

O. E. MAY CUT OUT TRAINS

VETO OF BONUS IS SUSTAINED IN THE SENATE

House Overrides Veto by Vote of 258 to 54, Which Is Fifty More Than Required Number.

SAY NEW MEASURE MAY BE INTRODUCED TODAY

New Fight Will Not Be Begun at Least Until Next Session of Congress

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The soldiers' bonus bill failed of enactment today, the senate sustaining President Harding's veto. Previously the house had overridden the veto by a large margin.

The senate roll call showed 44 yeas to 28 nays, or four less than the two-thirds majority necessary to enact the measure without the president's approval. The vote in the house was 258 to 54, or fifty more than the required number.

Although it was reported that a new bonus bill might be introduced tomorrow, it was certain that the bonus fight would not be renewed at least until the next session of congress, which will begin on December 4.

PEACE PLANS NOT HALTING BRITAIN'S WAR PREPARATIONS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 20.—(By The Associated Press.)—The British are mobilizing every available warship, man, horse, automobile, cannon and rifle, within reach of the troubled zone. They are preparing to deal a tremendous blow by land, sea and air if provoked by the Kemal army, which, according to the latest reports is concentrating feverishly around Ismid and Chanak.

All the British barracks in Constantinople have been evacuated and troops are marching in the streets of the capital which is having a sobering effect on the exuberant Turks. The British soldiers are headed for strategic points on the straits.

NURSE WOULD BE PREPARED

Character of Work Expected of Her Outlined by Association Members

Should the Marion county court, as requested, choose to hire a nurse for Marion county, she would serve as any other county official and would be subject to call either day or night, officials of the Marion Health association explained yesterday.

If small children of poor families become ill suddenly they will be in a position instantly to receive attention from a woman capable of treating most types of cases.

Contrary to an impression created recently in Salem, no member of the county health association receives a cent of pay. The men and women connected with the organization seek no remuneration and ask the residents of Marion county for support only in the employment of a county nurse.

To Assist Mothers
Among other things the public health nurse brings to the mother in her own home the latest scientific knowledge on the care, feeding, and clothing of the children, and by demonstration as well as precept shows her how to do the things their well-being requires. Through cooperation with the local medical association, she arranges for conferences and clinics for the infants and pre-school children.

The county nurse, if employed, will send a notification of her findings in each case to the parents of the children, and whenever possible will make a visit into the home for the purpose of talking over the needs of the children and to help the parents plan for the needed care.

Will Help in Homes
Using the school child's needs as a means of entrance into the home, the nurse frequently finds her services very useful, members of the local association explained. She is able to give good counsel to the expectant mother, advice concerning the needs and care of the pre-school child, nursing care of any sick person and instruction and advice through segregation and hygienic care.

CHILD ON HORSE STRUCK BY AUTO

Ankle is Sprained, Animal Injured and Car Damaged in Accident

Little Katherine Rogers of route 5 received a sprained ankle and other minor injuries yesterday afternoon when an auto driven by A. J. Wheaton, 112 Union street, ran into a horse which she was riding along Court street. The animal also was hurt, and the car slightly damaged, but Wheaton escaped injury.

According to the police report the horse became frightened at the approach of the automobile, and when the crash came the animal and its child rider were precipitated to the sidewalk. The accident was held unavoidable.

CLAIM PEOPLE DISBELIEVE 10 COMMANDS

Bishop Says it is Unedifying to Read Laws Which People do not Keep.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 20.—Assertion that people nowadays do not believe the statements in the fourth commandment that heaven and earth were made in six days and that inhabitants against coveting one's neighbor's "or or ass" would be more effective if changed to his "automobile" were made in the house of deputies in a debate on acceptance of a plan to print part of the ten commandments in black face type and the rest in different type to be read at the discretion of Clergyman. Reverend F. M. Kirkus, of Wilmington, Del., said the effect of the commandment against labor by son, daughter, man servant and maid servant on Sunday was lost when everyone knew that there was someone at home preparing dinner.

Reverend A. B. Kinsolving, of Baltimore said young people are not impressed by what is said in the fourth commandment.

Scholars Credulous
"I am greatly distressed by hearing priests say things that scholars know are not true," said George Zabriskie, lay delegate from New York.

Reverend Dr. H. B. St. George of Milwaukee said the question had been raised about overdoing the reading of the ten commandments. "It has said," he declared, that reading those at the communion service is like reading the riot act at a meeting of peaceful people.

"It is not edifying to have said to the people commands which even the best people do not keep," said Reverend Dr. C. L. Slattery of New York.

The house finally approved the plan of the prayerbook commission, already accepted by the bishops, for the shortened form of the commandments.

Police Seek Lone Suspect
Slayer of Minister and Choir Leader Not Yet Taken Into Custody

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 20.—(By The Associated Press.)—The snares spread by the prosecuting and detective staffs of two counties five days ago for the person or persons responsible for the double shooting of Reverend Edward Wheeler Hall, rector of the Protestant Episcopal church of St. John the Evangelist and Mrs. James Mills, choir singer in the church were closing in tonight, police said, on a single subject.

