

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Two Licenses Issued—
Two marriage licenses were issued Monday from the office of the county clerk. They go to William Weiss and Gussie Wilson, and T. C. Lachard and Ruth Jacobson. The records do not say where the contracting parties are from.

District to Build—
On Monday the Salem school district, No. 24, secured from the city building inspector a permit to erect a portable school building, one story high, at a cost estimated at $4,000.

Children's Classes to Meet—
The Little Light Bearers, the children's branch of the Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist church, are to meet today at 2:30 o'clock at Willson park for an outdoor program and entertainment. Their mothers are urged to come with them and enjoy the afternoon. Following the exercises in the park, the children are to march to the church where the standard bearers, the older girls, will take charge of them for a dainty little tea party. The Light Bearers are those under 9 years of age. Mrs. A. A. Lee is in charge of the afternoon program.

Five Cases Booked—
Of the five items noted on the Salem police blotter, for Sunday, one was an arrest for speeding, one for the theft of a car, two reports of collisions between cars, and the fifth was of a car that got the best of a bicycle in a mix-up. The theft was a rather doubtful case as to the intent of the car-takers. Apparently it was a joy-ride, for the car was found in the city, though it had apparently been well exercised before it was abandoned.

Kiwans to Meet—
Today being the last Tuesday of the month, the Kiwanis club is to meet for its regular luncheon at the Marion. The club has been holding only once-a-month sessions during the summer, but it is expected that it will start in to meet on the old weekly schedule. "Nate" is to report today on the doings of the district public affairs committee; Scotty will tell about the district trustees and their outlined work for the coming winter. Also, he will tell about the mountain trip of the delegates to the Olympia-Seattle convention. Some of the delegates visited Mount Tacoma, and some climber the slopes of Mount Rainier—all in the same bus. Dan J. Fry, Jr., gives the attendance prize for the day.

Return From Trip—
Joe Graber and family and Orville Hubbard returned Saturday from a 675-mile tour of Rainier park and a few other interesting sections of Washington. They saw about everything there was to see, including 35 miles of corduroy road and the galaxies of new and strange stars that surrounded every new and atrocious bump. Joes says that some of these stars were about the most curious stars he ever saw.

Will Teach at Gooding—
Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred McGrew expect to leave on or about next Monday for Gooding, Idaho, where they will make their home for the coming year. Mr. McGrew has been elected to serve as instructor in public speaking and dramatics in Gooding college, that is making a strong bid for the leading place in its part of the west as an institution of higher learning. He takes an admirable equipment for such a position, his long record of achievement in Willamette dramatics having given him unusual training and teaching experience. Mr. McGrew won the Albert prize, one year, for the most helpful, most progressive and useful undergraduate of his year.

Circus Girl Loses Purse—
One of the women of the Ringling circus missed her purse when she got well down the line towards California, Sunday morning. She wired back from Ashland, asking the Salem police to try and locate the article for her. A purse had been turned in to headquarters by Russell Robins of the Arlington hotel, that he had found. The police believe it is the property of the circus girl.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

State fair coming—
And there will be great crowds.

Reservations for rooms are already being made. Hotel Marion is already about up to the limit. The management of that hotel will register rooms all over Salem, in order to accommodate the great crowds. They will begin soon—in fact, they have already engaged and reserved a number. The Marion management does this work absolutely without cost; except to themselves. They do it because they want to have the state fair crowds satisfied.

The line of Pacific highway automobiles makes North Summer street a busy thoroughfare. They nearly all go that way, since the opening of the street with its new paving. It is a splendid job of paving.

The stretch from the fair grounds store to past the Valley Packing company plant is about ready to pave. It will be done long before the opening of the state fair. There will have to be a detour, at least in the day time, from near the Haysville school house.

The latest—a new baby at a Salem house broadcasts all the night long. Up to date.

President Harding has given up and twice abandoned a contemplated visit to Alaska, and the "summer White House" has been out of the question. It's a strenuous life.

If everybody could rival the efficiency of Miss Nina E. Holmes of the Detroit postoffice, who has just made a record by sorting 20,000 letters in a day, it might almost be possible to cut down postal rates.

The American Red Cross still finds plenty to do; it is already at work for the relief of Swatow, China, where a typhoon this month destroyed 60,000 lives and left multitudes homeless. From the case of Galveston Americans know what such a disaster means.

The British government has appropriated $250,000 to found a training school for young women in domestic science and "the useful arts," in the hope of solving the servant girl problem. Over here the problem is related not so much to the lack of training of young women as to their unwillingness to be servant girls.

Suffrage Statistics Are Requested by New Yorker

O. P. Austin, statistician with the National City bank of New York, wants some figures pertaining to woman suffrage. Secretary of State Bozer has referred to Miss Cornelia Marvin, state librarian, a letter from Mr. Austin in which he inquires whether women in Oregon are subject to the same influences in voting that men are. One thing he wants to know is whether the political rally, with its parades, fireworks and speeches, has any effect on the voting women of this state.

This part of the questionnaire may be hard to answer, since Oregon does not enjoy that kind of electioneering any more.

Paterewski is going back to his dear native land to see the Pola vault possibly.

THE PART THE BANK PLAYS—HOME OWNERSHIP
THERE is scarcely a bank officer who does not have the feeling that one of the best things to build up a Savings Account for is the first payment on a home.
Here in Salem we have seen many young couples save systematically, even with self-denial, towards a home, and when they were established in it, with the first payment made, they easily saved the rest. We approve of, and encourage home ownership.

The WESTERN FURNACE is made of cast iron (not sheet iron)
As a heating machine it is superior to the lighter constructed furnaces just the same as is true in regard to heating stoves. Nobody expects to get the same service from a sheet iron heater that they can get from a good cast iron heater.
The Western cast iron furnace heats quickly and carries the heat evenly. It is easy to regulate and takes a small amount of fuel. The large oblong fire box appeals to all who see it. If you want a pipe furnace let us figure with you as the number of registers makes some difference in the price.
We install both pipe and and pipeless furnaces under a guarantee to satisfactorily heat your home. We have replaced other furnaces with the western and made a big saving on fuel used in the other furnaces.
