FIGHT SMOKER LOOKING GOOD

Mulkey and Gardeau Both Mixers, Though of Widely Different Style

Boxing fans are promised about the most interesting program in recent ring history in Salem, when the bell rings Friday night on the Company F smoker.

There hasn't been a single substitution from the original card. It doesn't look as if there would be—which is welcome news.

Starting with good boys, they've all stood by their contracts, and from the way they are showing in their work-outs, there will be four whirlwind bouts.

Gardeau is Impressive
Billy Gardeau, of Boise, one of the top-liners, turned out in force, Wednesday. He is rangy, sinewy like a bundle of steel wires, and he has a left that reaches out like a long-range gun.

Boise Man Taller
Gardeau is inches taller than Mulkey, and is a shifty, tireless boxer. He has one half-line division over Mulkey, but not enough to intimidate the Monmouth scrapper in the least.

Better Ring Provided
Far better ring accommodations are being provided this time than have been used heretofore. Three heavy ropes, instead of two light ones will enclose the ring.

Tom Loutit, official referee for the Milwaukee arena, has been engaged as third man in the ring for the Salem bouts.

GUM-SPOT FOUND IN PRUNE TREES

Van Trump Warns Growers to Fight Ailment—California Spuds Ousted

According to County Fruit Inspector Van Trump, the gum-spot disease, or internal browning, is going to be no stranger to Willamette prune orchards this year. The disease is not either a fungus or an insect infestation; it seems to come in especially dry seasons, when the leaves seem to act as cannibalistic "pumps" to extract the juice from the fruit already formed, to supply their own needs for radiation of moisture. In practice it seems to be as if each separate leaf sucked the moisture out of the tree, he said down through the fruit stem and left the once-juicy fruit to collapse like a balloon with a puncture or a tire with a slow leak.

91ST DIVISION CALLS REUNION

Great Things Promised by O. W. Schmitz, Official Press Agent

The Hook-em-Cow and Raw-Meat-Eaters and Powder-River Boys of the 91st division are to hold a reunion at Seattle and Tacoma, August 19 and 20, that promises to make the war itself look like a love match.

O. W. Schmitz, the press agenting director of the round-up, is promising to make this the biggest thing since they plugged the tops of Mount Tacoma and Raliner and stopped "em spitting fire and brimstone over the scenery. He has secured half-fare railroad rates—in itself an unparalleled feat. He has the promise of the biggest barbecue since they cooked the last of the mammoths and started the oil wells of California on the fat that ran off their corpses. He says that whatever you want to do, it's there waiting for the Powder River boys to come and get it. It sounds like a circus to hear that "never before in the annals of history has such an elaborate program of entertainment been arranged," but Schmitz swears to it.

To secure half-fare rates, visitors should write O. W. Schmitz, room 311, Railway Exchange building, Seattle; or Salem boys can see F. W. Walton, 171 South Commercial street, Salem, before August 14.
