Salvation Army Tree—
A belated but none the less welcome and enjoyable Christmas tree service was held last night at the Salvation Army barracks, for the Army itself and for its families. All the children of the army and others in any way closely affiliated with the organization, were remembered with a full-sized Christmas tree, with candy and fruit and customary holiday gifts. The grown-ups, also, were part of the celebration, receiving their own recognition in the way of modest gifts from the organization for their faithful work for the year just passed. About 150 children were represented, either in person or by proxy; the heavy rain kept some at home, and their gifts had to be sent to them.

"Bunkology"—

A Happy New Year
—and a fond goodbye to the achievements of yesteryear. A store, like an individual, cannot live upon the achievements of the past. They must be forgotten in the hustle and bustle of accomplishing better work.
During every minute of every business day, this store strives on to the goal of doing greater things, and with the beginning of the new year, it pledges itself to "carry on" always with the aim to further endear itself into the hearts of its patrons.
