OBITUARY

William R. Jones passed away at his home about 8 miles south of Silverton, November 29, 1922, at 7:45 a. m., after an illness of three weeks with bronchial pneumonia, being at the time of his death 73 years, 2 months and 24 days old.

William R. Jones was born near Gaston, Yamhill county, September 5, 1849. His family, therefore, antedates those of the gold seekers of 1849, and was established here in 1847 by Fielding Jones, his father, who was born in the state of Kentucky.

Three days after the birth of Mr. Jones his mother died, and the little motherless William was taken to the home of Andrew Schuck near Hubbard, where he remained until 4 years old, when he went to live with his father who, in the meantime, had married again. At the age of 14 he went to live with his brother-in-law, James Cooley, and in February, 1865, enlisted in company B, First Oregon Volunteer Infantry, for a year's service. From Vancouver, Wash., he was sent to Camp Lyons, it being the mission of his regiment to establish a fort at that place.

During the service he saw a great deal of Indian warfare, and had many narrow escapes, his adventures being confined principally to the battles of eastern Oregon.
