TARIFF BILL READY FOR PRESENTATION

ember elections as the bill is certain to become one of the chief issues in the congressional and senatorial campaigns. Democrats will continue their attacks on the measure as one certain to increase the cost of living by several billion dollars a year and as encouraging the continuation of war prices.

Bill is Defended
Republican proponents of the tariff have defended it and plan to continue to do so, as the first to accord agriculture a proper measure of protection and as necessary to protect both industry and labor in the present abnormal world economic situation and more particularly from disastrous competition from the low cost production countries in Central Europe and the Orient.

Chief fighting points in the bill thus far have been the wool, sugar and dye duties, all of which were reduced, some in conference and the so-called flexible tariff provision giving the president broad authority over tariffs. Under this provision as finally perfected in conference. The Executive would have the power to increase or decrease rates 50 per cent.

Canada is Hit
Should such increase prove insufficient to protect American industry the president could declare American valuation but no rate in the bill could be increased on that valuation although a decrease to 50 per cent would be possible. As the flexible section was approved by the senate, American valuation would have been used only in the case of coal tar dyes, synthetic chemicals and explosives.

The senate provision that the flexible tariff should remain in operation only until July 1, 1924, was stricken out of the bill and the so-called scientific tariff provision providing for investigations and reports by the tariff commission as well as those designed to prevent discrimination against American commerce and trade were retained.

The conferees also approved retaliatory provisions, in some cases aimed principally against Canada and affecting Portland cement, common house brick, bituminous and anthracite coal, all of which are on the free list

Chief fighting points in the bill thus far have been the wool, sugar and dye duties, all of which were reduced, some in conference and the so-called flexible tariff provision giving the president broad authority over tariffs. Under this provision as finally perfected in conference. The Executive would have the power to increase or decrease rates 50 per cent.

Canada is Hit
Should such increase prove insufficient to protect American industry the president could declare American valuation but no rate in the bill could be increased on that valuation although a decrease to 50 per cent would be possible. As the flexible section was approved by the senate, American valuation would have been used only in the case of coal tar dyes, synthetic chemicals and explosives.

The senate provision that the flexible tariff should remain in operation only until July 1, 1924, was stricken out of the bill and the so-called scientific tariff provision providing for investigations and reports by the tariff commission as well as those designed to prevent discrimination against American commerce and trade were retained.

The conferees also approved retaliatory provisions, in some cases aimed principally against Canada and affecting Portland cement, common house brick, bituminous and anthracite coal, all of which are on the free list and automobiles, motorcycles and bicycles.

Cotton on Free List
In compromising between the senate raw wool rate of 33 cents a scouring pound and the house duty of 25 cents, the conferees agreed upon 31 cents.

Long staple cotton, which the senate had proposed to tax at 7 cents a pound and which is taxed under the existing emergency act was sent back to the free list. In consequence the ten cents a pound compensatory duty proposed on the finer cotton cloths, made from long staple cotton, was eliminated.

The senate rates on cotton cloth were accepted generally with the senate provision that in no case could the duty on such cloth exceed 45 per cent. Also the senate provision limiting the duty on cotton gloves to a maximum of 75 per cent was accepted, but with the addition of a minimum limitation of 40 per cent. Senate duties on hose and half hose ranging from 30 per cent to 50 per cent were approved as was the duty of 45 per cent on knit cotton underwear and all other knit wearing apparel.

Cutlery Rate Lowered
The duty on silk cloth was fixed at 55 per cent, the senate rate, while that on knit silk hose, half hose, underwear and gloves was fixed at 60 per cent.

Slight reductions were made in the senate rates on cutlery, which led to a long fight on the senate floor. On straight razors duties were fixed on a range of from 18 cents each and 45 per cent to 45 cents each and 45 per cent in place of a range from 20 cents each and 50 per cent to 20 cents each and 50 per cent. Similar reductions were made in the duties on pocket knives, table knives and other knives, and scissors and shears.

'Shingles, which the house had proposed to tax at 50 cents a thousand were retained on the free list, but logs of fir, spruce, cedar or western hemlock were put back on the dutiable list at $1 a thousand board feet. There is a provision, however, that any such class of logs cut from any particular class of lands would be exempt from duty if imported from any country, dependency, etc., which had not at any time during the 12 months preceding their importation maintained any embargo, prohibition or other restriction upon the exportation of such class of logs if cut from such class of lands.

Senate List Stands
Duties on medicines and components of paints were fixed at generally the levels approved by the senate. These led to prolonged fights before the senate acted. Few changes were made in the free list as approved by the senate. Articles voted to that list by that body and which will remain there include white arsenic, bananas, old books, cyanide, fish for fertilizer purposes, gloves made of cattle leather, tin in bars, blocks or pigs, railroad ties and telephone poles, etc., and pickets, palings, hoops and staves.

