

SOCIETY

By MARGUERITE GLEESON

SOCIAL affairs during the last week have centered round the approaching Armistice day with hints of Thanksgiving visible in the social affairs. Many Salem folks were among those going to the University of Oregon homecoming this week-end.

Honoring the state president, Mrs. Ida B. Callahan, the Salem Woman's club was hostess yesterday for past presidents and Mrs. W. E. Kirk, county federation president. A reception followed the regular club meeting.

Mrs. Warren Truitt of Moscow, Ida, who has visited in Salem several times, is here for a time.

Mrs. W. M. Hamilton has been hostess for a series of lovely dancing parties during the last week. The second and last of the series was given last night with 23 guests. For the Thursday night affair 10 couples were bidden.

The rooms of the Hamilton home were decorated in varied hues autumn foliage and bright colored chrysanthemums.

Miss Selma Stenmas of Portland and Armon Sykes of Portland were out of town guests for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Glover will drive to Portland today returning this evening. They will be the guests of relatives for the day.

The beautiful new T. S. Roberts home has been the scene of two evening parties which were in the nature of housewarming parties. The Kiwanis club with their friends were entertained on Tuesday evening, on the occasion of their first anniversary.

Wednesday evening friends of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts were invited to attend a delightfully informal party with numerous musical selections.

The rooms were bright with vivid autumnal tinted flowers.

Miss Lena Dotson and Miss Mable Dotson are spending the week-end in Portland as the guests of Miss Elizabeth Walker, former Salem teacher.

The Salem Arts league will hold the regular November meeting Tuesday in addition to the special meeting Monday, according to officers of the league. The program will be furnished by the various sections of the league, a number of special numbers having been provided.

Leon Jennison and Kenneth Allen two pupils of Miss Minnetta Magers were Salem soloists appearing last week on Portland music week programs. Their work was especially praised and they were called upon for encores for each of their numbers.

Among the Salem persons attending the University of Oregon homecoming and football game yesterday were Miss Mary Jane Albert, Miss Ruth Austin, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Fisher.

The photographic section of the Salem Arts league will not meet this week, according to Miss Kathryn Gunnel, leader, because of the special meeting of the league Monday evening.

Honoring Mrs. Ida B. Callahan, president of the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs and Mrs. W. E. Kirk, president of the Marion county federation, the past presidents of the Salem Woman's club and the executive board were hostesses today at a pretty luncheon in the Marion hotel dining room.

A great bowl of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums centered the luncheon table. Mrs. LaMoine Clark, president of the club was hostess for the luncheon party. Other women attending besides the guests of honor were Mrs. Alice H. Dodd, Miss Mattie Beaty, Mrs. John H. Albert, Mrs. William Hamilton and Mrs. W. E. Anderson, past presidents; Mrs. Seymour Jones, Mrs. Frank Bowersox, Mrs. Lowell Tweeddale, Mrs. C. S. Hamilton, Mrs. E. C. Richards, Mrs. C. P. Bishop, Miss Francis Richards members of the executive board.

Miss Frances Reedy, whose home is in Tacoma, has taken over the management of the Pied Piper tea room Miss Mary Currie who has been here since Miss Mildred Holts left, returning to her home in Cashmere, Wash. Miss Reedy is a graduate of the University of Washington with the class of 1922. She is a member of Omicron Nu, honorary home economics sorority and of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority.

Miss Reedy has been service manager of Hoeflers at Astoria for some time since her graduation.

The Jason Lee aid society will meet Friday at the church to sew for the Old Peoples home.

The formation of another circle among the women in the Englewood district is being contemplated and a meeting of women of that district will meet Tuesday with Mrs. John Baker.

Mrs. Robert Leigh and Mrs. William Randal will be in charge of the program for the W. C. T. U. Tuesday.

Noted Sculptor Comes Monday

Officials of the Salem Arts League are happy to announce that A. Philmister Proctor, noted American sculptor, who executed the Roosevelt memorial statue, unveiled Saturday in Portland, will be in Salem Monday evening, at which time he will speak in the auditorium of the Salem Public Library, the hour being 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Proctor have been in Portland for some little time, coming there to be present at the unveiling of the statue on Armistice day. The statue is a splendid bronze of the rough rider, and is permanently located in the park block opposite the Ladd School in Portland. The statue was dedicated yesterday to the children of America and is the gift of Dr. Henry Waldo Coe of Portland.

