CHEMAWA BRAVES GO TO HASKELL

Dick Handley Takes Peratrovich; Nix and Bittles to Kansas School
Chemawa is losing some of its bravest this year when Frank Peratrovich, George Nix and Joe Bittles go to Haskell Institute in Kansas, principally because a full high school course is given in the Kansas school.

Peratrovich is rated as one of the greatest football tackles that the Indians ever had, and one of the real stars of the northwest. Nix is an all-around athlete, and Bittles is the pinch-of-dynamite pitcher and boxer.

They were partly told away by Dick Handley, former athletic star of Washington State college and last year coach of the Pendleton high school, who has just been named as head coach for Haskell, and is going there with some assorted plunder from the northwest, to prove that he can bring something besides his own head work.

Chief Bent says that while the Salem Indian school at Chemawa opens next week, he is as yet unable to say just what the school will be able to do in athletics.

Three New Records Are Established During Meet
WEEQUAHIC PARK, Newark, N. J., Sept. 8.—Establishment of three new championship records in the running broad jump, the hop, step and jump and the three-mile walk today marked the sectional A. A.
