reached home. Next came a clean single to left field from the bat of Pop Young, scoring Groh. The rally ended when Young was nipped off first.

The Giants got only two hits after that and never threatened to score again. Right after the Giants made their cluster of scores, the Yanks slapped the ball upon the infield turf, but as luck would have it, all the balls bounced in the orthodox way and the batters were thrown out.

The Yanks were always making opportunities for themselves, only to turn them down in some careless manner. They might have scored three runs in the first inning instead two with a little more audacity in going around the diamond.

They started off as though they had found their long lost hitting punch. Witt hit a single straight through the diamond into center field and Dugan quickly followed with a single to left. Babe Ruth took a mighty swat at the ball and drove out one of the longest flies that ever dropped into an outfielder's glove. Cunningham caught it in deep center field, just a step or two from the bleacher fence and the force of the ball's descent knocked him against the boards. He was so far away from the plate that there seemed to be plenty of time for Witt to come home from second, but Manager Huggins, who was coaching at third, stopped him there. He scored later on Pipp's single.

Pipp Caught At Second

Pipp tried to run too far rather than not far enough and was caught at second. Meusel sent Dugan home with a hot liner to right, then stole second and took third on Snyder's wild throw to catch him at the middle sack. Schang ended the offensive by striking out.

Bob Meusel began the Yanks' seventh turn at bat with a roller that Groh had trouble in handling. On the way to first Meusel slowed down, seemingly with the thought that it was no use to run. Otherwise he could have got there safely, for Groh's throw was bad and Kelly dropped it and had to step off the bag to pick it out of the mud. As it was the play was close. It was a few seconds later that Ward bombarded the bleachers with him home run, making a goat of Meusel.

More Honors Pulled

Then came the last chance in the ninth and the reckless disregard of it by Huggins' men. Pipp slammed the first pitched ball down the left field line for two bases. He was trapped off second on Meusel's poke to Groh. Schang got a long single into left. He tried to reach second and failed. Ward ended the game with a fly to Meusel. Had Schang been willing to leave well enough alone when he reached first, Bob Meusel could probably have scored after his brother caught Ward's fly.

Even leaving the Yanks' base running out of it, the game would rank as one of the sloppiest in the history of the world's series. The rain was never weary.

Detailed analysis of the pitching shows that McQuillan and Mays worked on practically even terms.

Each had one bad inning. McQuillan, in the first and Mays in the fifth. McQuillan held the Yanks hitless from the first to the seventh, while Mays allowed no more than one hit in any inning outside the fifth.

Pitching Statistics

McQuillan pitched 113 times 42 of which were balls and 28 strikes. Mays tossed to the plate 108 times in eight innings, and Jones, who worked in the ninth, pitched but seven times, all three of the men facing him going out on flies. Seventeen foul strikes and 10 fouls were nicked off Mays' delivery and but nine foul strikes and four fouls off McQuillan.

The attendance for today's game was 36,242, the lowest for any game so far and the receipts aggregated $118,384, making the totals for the four games as follows:

Attendance 147,396; receipts $480,328. The money for today's game was divided as follows: Players' share $60,375.84; each club's share $20,125.26; commissioner's share $17,757.60

Broken spirits is buying the Yankees in the pit of world series defeat in the opinion of John McGraw, Giant leader.

"There's no fight left in them," said McGraw after the fourth game today. "If they had been fighting, they would not have lost in the ninth inning, for they booted several chances to tie the score.

"The fifth inning we got hits and breaks too, and we took advantage of every one. We won the game in that inning.

"Bob Meusel's hot hearted loping to first in the seventh—costly to the Yankees. Had Meusel dashed to first, fighting, as he should—well, figure that out. Ward's home run would have scored him. And then Schang should never, in my opinion, have tried to stretch his hit into two bases. The Yankees should have played for the tying run first.

Hits Fail to Score

"It isn't often that a ball team gets a two bagger, a single, an infield out and a long fly without scoring. Yet the Yankees had these in the ninth today and failed.

"The Giants have been fighting every inch of the way and without this fighting spirit they would have been perhaps three games behind instead of three ahead."

Miller Huggins, the Yankee leader, attributed the loss of the fourth game to "the ill fortune of the game."

"We may have made errors of judgment," he said, "but we were trying. We wanted to win and we took chances. We didn't play ball as we can play it, I'll admit but there's no use whimpering about it.

"There's left to us a fighting chance. I think we'll take it. If we lose the series we'll lose it fighting."

Bush Pitches Today

"Bullet Joe" Bush, chased from the game by the Giant batters in the opening game, is to have the job of holding off the Nationals in the fifth game tomorrow. Sam Jones, who has finished two games for the Yankees is being held in reserve.

So pleased is McGraw with the pitching staff that the experts call "inferior," that he may give the youthful Ryan a chance tomorrow. Jonnard also is an eligible. Neft has had three days' rest, however, and is the logical choice.

Cunningham's work afield today won McGraw's praise. Cunningham pulled Ruth's drive off the center field bleacher wall in the first inning and then in the ninth make the throw that caught Schang at second after the Yank catcher had poked a single over second.

Casey Stengel still is suffering from his lame leg and Cunningham will stay in the field.

MOUNT ANGEL NEEDS WEIGHT

Football Team Fast, But Lacks Poundage, Says Coach Kasberger

MOUNT ANGEL COLLEGE, St. Benedict, Ore., Oct. 7.—Coach Kasberger says that the football prospects at Mount Angel college are not very bright this year, as most of the team consists of new material, only five lettermen from last year's squad having returned. The outlook for a championship non-conference team for Mount Angel college is reported gloomy, as most of the team does not possess weight or much experience. Kasberger must rely on speed and open formation.

On the field the M. A. C. squad clicks smoothly through signal practice night after night, but Kasberger says, "Not enough weight." He must plug holes left by such men as Pillette and Connor. Goetz the 200 pound fullback, is not returning to Mount Angel and Gallagher has gone East to college.

However, five lettermen, Hudson, Cranston, Hardin, Joseph and Lawrence Butsch are back on the job. The tentative lineup guards: Center, Wernmark; forwards: Hardin, Watson, Jackson, Coffey; tackles, Pashek, Joseph, Lawrence Butsch, Stockton; ends, Dyke, Spear, Cranston, Caughlin, Capet, Hudson, Stockton, Marssters, Butler, Evans; backs, Ziegenhagen, Kohler, Blackwell, DeLausey, Brock, Stockton, Hudson.

Following is the schedule: Mount Angel vs. Oregon freshmen, October 14, at Mount Angel; Mount Angel vs. Pacific univermost as humiliating for the state team as for the invaders. The game was undeniably a better display of courage than of finished football, on both sides. Bain, who played center last year, went in as quarter, and ran the team well. Both teams show a wealth of good material, the state having the heavier men but the Bearcats showing speed and class that the season should develop into a slashing team.

Willamette has no game for next Saturday, the 14th; the first on the regular schedule is on the 28th, with Chemawa. A game is pending with Linfield on the 21st, if it can be arranged. This is Linfield's first football season for several years.

Chicago Begins Football Year by Beating Georgia

STAGG FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 7.—Chicago opened its football season with a 20 to 0 triumph over the University of Georgia today, in one of the most important inter-sectional games of the year. Pyott, left halfback, scored six points with two drop kicks and Johnny Thomas, right half, smashed over for two touchdowns. Randall, Georgia's star halfback was forced out of the game in the second period because of injuries.
