

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Dance Armory Tonight—Prize for fox trot for ladies.—Adv.

Taken Into Wilderness—Thursday night two sophomores of Willamette university, Clarence Oliver and Richard Briggs, were seized by a group of freshman and taken to the Jink's farm, 12 miles from Salem. Here Oliver and Briggs were separated from each other and Briggs was blindfolded and taken one mile farther down the road. Both were left to make their way back to the campus on their own power. Friday noon at the edge of Mill creek a group of upper classmen watched Paul Buckley, Ward Southworth, Chaffer, and George Clarke take a plunge. Buckley was prepared, for he had worn a bathing suit to classes underneath his civilian garb. It seems that justice was rendered by the vig committee, and Briggs and Oliver were given redress for the indignities suffered at the hands of the freshman.

Miss Palmer's deft hand demonstrates the peerless qualities of these Oregon made products, face creams, powders, rouge, etc., and shows many new methods of caring for and improving the complexion. See her today.—Adv.

Dr. Edwards to Assist—Dr. Charles Edwards, Ashland, Or., is to assist in the Willamette forward movement to raise $1,250,000, of which $1,000,000 will be used for an endowment, $50,000 for additional buildings for Willamette university, and $200,000 for operating expenses until the endowment is paid. He will also care for the northwest conference endowment. Dr. Edwards will make his home at Salem in the immediate future.

Experienced Waitresses Wanted—At The Gray Belle.—Adv.

Two Accidents Fatal—During the week ending September 28, inclusive, there were reported to the state industrial accident commission 560 accidents, there being two fatalities. Following are the names, addresses and occupations of the fatally injured workmen: Tom Montoye, Lakeview, sheepherder; G. A. Sachs, Eugene, woolen mill

SCHOOL ROLLS OPEN MONDAY

Little Confusion to Be Experienced in Beginning New Year of Work

Salem public schools are to open for registration Monday morning with the certainty of the largest attendance in their history. Especially in the high school where optional courses are allowed much of the registration is already done, the requests having been made last spring for the pupils to indicate their course of study. This was done, and the lists need only the final appearance of the continuing pupils to be checked up in their classes. This will reduce the high school registration rush by at least two-thirds.

Delay Will Be Small

In the grade schools, where the promotions are on a uniform basis, there will be small delay or confusion in registration. Only the newcomers will cause any considerable amount of work. As most of these, except in the primary department, come from other graded schools, and are required to take standard courses, their transfer certificates are easily checked up. The whole school system should be running smoothly before the last of next week.

Buildings Improved

Most of the buildings have had some improvements during the season. At the Yew Park and Garfield schools new concrete walks will help to keep down the muddy-floor evil through the wet weather. Painting and calocmining and general small repairs have been the rule elsewhere. The new portable school building at the Washington junior high has been rushed to completion. The Salem schools are coming to be more and more the ultimate home of the children from the country, and the entire city school system is being crowded perilously close to its capacity limit.

The high school football squad has already done some preliminary practice, and next week will see the boys out in full force. With the return of most of last year's regulars, and with Coach Hollis Huntington devoting full time to the game, the boys expect to make a clean-up of the whole valley, if not of the state. They take on three new teams this year, from Eugene, Albany and Lebanon. After a good deal of rather rancorous bickering the differences have been patched up with Eugene and Albany.
