

U'REN'S BILL IS FILED HERE

Visionary Scheme of Legislative Representation Proposed in Measure

An initiative bill whereby it is proposed that members of the state legislature shall be elected according to their occupations and not according to political party was filed with the secretary of state yesterday, the intention being to have it ready for the ballot at the general election in November, 1924.

The measure, which is fathered by W. S. U'Ren, Portland lawyer, was filed by the Peoples' Power League of Oregon, represented by the following officers whose names appear on the petition: C. E. Spence, Oregon City, president; O. R. Hartwig, Portland, vice president; W. E. Kimsey, Portland, treasurer and W. S. U'Ren, Portland, secretary. Mr. Spence is master of the State Grange and Mr. Hartwig is president of the state Federation of Labor.

Parties Are Target
The measure is designed to eliminate party government in Oregon. Occupations having at least one-sixtieth of the total number of registered legal voters of the state would be entitled to one representative in the legislature for each one-sixtieth. Occupations, however, having registered any fraction greater or less than one-sixtieth of all the legal voters of the state may be classified together as to such fractions for election of a representative, and in that case those having similar business interests and sources of livelihood would be classified together.

Would Eliminate Senate
The measure would do away with the state senate, and would make the house of representatives a body of 60 members, the term of office to be four years. The legislature would meet on the second Monday of January of each year, though special sessions might be called by the governor or by a majority of the elected representatives. Each member of the legislature would receive a salary of $500 a year, payable quarterly, and mileage of 10 cents a mile.

Recalls Provided
The legislature would remain in session until dissolved by the governor.

Ten per cent of the legal voters who are constituents of any representative could be authorized to demand a special election for his recall, provided that not more than 500 would be required to sign petitions for his recall. The legislature would elect the governor, who would be required to be one of the members of that body, and while serving as governor he could not be recalled as representative.

Thirty thousand legal voters would be authorized to demand a special election for the recall of the governor or the recall of the legislative assembly.

Vote By Voice
In election a governor the legislature would vote by viva voce vote and a majority would be necessary for a choice. The legislative assembly would be authorized to recall the governor, and a majority of all the representatives elected would be necessary for the recall.

The governor would hold office until his successor should be elected and qualified; provided, that if the governor is recalled by the legislative assembly he may at his option acquiesce in the recall or dissolve that legislature on the day of the recall vote and order a general election to be held within 60 days to elect a new legislative assembly. In case of such dissolution he would hold his office until the election of a new assembly, which might reelect him or elect another representative as governor.

Election Board Created
The bill also would create a board of elections. The executive committees of the Farm Bureau, the State Chamber of Commerce and the Farmers Union would each appoint one member, the executive committee of the State Grange would name two members and the executive committee of the State Federation of Labor four members. The governor would be an ex-officio member.
