

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

It was a great fair. It was a financial success, despite two days of rain, and oceans of mud. Put that down as a marker. The state fair is so big now, and of such varied resources, and the fair such a decidedly going concern, that nothing can prevent the growing success of future Oregon state fairs excepting poor management, or lack of vision on the part of the man or men in charge. Every loganberry grower must have been inspired by the report of the Judge Logan banquet at the state fair on Friday evening. There is just one thing necessary to keep the loganberry industry going and growing. That is thorough organization, to the last man, and judicious advertising, and the reorganization of the juice end of the marketing. It is all a question of marketing. School days are here. The kiddies are of the belief that tempus does fugit. Devout Jews throughout the world will tomorrow observe the Day of Atonement. This is a national fast, and the only one commanded in the Mosaic Law. It is the great day of humiliation before Jehovah, on account of sin, and its observance as such is required of all Jews on pain of being cut off from the congregation of Israel. "And this shall be a statute forever unto you, that in the seventh month (Tisri), on the tenth day of the month, ye shall afflict your souls, and do no work at all whether it be one of your own country, or a stranger that sojourneth among you: For on that day shall the priest make an atonement for you, to cleanse you, that ye may be clean from all your sins before the Lord." That is the language of Leviticus, 16: 29-30. All the stores of Salem owned by members of the Jewish faith will close tomorrow, in obedience to this statute, given in the long ago. The same will be true of stores owned by Jewish people, throughout the world. The rest of the people will have to "hand it to" the Jews, and give them due respect for their faithful observance of this law of their religion; for the Jews in the United States alone will sacrifice in the aggregate millions of dollars in loss of trade, on account of the faithfulness to the injunction that was a part of the fundamental regulations for their life and government, given through Moses. In the celebration of the Day of Atonement was the only occasion on which it was permitted to the high priest to enter the Holy of Holies. He went accompanied with the offering of sacrifices for himself and the people. A partial list of the church affiliations of Willamette university students was given out by Registrar Kirk Saturday. The list is as follows: Baptist 12, Catholic 8, Christian 16, Christian Scientist 1, Church of Christ 1, Church of God 2, Church of Brethren 2, Congregational 11, Evangelical 4, Friends 19, Greek Orthodox 1, Lutheran 2, Latter Day Saints 1, Methodist 352, Presbyterian 49, Swedish Methodist 1, United Brethren 1, United Evangelical 3, Unitarian 2, no preference or undecided 7.

DECISION IN STILLMAN CASE IS VICTORY

To conquer intrigues. They have stood by me because a mother who does not fight for her child is not worthy of the name of mother. A man who does not acknowledge his own child is an 'outcast.' Mr. Stillman is not really as bad as one would think; he has been ill-advised by bad friends. I wanted to divorce him in Paris many times. I entreated him to part company with that girl, Florence. President of the biggest banking firm of America, he was led like a child by this girl and he badly neglected his business. He said once 'all right, you may have your divorce.' Everything was settled between lawyers, but the case was not tried before the courts. Mrs. Stillman said that she would not institute divorce proceedings against Mr. Stillman because by so doing, she said, he would be able to legitimize the children of Florence Leeds which would be to the detriment of her own children. "I don't care either to go back and live with him. I will live for my children. I fought for them. Had it been only for myself I would now be free of care, and rich, because all kinds of offers were made to me by the lawyers of my husband in the way of compromises. But I was waging the battle of a woman for the right to live, the fight of mothers for the vindication of their children's rights."

Many Are Arrested
CALEXIO, Cal., Sept. 30.—Mexican federal authorities in Mexicali today caused the arrest of a number of persons who are being held "incommunicado" on charges of conspiracy against the Obregon government. Five former city officials are among them. An outbreak in sympathy with the Juarez rebellion was planned, according to Mexican authorities, but was prevented by the arrests.

Oregon Is Calm
MEXICO CITY, Sept. 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—President Obregon and the members of his cabinet did not appear apprehensive over the Juarez movement this afternoon when they attended a reception to the new Norwegian minister at the National palace. The president, however, asked to be excused from the regular conference of newspapermen, which was scheduled for this afternoon.

Secretary of War Serrano, in a statement here today, attached little importance to the reported revolt at Juarez. At the war office it was explained that federal troops from Chihuahua City and other nearby points had been despatched to the troubled area and the capture of the rebels within a few hours, is predicted. The spread of the revolution to other border cities is not expected here.

