bre have borne the stamp of his ability; "Human Hearts," special at the Oregon theater, is far and away the best thing he has ever done. Universal executives have marked it as one of the three best pictures ever made by Universal, classing it with "Polish Wives" and "The Storm."

Selnick's "John Smith," starring Eugene O'Brien, delighted a big audience at the Liberty theater. In these days of sex pictures and sensational situations, it was a delight to sit through a film without one questionable situation or sub-title. And yet there was plenty to interest spectators who like "strong meat," there were any number of "big" moments and exciting situations. "John Smith" proves convincingly the truth that a well directed, written and acted picture need not stand on the legs of sensationalism.

NOW PLAYING

A story of colorful Spain, of moonlights, of serenitas, of dancing and guitars—the land for passionate love making—written by Vicente Blasco Ibañez, author of "The Four Horsemen," adapted by June Mathis, adapter of "The Three Musketeers." Such is "Blood and Sand," starring Rudolph Valentino which comes to the Grand theater Saturday.

No company before the public stands the wear and tear of time as well as does the Famous Georgia Minstrels, soon to appear in this city. In the hearts of the theater-going public it is always popular. The sub-title "Georgia" has been copied by many, the object being to mislead the public but this aggregation has never been withdrawn from the American stage for a single season, and during the 33 years of its existence it has eclipsed all previous efforts.

The announcement that they will appear at the Grand theater will be welcome news to the minstrel fans.

Earl Sheehan and Bertha Startman are two versatile artists who sing and dance the way the audience thoroughly enjoys. Miss Startman wears some stunning gowns that must be seen to be appreciated. Sheehan is a funny eccentric comedian, who sings and dances his way into the heart of everyone. This act is full of pep, ginger and snap and is sure to be enjoyed by all. At the Bligh today and tomorrow.

Middleton's Mankins, a clever Marionette exhibition in which the mechanical figures do everything that humans could do, and in many cases do it better than most humans could, giving a correct representation of a vaudeville entertainment, introducing every known feature with many bits of comedy all done by the little mechanical figures. It is an offering which can be figured to give an audience the maximum of real enjoyment and delightful entertainment. At the Bligh today and tomorrow.

"The order will therefore be that this cause be remanded, with directions to overrule the demurrer as to all the defendants who signed exhibit C; to permit plaintiff, if it is so directed, to file a supplemental complaint as to these defendants; to re-try the case as to the growers and plaintiff, and as between the fruit union and the plaintiff so far as either shall desire to do so, leaving the testimony already taken to stand as between the fruit union and the plaintiff."

The demurrer was brought by the growers in the first trial on the ground that the Phez contracts were with the fruit union and could not bind the individual growers. The lower court sustained this plea, but the supreme court held that the growers

Rhoten to Tell Iowans About Oregon Country

E. A. Rhoten of the Pacific Homestead is to start today or tomorrow on an interesting mission. First of all he is going to visit his old home, near Cedar Rapids, Ia., and get acquainted with the folks he used to know. Then he is going to have the fun of showing to them the real Oregon as pictured by the best photographers of the west. He is carrying a whole grip-full of stereopticon slides, from the Salem and Portland Chamber of Commerce series, from the Northern Pacific, the Oregon state collection, and the Dallas Commercial club. He expects to give this series, with an accompanying description, to all the friendly communities around his old home that will turn out to hear of the western wonderland.

Mr. Rhoten is doing this as a Salem community advertising, merely for the pleasure of telling the Hawkeyes just what kind of a country he lives in out here in Oregon. He will be away from Salem about a month.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Miss Winnifred Holt, her wedding march played by blind musicians and attended by four sightless bridesmaids, was married today to Dufus Graves Mather of Princeton, N. J., in the Lighthouse, one of the refugees she established for the blind.

Blind men, women and children mingled with hundreds of society folk as guests.

The bride's wedding dowry was swollen at the hour of the ceremony by many cash presents, which are to be applied toward liquidation of a $100,000 debt due on the Paris Lighthouse, which Miss Holt founded during the war.