"We will not be rushed in this case," said Prosecutor Stricker of Middlesex county.

"To make an arrest now would open the way for habeas corpus proceedings which would force us to disclose the lines along which we have been working."

Quiz Held Fairly
Detective Totten and members of the prosecutor's staff of Somerset questioned every member of the family at the Hall home. Totten carried with him the revolver found yesterday which is believed to be the weapon with which the clergyman and Mrs. Mills were killed. The detective quoted Willie Stevens as denying that the gun was his, while at the same time reiterating that he had a pistol.

Detective Totten said that he asked Willie Stevens, who is a town character to repeat again his account of what he did on last Thursday, the assumed time of the double shooting.

Willie's Stories Ditty
Mrs. Hall had told the police early in the investigation that her brother accompanied her when she went out to the church about midnight Thursday in quest of her husband.

While declining at first to speak in corroboration of his sister's story, Willie is reported to have said later in a conversation at the fire house that he wasn't with his sister on Thursday night.

Detective Totten said that he retracted this statement during today's questioning.

SALEM POLICE MUST PATROL FAIR GROUNDS

Power Cannot Be Delegated to State Constabulary as Requested, According to Attorney Smith.

RECENT ANNEXATION HELD COMPLETE ACTION

General Satisfaction is Expressed With Conduct at Expo last Year

Salem is not like Julius Caesar said about old Gaul, which was divided into three parts. Salem is an indivisible, indissoluble unit, and nobody can take away any part of its police powers, or its territory.

This is not at all the legal verbiage, but it is the heart of the verbal opinion given by City Attorney Ray Smith Wednesday in passing upon the question of holding the state fair grounds during the state fair week. The fair grounds are part of the city, therefore Salem must police them.

State Officers Proposed
The question came up when it was proposed, tentatively, that the fair could or would be policed by state constabulary instead of by the regular Salem city police. The argument was made that a police force appointed by and under the control of the fair might be closer in touch with the management, and that this would make for efficiency.

It was further argued that since the fair grounds are state property the city would be a good deal of a tail wagging the dog in trying to assume police jurisdiction over the state.

No Way to Do It
Attorney Smith, however, finds that since the fair grounds are legally included within the city boundaries, and that they were so included for the express purpose of giving them city police protection there does not seem to be any way to delegate the police authority to any one else. If the state itself were running the fair, as it runs the state house grounds, it might be allowable to let it also exercise police control. But since the fair is run by a board and not by the state directly, there seems to be no good legal warrant for transferring the police authority to an alien power.

Order Good Last Year
It may be remembered that the fair grounds were brought into the city especially to give the (Continued on page 2.)

BOOZE VERDICT JOLTS BRITONS

Seizure of Boats With Liquor Beyond 3-Mile Limit Invites Row

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(By The Associated Press.)—Unless the defendants take an appeal from the federal court decision in Boston yesterday and permit a higher tribunal to pass upon claim of the American prohibition navy to jurisdiction over the seas beyond the three-mile limit, the British government is expected here to take up the subject diplomatically with the state department.

It is the British contention that the issues raised by the court decision yesterday in Boston in the case of the British schooner Grace and Ruby which was held for rum selling beyond the three-mile limit, are far more grave and important than any mere question of the punishment of a few smugglers, or the enforcement of domestic laws.

In the British view there is involved the greater question of freedom of the high seas. If it is possible for any nation to extend its jurisdiction beyond the old recognized limits of its own pleasure and without reference to the other maritime powers, it is regarded by the British as highly important that some understanding should be reached as to the extent of the powers claimed.

Valley Service May Be Cut
To One Passenger Daily Is Vice President's Statement

If the Oregon Electric Railway company continues to lose money at the present rate in the operation of its train service in Oregon, it may be forced within a few months to curtail its passenger service from Portland to Eugene and other up-valley points to one train daily.

VALLEY SERVICE MAY BE CUT TO ONE PASSENGER DAILY IS VICE PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT

This was the assertion last night of W. D. Skinner, vice president of the company, who is in Salem while on a tour over the territory served by the company.

A prior recommendation, however, that will be made by him to the company unless financial relief comes, will be the complete abandonment of the Forest Grove line of the company.

A move that will probably be made in the near future, which may entail further losses but which apparently is necessary as an experiment in passenger service, will be the reduction of one-way fares to meet competition of motor bus lines. Mr. Skinner said this is to be done in all territory where bus competition exists. Between Portland and Salem the reduction would be from $1.84 to $1.50.

Mr. Skinner said he had received inquiries from the presidents of the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern as to what the effect would be if the service in the Willamette valley were reduced to one train daily.

"I am making a careful study of the situation," said Mr. Skinner, "to determine whether the Oregon Electric has a chance to live. These possible changes would be in the way of experiments to see what the result would be on our financial returns from operations."