Former Wisconsin Lineman Will Coach at Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Sept. 12. — S. Howard Buck, former University of Wisconsin lineman, has accepted the position of football coach at Indiana university, it was announced this afternoon. His acceptance was received by Professor J. W. Monkhous, chairman of the athletic committee.

ing that while a large sum of money was spent by his colleagues' supporters, none of it was unlawfully expended; Baker, his nearest opponent, in early returns tonight carried the endorsement of the Farmer-Labor element; Congressman Kelly advocated decreased governmental expenditures, while Emery, former commander of the American legion, appealed to the soldier vote and "a new deal at Washington."

In addition to these points of appeal all three of Senator Townsend's opponents joined in attacking him for his vote to seat Senator Newberry.

G. O. P. Majority Cut

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. — The outstanding fact in the Maine election was that the Republican majority in 1920 "has been reduced about 60 per cent," Cordell Hall, chairman of the Democratic national committee declared today.

He listed as among the other "outstanding facts" to be drawn from yesterday's vote, the following:

"That the great slump in the total Republican vote shows there is a large element of Maine Republicans who are dissatisfied with this administration and this congress and stayed at home rather than vote their party ticket."

Colorado Races Close

DENVER, Sept. 12. — William E. Sweet, Denver bond dealer, was leading in the Democratic race for nomination for governor of Colorado tonight on the face of returns from 110 out of 1494 precincts in the state. Sweet's total was 2820; Fred A. Sabin of La Junta had 2005 votes, while B. L. Jefferson of Steamboat Springs had 569.

In the Republican gubernatorial contest, Benjamin Griffith of Denver was leading Lieutenant Governor Earl Cooley of Trinidad on returns from 102 precincts. Griffith had 1938 votes, while Cooley's total was 1441.

Footie Falls Behind

MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 12. — With returns from nearly half of the state tabulated, Redfield Proctor, a marble manufacturer, and son of the late Senator Proctor, was leading Lieutenant Governor Abram W. Footie of Cornwall by a comfortable majority in the Republican primary contest for the nomination for governor.

The vote from 106 cities and towns out of 247 in the state gave Footie 5210; Proctor 7277.

McLeod Leads Blease

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 12. — The nomination of Thomas G. McLeod of Bishopville for governor of South Carolina over former Governor Gole L. Blease in today's Democratic primary was indicated tonight when a total of 155,451 votes tabulated by the state showed McLeod leading Blease by 16,487 votes.

Hunt Has Slight Edge

CHICAGO, Sept. 12. — In Arizona, early returns gave George W. P. Hunt a slight lead over Charles B. Ward for the Democratic nomination for senator. Senator Ashurst was unopposed for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Bruce Is Nominated

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 12. — Virtually complete returns from yesterday's primary show the nomination of William Cabell Bruce of Baltimore, as the Democratic candidate to contest the reelection of Joseph Irwin France to the United States senate at the November election.

are made the business of the nurse, especially in the homes where these things are neglected. Is Financial Bargain.
If every child is worth $10,000 to the state, as economists assert from their exhaustive figures, then the saving of some of the children who now waste their little lives in futile attempts to live superior to their surroundings, ought to be a real financial bargain to the state.

SCHOOL BOARD IS PUZZLED

Question of Room Wrestled With—Eugene Athletic Relations Resumed

Salem school district may have to spend several hundred thousand dollars for all its school bills, but there's one ray of hope and one glint of gold in its pockets. It has sold the combination band saw, rip saw, wood shaper, finger-cutter and mutilator that used to do the surgical work in the manual training department for $150 in real money, and two other items of the deceased equipment for another $105.

This will save the taxpayers a very desirable sum, and tax dodgers will have to dodge just that much less than otherwise. It is an object lesson in civic righteousness by removing the tendency to prevarication when the tax collector calls.

Litigation Takes Money

But the court had already spent much of this. A judgment secured by C. C. Hartwell for taking the school census two years ago bobbed up for $109.05, and the board last night simply had to pay it. The board had seemed to prove that a number of the names taken on that census were of persons not in the district, but a flaw in the legal treatment of the case left the district floundering after it had won the case on evidence.

Last year 122 pupils were enrolled in the school of typewriting, and this year Superintendent George Hug expects 200. The schools have only 40 typewriting machines which are used in 90-minute periods. The 40 could supply 160 pupils for a regular school day of six hours. The department hoped under 10 more machines, but the board decided to wait and see what happens in the enrollment. The stenographic classes are open only to the junior and senior classes. The great gain in enrollment in these two classes over previous years, assures a heavy demand for the commercial courses. It was agreed that if it becomes necessary to make limitations the seniors will have the first chance.

Money is Saved

By rejecting the bids for the moveable school building now being built at the Washington school and doing the work by day labor, the board figures that it will save somewhere between $1000 and $1500. The building is being rushed along, though it cannot quite be ready for the opening of school next week.

The board faces such an overcrowding of the buildings as will make a sardine box look like an uninhabited wilderness. One of the board said, in trying to appropriate a little more money and a little more money to each of the departments:

"We'll stick within our means, though the kids are hanging out of every window. We have pared the public money down to the bone, and still the schools are overcrowded in every department. Salem will have to have a building program, but the board isn't going to start it. We need twice as much room and equipment for Professor Bergman's department but why not expand out under a canvas tent, so as not to penalize the boys who want service—but get the people in to see what the schools really need."

