

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Five Deer Bagged—Hally Doe, Carl and Ralph Gibson, Ernest Free and A. Williams, all of Salem, spent last week deer hunting near Myrtle Creek. They packed out of Myrtle Creek 25 miles to the eastward into the wildest of the wild mountains where they found enough deer to put five fine bucks into their game list. They report that the south slopes of the mountains are as dry as tinder, and that a single match could start a fire that might wipe out every tree for many miles. The north slopes, however, were moist and fine going. The hunters agree that they should have stayed a day or two longer, for when Doe came out for the pack outfit, a day ahead of the body of hunters, there were no new deer trails, and when the others came the day following the deer had come in numbers in one of their seasonal migrations. They already had a good collection of heads, and three of the hunters came on home. Free and Williams thought it looked so good that they stayed over for a little longer hunt.

Wiggins Enjoys Hunt—Don Wiggins, who left Salem 10 days ago for a hunting visit with Miller Hayden down near Bandon, Coos county, writes back that he's having the time of his life. Hunting sea lions, deer, side hill galompassus and pheasants and black bears are only part of the diversions that the hunters have followed during their visit. Don expects to return to Salem the last of this week.

he has one of the best opportunities to do Christian work. A postscript added to the letter told of his marriage to the organist of his church at Great Georges.

Able Orator Saturday Night—At the Armory, Sunday evening at 8:00, W. F. Martin of Portland is to discuss the compulsory education bill. He is the western divisional secretary of the National Religious Liberty association, Washington, D. C. Mr. Martin is said to be an able speaker and well informed concerning the subject announced. He will ask his audience to decide 'the question "Shall I vote yes or no?" on its merits.

Talent is Not Required—Unmusical beginners learn to play all popular songs in 12 lessons, even though they do not know one note from another now. No tiresome scales or exercises. No dreary Do, Re, Ma's to practice. Investigate, then enroll. Waterman Piano School, Room 3, McCornack bldg., over Miller's.—Adv.

Court to Pendleton—The autumn sitting of the supreme court in eastern Oregon will convene in Pendleton next Monday. To clear the desks in Salem prior to the eastern Oregon trip the court probably will hand down several decisions here Friday of this week.

Holds Against Commission—In a decree handed down yesterday Judge G. G. Bingham of the circuit court held against the state industrial accident commission and allows compensation to Mrs. Karolina Furrer, widow of Daniel Furrer. The court held that the state industrial accident commission was in error in holding that no contract of employment existed between Furrer and his employer.

Guardianship Case Today—Ralph F. Quincy has filed application for a writ of habeas corpus asking for the release to him of his sister, Elizabeth B. Quincy. The application states that their mother died in 1908, when the girl was only about a year old. The father died last June, in Kansas, and the brother was given the appointment as guardian of the girl, then 15 years old. In July, according to the application, Elizabeth Quincy asked for and received the appointment as guardian, through the Marion county court, and the brother alleges that the girl is being held in distress on the strength of this subsequent guardianship. The case was set for hearing in the Marion county court for today. It is not a jury case.

Start Today—And learn to play in 12 lessons "Stumbling," "Nobody Lied," "Tricks" and hundreds of other late hits. Waterman Piano School, Room 3, McCornack bldg., over Miller's.—Adv.

Fontaine Leads Yakima Drive—Fred Fontaine is to lead the annual community chest drive at Yakima, Wash., where an attempt will be made to raise $55,500 for welfare work, including $1,200 for the Y.M.C.A., $11,000 for the Y.W.C.A., $7000 for the Red Cross, and other sums for the Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, etc., including $2000 for an employment office. Fred Fontaine is a prominent attorney of Yakima, a member of the firm of Richards, Fontaine & Gilbert. He was born in Salem and was raised in Salem in the old days. One thing about the Yakima drive should be noted here in Salem. That is the $2000 for an employment office. Salem should have that. It is much more needed here than there, with such a vast amount of seasonal work, connected with our fruit and other industries. Nothing in the way of welfare work is needed more in Salem. And Earl Race, who has been the unofficial and unpaid employment agent here for years, while he has been city recorder, ought to have the job. It should be wished on him. He should be drafted if he will not volunteer.

Bulbs Ready for Winter—More than 8000 gladioli bulbs were used in decorating the front yard of the Marion county court house this year. Some of the centenarian and long-showing plants are still bravely showing a few belated flowers, but most of the show is over, and the bulbs have dried themselves down ready for winter. They will be dug shortly, and stored until next summer, when they will be set out for another fall display. This year, only the gladioli were used in the two big flower beds west of the court house. Last year a center of larger, later plants, dahlias mostly, was planted in each bed, giving a pyramidal effect and furnishing heavier masses of big, strong-colored flowers.

NEW CORPORATIONS

The Log Cabin Baking company of Portland has filed with the state corporation department notice of an increase in capital.
