

ECONOMY IS KATO'S PLAN

Premier of Japan Gives His Country Ideas from Washington Parley

TOKIO, Sept. 9.—Speaking at the first conference of local governors since his assumption of the premiership, Admiral Baron Kato explained the steps taken by the cabinet to bring about economical recovery and urged local authorities and individuals to practice economy. He said:

"The Washington conference has created an epoch in the world situation. The powers in Europe and America at present are making strenuous efforts for the recovery of their economic stability and particular efforts are centered upon the development of industries and further advancement of civilization and culture. I think the empire at this critical moment must readjust her economic condition and strive for the consolidation and replenishment of her national strength meanwhile taking measures for promoting national education and enhancing the further development of national industry."

Retrenchment Invoked
The government has decided to carry out an administrative and financial adjustment to economize and curtail the state expenditure, apart from effecting the reduction of army armament and also of land forces, abiding by the spirit of the decisions of the Washington conference. It is very important that each individual strictly refrain from the habit of luxury and exercise strict economy in the mode of living, thereby stabilizing the foundation of individual economy. This principle should be particularly borne in mind by those in the government service, who are required to make efforts for the spread of the thought of economy and thrift among people."

Unsettled Thinking Regretted
The premier regretted that the condition of the thinking world in this country still was in an unsettled state for which the premier recognized the necessity of taking proper measures for guiding the thoughts of the people in a right course.

ing the thoughts of the people in a right course.

The government also was deliberating the question of relations between capital and labor. The premier said that the government was fully aware of the necessity of the adoption of general manhood franchise and was making an elaborate study with a view to adopting that system, though at present he was unable to state anything definite about the date of its execution and the particulars of the plan.

The government will spend $600,000 on the big Wilson dam at Muscle Shoals. The last Wilson dam we knew much about was heard on the evening of the first Tuesday following the first Monday in November, 1920.

HOMESTEAD HAS FAIR EDITION

Oregon's Leading Farm Paper Boosts Mammoth State Exposition

The Pacific Homestead, Oregon's leading farm paper, published from the Statesman building in this city, has just issued a special number of 29 pages, that is probably the best state wide publicity for the Oregon state fair that has ever been given the Salem fair.

The leading article is by the well known Salem news writer, W. A. Pettit. It is descriptive of the coming fair, and the many attractive features. He promises that there will be the greatest display of livestock ever assembled in the northwest, assured by advance reservations from all over the United States and Canada, and the fact that the board has already awarded contracts for tents to accommodate the overflow of exhibits.

The lead editorial takes pride in the fact that the Oregon state fair is the largest on the Pacific coast, and asks for many improvements in the grounds, including the tearing down of the educational building (old pavilion) and the automobile exhibit sheds, and the erection of new ones over by the new agricultural pavilion, on the south. This will give room to accommodate the crowds of the future of 50,000 to 100,000 a day.

The magazine carries a two-color cover with a full page illustration of buildings on the grounds, a view of the midway and of the camp grounds on a crowded day. Set in, is a picture of the world record Jersey, Lad's Iota and her owner, Sam McKee of Independence, while strutting around the poultry building is a mammoth turkey gobbler, and roosting on the building is a barred rock pullet about as large as the building itself. The cover was designed by the editor of the magazine.

Col. Carle Abrams.

The edition is made possible by the liberal advertising patronage, among whom are a number of local business houses, including the Salem Tile & Brick company, Marion hotel, E. B. Flake, Charles W. Maxwell, Ladd & Bush, Northwest Poultry Journal, Capital City Nursery company, Dr. O. L. Scott, Fullerton & Burnside, Capital City Cooperative Creamery, W. E. Burns, F. E. Shafer, The Man's shop, Jeff's Song shop, Capital Business college and the National School of Shorthand.

NEW THEORY IS REVEALED

Religious Conceptions Fortified by Discoveries of Japanese

TOKIO, Sept. 9.—Ichire Sakai, Spanish language instructor at the Colonial school in Koishikawa, claims to have discovered a theory of absolutism which is contrary to Einstein's theory of relativity.

He developed the idea of explaining the universe by absolutism while looking for the best method of teaching grammar.

Sakai Interviewed.
Interviewed by the Nichiichi Mr. Sakai said:

"I wonder why men of profound thinking like Professor Einstein could not discover the theory of absolutism. I did not encounter any great difficulty in discovering it. Kant and Socrates will dwindle into insignificance beside this theory which will revolutionize the medical, philosophical, physical, economic and religious worlds."

Religious Belief Bolstered.

"What gives me great satisfaction is the thought that the theory which I discovered will strike at the very foundation of momism. The theory of absolutism proves the reality of the conceptions of soul, heaven, hell and other ideas which believers in the doctrine of momism laugh at as creations of a cracked brain. The theory of relativity cannot be explained unless by means of high mathematics while the theory I discovered is easy to understand."

Love Becomes Real.

"According to my theory, the soul is as stern a reality as the most visible thing on earth. The eye, mouth, leg, hand, color, sound and everything else on the earth are not dead but living things. In the same way, the brain which is in itself a dead thing, becomes a living thing when it comes in touch with a thing, and that thing is the soul. The soul is an invisible thing, but it becomes visible when it comes in touch with the brain."

sale mail prices in Tokio in June showed an advance of four points over the preceding month and more than eight points over the number for the corresponding month of last year. Rice jumped 18 points in June, due to the drought and the fears of a bad harvest. It is now 100 points above what it was in June, 1921. Barley and wheat, on the other hand, continue to fall. Beans showed substantial increases, tea rose 94 points and eggs 12 points.

The only decrease recorded in food and food products is in the cases of cereals (exclusive of rice) sake and bonito. In textiles, the only decrease is in flannel. Cotton yarns have risen 26 points. Timber and steel continue to fall and are now well below the 1921 level. Paper also is among the few articles in which there is any fall in price. Prices as a whole in June were 107 per cent above the level of July 1914—that is, practically double what they were before the war.

GERMAN WHO BROKE WORLD'S RECORD IN GLIDER.

F. W. Hentzen, in a recent contest in Germany, broke the world's record for motorless flying. He attained a height of 1,200 feet in his glider "Vampyr" and remained in the air for three hours and six minutes. Experts in aeronautics consider this a remarkable feat. Hentzen is shown in his "Vampyr" a few moments before he started his flight.
