PEN WOMEN ASK LOYALTY

Campaign Against Internal Enemies of Nation Made By Organization

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 2.—A nation-wide campaign against disloyalty to the country of whatever nature in the spoken or printed work has been inaugurated by the League of American Pen Women, which has sent out a call to its entire membership to join in the campaign.

This action was taken by the national officers in Washington after information was received from government officials that those who attempt to destroy American institutions and principles direct their efforts primarily to the women of the country and the students in colleges.

This feature is being given particular attention by a special committee appointed by Mrs. Louis N. Geldert, national president, and the national executive board. The textbooks in schools and colleges are being given close scrutiny by this committee. Many textbooks, it is stated, through deletions, fail to instruct properly in American history, American traditions and American ideals.

"Opera companies, whose activities are for education as well as entertainment, who banish our language, our composers and our American-trained singers, tend toward disloyalty in our estimation," declared Eleanor Everest Freer, national chairman of music. "To stifle the progress of so large an asset as our musical art by such a system also seems disloyal to us."

Women Writers Join.

The League of American Pen Women is composed of the professional writing women of the country, authors, editors, publishers, journalists, special feature and syndicate writers, dramatic writers, scenario writers, publicity and advertising experts and lecturers. It holds, because of the nature of its membership, a tremendous national power.

Mrs. Geldert states: "The eighteen branches of the organization throughout the country and the 1500 members of the national body have been called upon to join actively in the campaign."

An American syndicate proposes to build two steamships at a cost of $30,000,000 that will far eclipse anything now afloat. Yet we can recall when the Great Eastern was the last word in ship construction. She would look like a fishing smack these days.

If you don't use your head you might as well have it amputated.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowley's Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.—adv.
