Coming tomorrow, Wesley Barry in "School Days."

Someone has said that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach and Wesley Barry, the thirteen-year-old screen star, is no exception to the rule. All ye young budding feminine hearts can now learn the secret to Wesley's heart. He just loves cream puffs, and plenty of them. Wesley confesses that he was not very popular around the storekeepers' district, especially around the baker shop. For many days his hungry eyes had lingered on the heaps of fresh doughnuts, and the beautifully decorated fancy cakes, and those heavenly cream puffs. And he admits that he stole 'em every time he got a chance. Wes' other love is acting before the camera, and his latest screen play is Gus Edwards' "School Days," which comes to the Grand Theatre, for a three-day engagement, starting today.

Tonight is the last night for the Hickman Bessey Stock Co. in their four act comedy drama, "The Girl He Couldn't Buy." This is another of their popular comedies that they have been making such a hit with in the past six weeks. On the same program with this show is the most talked of picture ever put on the screen, "Humoresque."

Girls! Wes' Tells Secret

Coming to The Oregon

Betty Blythe in Rex Beach's "The Net."

He was a horse of mystery—wild, determined, and the leader of his herd of desert mustangs. By night he wrought vengeance on man for the cruelties of the brand and incarceration. He opened corrals and liberated the enslaved horses; he trampled fields of grain and destroyed their fruitfulness; he fought mankind with the mute truculence of a mistreated animal and was victorious. Then he encountered a different sort of a man—a man who used neither whip nor choking lariat. Come to the Liberty Theatre, tonight and see what happened then. "Just Tony," adapted from the novel "Alcatraz" by Max Brand, and produced by William Fox. It is a picture you must not miss.

James Oliver Curwood, whose stories have provided the silver-sheet with such well known outdoor productions as "The River's End," "Back to God's Country," "Flower of the North" and many other pictures, adds another triumph to his long list of successes with "Jan of the Big Shows," which will be the feature at the Liberty Theatre this afternoon.

Ruth Roland, star of "The Timber Queen," is an ardent admirer of dogs of every sort and prides herself on several blue ribbon winners in her own kennels. In fact, the Pathe star's enthusiasm for the doggies has prompted her to award a cup to the finest Police Dog at the Coronado Dog Show to be held by the social leaders of that island sometime in June.

Wallace Reid gave one of the happiest interpretations of his career at the Oregon Theatre where "The Ghost Breaker" is shown with big success last night. He is seen as a young American who undertakes to clear a Spanish castle of some undesirable ghosts which have chosen to inhabit it for purposes of their own.

Wesley Barry Typifies Tarkington Terror

Before Wesley Barry, the trouble-far screen luminary, ever made his appearance before the studio camera he was one of those neighborhood terrors that South Tarkington loves to write about. In other words, he was and still is a regular kid possessing the untamable, irresponsible heart of boyhood.

He is said to have filled the heart of the grocer and his clerks with apprehension every time he heard their doors. He would steal into the store and upset the molasses, steal apples, stick a brick on the scales, and do a hundred and one other things that delight the soul of the mischievous boy.

In his latest starring vehicle, Gus Edwards' "School Days," which will be shown at the Grand Theatre, beginning Nov. 24, he applies all the tricks of the average boy in the schoolroom and makes life miserable for his teacher. The glory, the joys and the disappointments of boyhood are still with Wesley, but he longs to be grown up and wear long pants n' everything.

Those who like lealism in motion pictures will get a liberal portion of this element in the right scene between the hero and one of the Sicilian bandits in the new Rex Beach film production, "Fair Lady," to be seen Friday and Saturday at the Oregon Theatre.

EXPLOSION KILLS 70 COAL MINERS

Explosion occurred.
According to mine officials, a broken electric circuit caused by the runaway of a train of trip cars was responsible for ignition of the dust.

A detail of Alabama national guards on duty in the railroad strike area in Birmingham, with Captain B. F. Thomas, medical officer, commanded by Captain Harry E. Smith and Lieutenant Walter J. Hanna, was ordered to the mine.

Military headquarters announced that an additional force of 25 men would be despatched to the mine tomorrow morning to aid in the general rescue work and for guard duty at the mine.

The man who caters to the fads and foibles of women has a fortune in hand. Fifty years ago the son of French stonecutter invented a method of putting up a woman's hair in such a way that it would stay put. He made millions of dollars out of the idea. His name was Marcel. Ever hear of the Marcel wave?

POLK HIGHWAYS IN GOOD SHAPE

Farmers Will Be Able to Come to Town All Winter in Automobiles

DALLAS, Or., Nov. 22.—(Special to The Statesman.)—With few exceptions the roads in Polk county are in far better shape this winter than they have been for a number of years. The county court has had a crew of men busy for several months hauling and spreading rock on roads in every section of the county and as a consequence the farmers will be able to come to the county seat practically all winter in their automobiles, a thing unheard of in former years.

Not content with fixing the roads in summer and letting them in winter without attention, the court keeps a special drag busy at all times and until today had a road roller at work on some of the newly completed roads. Next summer, although greatly hampered by lack of funds, the court expects to complete the good roads program and by this time next year every road and byroad in the county will be in excellent shape.

The completion with hard surface of the Dallas-Salem highway this summer takes a big load off the shoulders of the court and gives it about $10,000 additional to be used on other roads in the county. With the completion of the road south of Monmouth and north of Rickreall with hard surface, this county will have two good outlets to all parts of the state and the upkeep that formerly went to these roads will go a long way towards repairing and keeping in fine shape other much used roads in the county.

There is a movement on foot to purchase the house at Prince and Lafayette streets, New York, where James Monroe, our fifth president, died on July 4, 1831, at the age of 72 years. Why would it not be a fine thing to celebrate the centennial of the immortal doctrine that bears his name

It has been figured out that the coal strike cost the country more than $1,000,000,000. What would the soft-coal strike cost if it had lasted until mid-winter, shutting down the factories and the mills? What would have been the cost in lives if the strikes in both mining industries had gone