McElroy's Band Again Delights Large Crowds
Cole McElroy with his jazz band orchestra has been in Salem during the past week having the dance pavilion at the fairgrounds. The band has played to capacity crowds all week and it was noticeable that many attending the first few nights were again seen on the floors enjoying themselves immensely, the superb music dispensed being one of the reasons for their return. Mr. McElroy has played to Salem audiences for a number of years, and has always been well received. Mr. McElroy was accompanied by Monte Austin, the singer and comedian, to the great delight of those participating in the dances. They leave Salem today for Roseburg for an engagement on Monday and will play in Medford on Tuesday and the balance of the week at Klamath county fair and rodeo, after which they will spend a few nights in some of the California cities, returning to Portland for a short time before taking up a planned trip to the principal cities of the middle west, expecting to be gone several weeks.

and several mules loaded with ammunition were captured from the rebels. "Sixty prisoners were taken, while we estimate the number of dead and wounded rebels at between 15 and 20," General Mendez announced this afternoon. Reports are being assembled and it will not be until tomorrow that we have the exact figures. "Twelve of the federal forces were wounded, while eight have been reported killed. This includes civilians, soldiers and fiscal guards." Three "rateros" released from

Later the other three "dropped in casually for a visit," stayed the rest of the night, and so all five enjoyed the room and hotel bills for three had been saved.

Easy Severance of Marital Bonds Brings Flocks Badly Mated to Fiume

FIUME, Sept. 11.—(By mail.) This city counts a population of 50,000; 15,000 of them received decrees of divorce in the years 1920 and 1921. Divorces seem to be the most flourishing of the local industries, and it is making the city famous. The reason is that the severance of the marital bond is easy here, and people desiring freedom flock to Fiume from neighboring states where divorces are not granted. Anyone can get a divorce in Fiume who has lived in the city long enough to acquire the rights of citizenship. Complications, however, occasionally arise. The case is still remembered of an Italian woman who acquired the citizenship of Fiume and divorced her husband, who remained an Italian subject. Shortly after her divorce she remarried and returned to Italy, where she was promptly imprisoned for bigamy, the Italian law considering her divorce null and void.

BRITISH OFFER NOT ACCEPTED

Germany Turn Down Proposal for Establishment of Airship Lines

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—English interests have failed recently in efforts to enlist the aid of Germany's three largest airship constructors in the establishment and maintenance of an aerial service between England, Egypt, India, and Australia, under British auspices, according to Director Johann Schuette of the Schuette-Lanz works.

Herr Schuette has recently returned from the United States after concluding negotiations for the founding of a German-American company to conduct a European-American air line. British Leadership Scouted. The director intimated that the English project was launched in an attempt to divert the close connections which now have been established between American and German undertakings and to substitute for them a British leadership in airship construction.

"which does not exist," he says. According to Herr Schuette, British interests made proposals to three German companies looking to cooperative construction, but in each case the offer was declined.

Plan Impracticable. Herr Schuette divined in the project an effort to reap the advantages of Germany's experience in airship construction with the object of ultimately taking over the German leadership in this department. He declared its frustration signified the impracticability of the entire plan. Asserting the English builders have repeatedly failed to produce satisfactory results, he declared the English now have at their disposal only two serviceable Zeppelins built for use in the war, and that the cell-bodies of these are no longer trustworthy. These, he said, would not suffice even for a service between England and Egypt.

American Eyes Opened. Herr Schuette said that Americans have had their eyes opened by the fate of the R-38, and that they will now force a way for world advantages to accrue from the German industry which, despite the obstacles of the Versailles treaty, has built 80 first-class Zeppelins and 20 Schuette-Lanz ships. Nearly 100,000 visitors to Yellowstone park this season and it is but a short time ago that Jim Bridger brought back the news that the country was full of hot springs and his associates advised him to join the Ananias club.

WAPATO ON TEAM
Paul Wapato, former Willamette student, now of Portland, came down to play in the alumni-varsity football game Saturday. He was for three years one of the sturdiest ends that Willamette or any other team in the west could boast. Opposing teams soon learned that his end was "no thoroughfare," and they practically ostracised him. He is now doing insurance agency work in the Rose City.

BOYS MAKE 800 MILES ON $1.95
Five College Boys Now on Way to Europe Aboard Cattle Ship
WASHINGTON, July 15.—Eight hundred miles of hard overland travel for $1.35 is a record that smacks of the fishy, but is the actual feat accomplished by five enterprising American college boys seeking adventure in foreign lands. They are W. J. Ash, Russell Ragan, F. J. Selva and R. P. Cushman of Indianapolis and G. W. Stasand of Harvey, Illinois, all students of Wabash college, Crawfordsville, Indiana, who are intent on showing how far resourceful young American can travel without money. Give 12 Cent Tip. Their arrival in Washington recently, after about eight hundred miles in what they called "an antiquated model of popular automobile," was at the expense of just $1.35 apiece. Of that, they boasted, 12 cents was expended in a tip to a garage hand who allowed them to sleep over-night in the back seats of cars stored there. They were on their way to Newport News, there to ship as "chambermaids in the cow," on a cattle boat bound for Liverpool. The trip to Washington took
