ANNUAL BAG RUSH IS SLATED TODAY

Freshmen and Sophomores of Willamette University Will Clash

Today at 4 o'clock the annual bag rush between the freshmen and the sophomore classes at Willamette university will be staged on Sweetland field. It's free—and it's powerfully funny.

Because of the large size of the classes, the number of contestants has been increased this year to 16 on a side. There are nine grain bags filled with water-soaked sawdust, so that they weigh well on toward 100 pounds each. These are placed in the middle of the field, and the side wins that can get the largest number of loaded bags across the opponents' goal line, at the opposite end of the field. There are two 10-minute halves.

Almost everything goes. It is generally agreed that biting should not be done in the open, but it can be done under cover there seems to be no prohibition. Hammerlocks and solar plexuses and dragging by the heels and practically everything that gentlemen may do in any kind of a fracas is permissible. The start is spread over a good deal of territory, but when it gets down to about one or two bags, it gets downright homeric.

The two classes had an interesting series of tangles Tuesday and Wednesday. The frosh succeeded in capturing D. C. Taylor, bomb custodian of the athletic stores, Tuesday, and mill-raced him properly. Then some of the sophs challenged the whole frosh squad to a duel on the campus, and the green-caps gathered on the sward to see what the Sam Hill. The sophs did not break up their meeting in the hall to wipe the earth with the frosh, but two of their number got into the chapel, where the frosh had stored their coats and valuables in anticipation of the big fight—and carried the last garment up into the belfry and locked the door. One of the sophs give the leap away, and then the whole lot of plunder was released.

Last night gangs of both classes were parading the streets, hunting for an enemy that needed licking. A few frosh were milled, but there was no general Waterloo. It will come later.

Western Governors Are Invited by Louis F. Hart

OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 11.—Governors of all the states west of the Rocky Mountains were today invited by Governor Louis F. Hart of Washington to a conference in San Francisco November 16 to consider uniform gasoline tax and speed laws and other legislation that he believes should be the same in all these states. He chose the date so that the governors may submit to the legislatures of their states whatever program is adopted.

Old Oregon Trail May Be Restored to West

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 11.—The Old Oregon trail, the pioneer highway to the coast, across Wyoming, Idaho and Oregon, is again to become a reality, according to plans outlined today at a meeting of a joint body of representatives of various civic clubs at the Chamber of Commerce. The body will present to the legislature a request that certain Oregon roads be named as parts of "the Oregon Trail." A stipulation was made by the Portland committee and accepted by the eastern Oregon delegation that the Columbia highway is to preserve its identity under the plan.

A permanent organization with Henry J. Ottenheimer as president and Frank Branch Riley as secretary, was effected.

THEY LED IN MAKING HOME RUNS,

Row With Price Described

Warren said he was unable to find any more liquor, and that when he went to the place where the automobiles were the men whom he later learned were offered attempted to get him and Petite into one of the cars. Warren refused, he said, and they tried to force him into the auto.

Didn't Know They Were Officers

The Indian defendant declared on the stand that at no time did the men tell him they were officers, and that after his brush with Priche went to his father's home and got the rifle for protection. He admitted asking a number of persons where the man was who was in the Dodge car but declares he did not ask the confectioner's wife, "Where is the revenue officer driving the Dodge car?"

Pistol in Evidence

James Morris, barber, in whose shop Warren got a shave late in the evening, was the last witness called by the defense.

Decense Waives Argument

District Attorney J. N. Helgeson presented the first and, as it proved, the only argument to the jury summing up the case. In this he made no attempt to link the chain of evidence together, that evidently having been intended to have been done by Tooze.

Girl Not Seen

Robert Marshall, driver of the car which came from Tillamook, also declared that the girl did not run up to the scene and come up behind Price as she had testified. Price, testified Marshall, at no time after the first shot was standing erect. The girl declared on the stand that she saw him standing erect just before he fell and lay still.

Prisoner is Serious

The prisoner showed his most serious mood of the entire trial when the judge was instructing the jury. Warren's eyes did not leave the judge for a moment and he swallowed frequently. The Indian has, however, borne up remarkably well and outside of the court room visited with his family and friends and joked with them.
