a state ment by the department, a the part of the new commiss to make any change in the pr sonnel of the grain inspec department.

"Under the capable supervis of Mr. Church the department has been built up and extende until now it is rated as one the most efficient grain ins tion departments in the Unit States. The commission regre very much that Mr. Church had decided to sever his connection with the department."