Loss Stated in Figures
"During the year 1921 the Oregon Electric lost $85,178.45. Or, in other words, it cost the company that much for the privilege of running trains. Here is a comparison. In the first seven months of last year the company's loss was $44,764.92. During the first seven months of this year the loss has been $84,219.36. We are $40,000 behind last year. For the whole of this year it looks as if it is going to cost the company $150,000 for the privilege of running trains."

Expenses Are High
"Last year on every dollar of gross receipts that came into the company's hands it paid out 32 cents for maintenance and superintendence of way, and also on every dollar of gross income we are paying 10 cents in taxes. In addition to that we are paying 5 per cent on $2,000,000 in bonds."

The house practically disposed of its pressing business with its action on the soldiers' bonus, but members were urged by Representative Mondell of Wyoming, the Republican leader, to remain on the job for possible action on a request from the president for a special appropriation for relief of American refugees in the Near East.

May Meet November 15
The senate, however, has before it for disposition the Librarian loan, a deficiency appropriation bill, and other matters which may or may not be given final consideration.

Meanwhile the question of calling congress in special session about November 15, to take up the administration ship subsidy bill, amendments to the transportation act, and certain appropriation bills was considered at a conference today between President Harding and Speaker Gillett of the house; Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican senate leader, and Representative Mondell, the Republican house leader. The congressional leaders were said to favor such a step and President Harding has indicated that it was under consideration.

Mondell Remains Mum
In the closing moments of the house today, Mr. Mondell sought unanimous consent for two minutes in which to tell of the achievements of this congress, and Representative Garrett, Tennessee, the Democratic leader, asked if the story could not be told in one minute.

"I suggest that the gentleman from Wyoming be given an hour in which to tell what congress has failed to do," said Representative London, Socialist, New York.

Big Fires Are Sweeping Over Nez Perce Forests
GRANGEVILLE, Idaho, Sept. 20.—One of the largest fires of the season is raging in the Nez Perce forest reserve 10 miles south of Riggins, 600 acres of valuable timber having been burned over. Twenty men have been sent from the local reserve office and 10 from McCall. It is announced that the fire, probably caused by lightning, will soon be under control.

JACKSON SILENT ON MINE DEATHS

Searching Probe Promised by Coroner to Fix Argonaut Disaster Blame

JACKSON, Cal., Sept. 20.—Silent men worked in three cemeteries here today, preparing the last resting place for 45 of the 47 miners victims of the Argonaut disaster. The 45 will be buried Friday, while the other two will be interred later outside of California's mother lode country.

Rescue workers made rapid progress today in bringing bodies to the surface of the Kennedy mine from the 4350 foot level of the Argonaut mine, although a delay of one hour and a half was caused by the breaking of a slide shaft between the Kennedy and Argonaut.

The number reached 28, 17 reaching the surface today. The rescue crews are working determinedly at their task, and it was expected that the remaining 19 bodies would reach the surface before the United States bureau of mines rescue crew and miners quit their work.

Searching inquiry into the causes of the mine disaster will be made Friday at the coroner's inquest, Thomas G. Negrich, district attorney, announced. He declared all facts relating to the mine disaster would be brought out. He refused to state whether any criminal or civil action would be taken.

Mrs. Dolores Potter, coroner, previously announced that she would summon the engineer on duty when the Argonaut caught fire, James Bradshaw, shift boss, and others connected with the mine.

Throughout the strain of the last three weeks, Jackson has borne up bravely under the strain. There has been no hysteria, instead a rather grave silence is noticeable over the town. Those who know the miners' temperament declare a strong undercurrent of feeling covers their silence.

ADJOURNMENT NEAR AT HAND

Congress May Recess Friday; Consider Special Session for November 15

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—A resolution calling for sine die adjournment at 2 p. m. Friday was adopted by the house today by an overwhelming vote and the measure was sent to the senate, which is expected to adopt it, if it is evident it can complete its business by that time. Otherwise the senate will amend the resolution to provide for a later adjournment.

FIEND ELUDES POSSE OF 250

Mother Saves Child from Beast After He Kills One and Shoots Another

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 20.—Search of territory around Wilson Creek in Grant county, today by posses estimated to comprise 250 men, for the unidentified man who last night shot and killed August Bonjourni, aged 19, and shot and seriously wounded his uncle, Joe Bonjourni, had brought to light little of an encouraging nature.

The trail of the man from the Bonjourni ranch on Wilson creek, where the shooting took place was traced to the Great Northern railroad tracks, some three miles away where it was lost. Search of trains on which he might have escaped proved fruitless.

Two Men Shot Down
According to statements obtained over the long distance telephone from officers and newspaper representatives, the man came upon August and Joe Bonjourni last night while they were doing their chores about the barn, ordered them to hold their hands behind them, and when they complied, shot them down.

He chased Mrs. Joe Bonjourni, who had come out into the house and soon followed her, meanwhile shooting at her through the door. One bullet grazed her cheek, the officers were informed.

Tries To Seize Girl
His efforts to seize Margaret, the 15-year-old daughter and drag her from the house were frustrated by the mother, who drove him off with a pick handle. He left the farm and a son carried word of the attack to a neighbor.