For this mechanics' class, maintained partly by the federal government under the vocational training Smith-Hughes act the city must provide a place. The board authorized the building committee to see if suitable accommodations could be had for $700 or $800, which it will pay if necessary.

Salem is richer by $120 for the coming of the recent circus. The show paid $100 for the use of the school athletic park for a show ground, and $20 on a bond for the misuse of the place. Part of this went to repay some thefts from the municipal playground. Head Janitor John T. Ross will command the whole army of janitors from all the schools. Some excellent commendations were passed upon the work of several of the janitors who served last year, and who were reelected. The cleansing and heating army will consist of C. E. Stewart, Washington school, F. W. Klaus, McKinley; S. W. Drake, Englewood; J. W. Brock, Garfield; Daniel Gibson, Highland; James Miller, Lincoln; J. W. Woolery, Park; Charles Goleley, Richmond; and G. W. Smalley and J. H. Hendrixon and some assistants for the high school. The boys will serve only part time.

Teachers Elected

Miss Caroline Hrubetz was elected as assistant in chemistry, Mrs. Merle Davenport for grade work, Mrs. Iva Wright as stenographer for Principal Nelson, and Dr. J. O. Mathis was re-elected as school physician. John Marr was selected as truancy officer and school census taker on terms to be arranged by Superintendent Hug and approved by the board at the next meeting.

A move towards the standardization of teachers' salaries was made in the adoption of a report establishing a base of $1350 for the first year in the English, history and mathematics departments, with $1425 for the second year and $1500 for the third and subsequent years. Some of the special departments are still unstandardized. Salaries were way-up during the war, and special teachers have been retained without cutting their pay. A rate of $15-a-month for the supervisors of the junior high schools was agreed upon.

Mrs. Hamilton to Teach

Miss Violet Roztan, one of the high school teachers, put in her resignation because of ill health, which was accepted. Mrs. W. M. Hamilton, a grade teacher, who during the summer had asked for the cancellation of her contract, later asked for its restitution. This was done at the meeting last night. Fred Aldrich, who was to serve in the English department, wrote his regrets and returned his contract from Cleveland, Ohio, where he expected to remain, but by wire he recalled the cancellation, and will be here for service.

Eugene Relations Resumed

Athletic relations are to be resumed with the Eugene high school after a break of two years. A fine athletic schedule is to be presented here this fall, in the way of games; Eugene, Corvallis, Albany and McMinnville are among the schools that will compete with Salem.

by a brother, Charles F. Barry, his son, Howard F. Barry, both residents of the Valley hotel, Portland, and by a sister, Mrs. Edith Durbin of Vancouver, Wash. He also leaves two daughters, Miss Lurline and Miss Marie Barry of Salt Lake. Mrs. E. C. Walsh of Salt Lake City is his divorced wife.

Drowning Indicated

The body has been sent to Portland for interment. There is no evidence of foul play. Harry's hat was tied to his arm, apparently to prevent its blowing away as he rowed a boat. Barry's body, when found, was taken in charge by Coroner Chapman of Dallas, but later turned over to A. L. Keeney, undertaker at Independence, who prepared the body for burial and sent it to Portland.

Many War Vessels Steam Into San Diego Harbor

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 12. — Seventeen warships and auxiliaries, the largest number of men o'war to enter this port in any one day this year, steamed into San Diego harbor this afternoon. First to arrive was the ammunition steamer Pyro, heavily loaded with powder, projectiles and general naval supplies from Hampton Roads. Three hours later destroyer squadron No. 12, comprising 17 vessels, arrived from Port Angeles and San Francisco. The destroyers had been in Puget Sound waters for nearly three months.

Stir Caused in Portland at Announcement from Headquarters

PORTLAND, Or., Sept. 12. — Considerable of a stir was caused today in political circles when it was learned that Walter M. Pierce, Democratic nominee for governor, was about to issue a statement to the press indorsing the compulsory education bill.

Inquiry at the Pierce headquarters resulted in the statement that Mr. Pierce was out of the city but that such a statement had been prepared.

It was also reported on the street that Fred Gifford of the K. K. K. had been entrusted with the task of distributing the document to the press.

BONUS BONDS ARE OFFERED IN N. Y.

Recent Five-Million Dollar Block of State Board Put on Sale

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. — Public offering of more than $20,000,000 in bonds was announced tonight by local banking syndicates. Among announced offerings were: State of Oregon $5,000,000 issue of veterans' state aid 4 1/2 per cent gold bonds maturing serially from 1931 to 1951 and offered to yield from 4.08 to 4.12 per cent. The Bankers Trust company heads the syndicate offering this issue.

This block of state bonus bonds was disposed of by the state aid commission for ex-service men a few days ago, making a total of $15,000,000 in bonds that has been issued. There remains $13,000,000 more authorized.

Final Action on Bonus in House Due Thursday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. — Final action by the house Thursday on the soldiers' bonus bill as perfected in conference is planned by Republican leaders. The measure then will be sent to the senate, where it will await disposition of the tariff bill conference report.