The public is most cordially invited to hear Mr. Proctor Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford K. Knickerbocker and baby from McMinnville are guests for the week end of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hald.

Mrs. A. A. Casper was hostess Friday evening at a birthday party. The hostess served refreshments later in the evening. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Macy, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Dick-

Many Bazaars Will Herald Approach of Holiday Time

Travelers in foreign lands like to visit the market places where quaint articles, hand work and unusual pieces of bric-a-brac are often on sale.

The bazaar of Central Europe and the orient has found an echo in the bazaar given by groups or organizations in America where the hand work of the members is donated for some worthy cause and these contributions are sold at a bazaar. Many organizations of the women workers of the different churches find this a helpful way in which to make money for the particular field of the church's endeavor which they have in charge or in which they are most interested. Before the holiday season is the time when Bazaars blossom forth with gifts for that time.

Salem women have been busy for many weeks and months on the articles which they will offer for sale at various places either at the church or in some down town place.

Among the church organizations which will hold bazaars within the next six weeks are the women of St. Paul's Junior Guild of the Episcopal church, the Woman's Alliance of the Unitarian church, St. Monica's Altar society of St. Joseph's church, the Woman's Union of the First Congregational church, the Mary Marthas of the Court Street Christian church and the aid society of the Leslie Methodist church.

The women of the First Congregational church will hold their bazaar December 6 in the church parlors. Booths for aprons, fancy and utility, fancy work, and other things usually found in bazaars will be featured. The younger women of the church, the Junior Bazaar club, are meeting each week to sew for the sale.

The Junior Guild will hold its bazaar in the parish hall which was the old church. Mrs. William Walton is in charge of the work for the affair. In the absence of Mrs. William Lytle, who is in Portland following several weeks illness. The Guild has been divided into a number of groups and for several weeks these groups have been meeting at the homes of members to complete their work.

The Court Street Christian church will hold a bazaar December 16 in a local store. The Mary Martha group of women will be in charge of the affair. The women have been meeting every Friday afternoon working for the affair and it is anticipated considerable work will be ready for the affair.

The Leslie Methodist church will hold a bazaar under the sponsorship of the aid society. Mrs. Charles McIntire is president of the aid society and Mr. W. H. McCall is in charge of the bazaar. Chairmen of the different committees are Mrs. Amos Bass, rugs and quilts; Mrs. S. E. Kighelinger, cooked food and country store; Mrs. Ralph Thompson, candy; Mrs. John Carson, aprons; Mrs. Daisy McIntyre, fancy work; Mrs. Charles Lucas, parcel post. December 8 is the date set for the sale which will be held in the basement of the church.

The women of the Catholic church will open the bazaar season as their's will be given this week, November 16 in the McCormack hall. St. Monica Altar society is in charge and the women have been meeting every week at the homes of members to sew and prepare for the affair. Committees in charge include

Mrs. M. Lane and Mrs. Josephine Suing, cook food; Mrs. J. Rieland, fancy work; Mrs. Joseph Lebold, Mrs. E. H. Thompson, and Mrs. J. G. Nadon; Mrs. T. D. McClain, Mrs. B. F. Dimler, aprons; Mrs. E. C. Quinn, Mrs. H. L. Stiff and Mrs. A. E. Huckestein, candy; Miss Margaret Lebold, grab bag; Mrs. E. D. Thomas, Mrs. Pruitt, Mrs. E. Eckerline and Mrs. J. Heenan, fancy work.

The women of the Unitarian church have not set the date for their bazaar which will be some time in December.

The First Methodist church, the First Presbyterian church and the Jason Lee church women will not hold a bazaar this year.

Last Sunday afternoon at the Baptist Manse, Miss Georgia Belle Frost and Paul H. Carrow of Chemawa were united in marriage by Dr. W. T. Milliken. The groom's brother, J. L. Carrow and Mrs. Carrow were witnesses to the ceremony. Mr. Carrow is an employe of the Chemawa school and will reside near there.
