The women of St. Paul's Episcopal church will open their annual bazaar at the church, Saturday booths will be presided over by prominent members of the Junior Guild who have been working on the articles which will be on sale for several weeks.

The women of the First Congregational church will give their bazaar December 9 in the parlors of the church. The Women's Union and the Junior Bazaar club will be in charge.

Miss Maxine Buren is spending the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max O. Buren.

Several Salem teachers, supervisors and department heads spent the early part of the week in Portland visiting schools there. Among those making such visits were Miss Coniford Hurd, playground supervisor; Mrs. Eula Creech, home economics at Washington; Miss Etta White, physical education; and Miss Gretchen Kramer, music at Lincoln.

The local instructors made the trip by automobile and visited at Hawthorne and Lincoln High school.

The American Association of University Women will meet tomorrow at 2 o'clock in the receiving hospital of the State hospital for the clinic which Dr. L. F. Griffith will conduct for their information regarding problems of mental diseases and public interest. Limited room has made necessary the limiting of those attending to members, according to those in charge.

The Progressive Woman's club of Salem Heights will hold its

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Nov. 30.—(Special)—A traveling exhibit of art students' work from Pratt Institute of Brooklyn, New York, and from the Rhode Island school of design, is now on display in pencil, charcoal, and pastel, cast and architectural drawings, photographs of sculptural work are included in the general art exhibit. Applied arts are illustrated by problems in textile designs and woven fabrics made from original design, woodblock printing, and photographs of jewelry and silversmithing.

The exhibit was obtained through the American Federation of Arts, the only national association organized in the interests of art. During the season 1921 and 1922, 52 exhibits valued at approximately $355,000 were sent out by the federation and shown 270 times in 38 states.

WANNAMAKER ILL PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—The condition of John Wannamaker, who has been ill at his home here several weeks, was reported tonight by his physicians as having assumed a grave aspect.

PUGET SOUND WINNER HERE

Score is 8 to 0. But Some Spectators Think Zeller Crossed Line

The Willamette Bearcats lost their last chance at football for 1922, when the umpire said that "Fat" Zeller had stepped out of bounds in one of the greatest runs through a broken field ever pulled off on Sweetland field. The Statesman and others who were right at hand, credit him with a touchdown. But not even that would have saved the team from losing the game, for their opponents had already scored eight points, and there wasn't time for another kick-off and score. It would not be good sportsmanship to talk too strong, but about losing a game on a mistaken decision so the official word stands. The official score was 8 to 0.

Weight Counts Strongly
Willamette was clearly outweighed, about as the Bearcats outweighed the Salem Indians. Weight is like money in the bank, or sandwiches in the pocket on a long tramp, in a muddy field. Games, however, are not scheduled on a handicap basis. You win or you lose, after making the match, and the fact that a team can capture and train behemoths or cave-men or thunderbolts is to its credit—the only qualification is that they must be able to wear clothes and look like human beings. This is no criticism of the visiting players. They were clean sportsmen, who look like students as well as football players, and they certainly played the game to a finish. But they certainly were a lot the larger. They should have made the score bigger, with the breaks and the handicap of weight.

Patton Kicking Good
Patton kicked the best game in his history. One of his punts traveled 60 yards before it stopped, and his average was close to 40 yards. Zeller did not have as many chances for end runs as usual, because of the heavy field and partly because the visiting ends were too dangerous. He received most of the time for forward passes and threw accurately and generally with success. The Bearcat passing game was much ahead of that of the visitors.

A pass, however, brought the defeat of the local team. Willamette had the ball to within 10 yards of the Puget Sound goal, and a pass was tried to make the touchdown. Parker, for Puget Sound goal, intercepted the ball and ran 95 yards for a touchdown. Some good interference saved him from being overhauled from the rear.

Fumbles are Numerous
Because of the rain and the mud there were a good many fumbles. Willamette was usually more successful in recovering the ball. The bad passing to the Puget Sound fullback probably spoiled several good punts. He was kicking almost as well as Patton when he did get the ball. Both sides kicked a great deal; many times on the first down, when there was no danger. The catching and running back of punts was good on both sides. The Willamette ends had rather the best of getting down the field and stopping the running back.

In general the visitors played the more formidable line-bucking game, though they were held for four downs fully as often as were the Bearcats. The ball is said by old timers to have changed hands on four downs, often in this game than in any other game ever played on

HARMLESS MEANS OF REDUCING FAT

Many fat people fear ordinary means for reducing their weight. Here is an extraordinary method. Extraordinary because while perfectly harmless no dieting or exercise are necessary. Marmola Prescription Tablets are made exactly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription. You reduce steadily and easily, with no ill effects. Sweetland field. Sometimes it changed hands almost magically for other reasons. In one case Puget Sound tried a forward pass on a first down, and lost the ball. Then Willamette tried a like play on its very first down and lost the ball.

Zeller Makes Good Run
In the second kick-off, Zeller got the ball and made a fine 50-yard run through at least 30 of the opposing players. It looked like a touchdown to follow, but after failing to gain yardage in three plays, a failure in passing the ball lost 20 yards. Puget Sound then lost the ball on downs, and a 50-yard punt took it far down close to the visitors' goal.

Zeller, White and Bain of the Bearcats played their last game yesterday. The passing of these three sterling players is a real sorrow to Willamette, for they have all been as dependable as the calendar. Zeller in particular will be missed, as one of the fastest backs in the northwest and the most unstructurable player in the history of Willamette. He has been the one who always plucks the long runs out of the air and the Zeller tradition will linger long in Willamette.

Better Sewage System Is Needed at Pullman

PULLMAN, Wash., Nov. 30.—Pullman must spend approximately $63,000 for an adequate sanitary sewage system, according to the estimate of Green and Green, Spokane consulting engineers, who have completed an extensive survey of the local situation. The report of the consulting ing engineers has been approved by the Pullman city council. Because Washington State college, located here, also makes use of the municipal facilities, the state will be asked to contribute a part of the cost of installing a modern sewage system, according to present plans. Contingent upon the vote of Pullman residents at a special election, it is planned to raise the balance of the amount necessary through the sale of improvement bonds.

The specifications submitted to the city council call for a system including an adequate chlorination plant; three contact filter beds, with crushed rock filter medium; a septic tank and other necessary apparatus. The plans were approved by the state board of health prior to being submitted to the city council.

The plans also call for deepening and straightening the channel of the South Palouse river where the sewage plant will be located.
