WEST BEATS EAST WHEN USC DEFEATS PENN STATE 14-3

ROSE BOWL, PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 1.—The University of Southern California defeated the Penn State college in the annual Tournament of Roses inter-sectional football game here today. The score was 14 to 3 and the contest was witnessed by a crowd estimated at 53,000.

The Southern California collegians outplayed their eastern adversaries in every department of the game. The first period showed the Nittany Lions at their best.

Starting with the second quarter, the Trojans displayed an offensive that proved too powerful for Coach Hugo Bezdek's men. Even the famed Penn State line was punctured time and time again for substantial gains.

It did not appear to be a fluke victory for the Nittany Lions seemed to be in excellent condition and the breaks of the game were about evenly divided.

Bezdek's First Defeat

The work of the Trojan line proved the surprise of the day for the eastern forwards who were said to be invincible. The Penn State line did not have the power.

The Trojan touchdowns in the second and third periods came as a result of diversified attack led by Harold Galloway, Roy (Iron Sides) Baker and Gordon Campbell, while Captain Leo Caland stood head and shoulders above any other lineman.

Mike Palm proved a larger half of the Penn State offense. It was Palm who scored his team's place kick. In addition, he did the punting and all the forward passing as well as registering as much yardage as was recorded by the combined efforts of his teammates.

Hugo Bezdek made his second appearance in an inter-sectional game here and met his defeat. It was his powerful University of Oregon football team which defeated the University of Pennsylvania.

Trojans Nervous

The Trojans made their first appearance in an East-West contest and although they appeared nervous at the start they swept the Lions off their feet during the second and third periods.

The Penn State line was threatened in the first quarter when "Hap" Frank tumbled Norman Anderson's kick-off on his own goal line. His teammate, Rose Efford, recovered and Mike Palm punted to safety. The Trojans made first down twice following which the Nittany Lions made an almost uninterrupted advance from mid-field to the 19-yard line from which point Palm scored a drop-kick.

After Ralph Cammings recovered Palm's fumble on the Penn State 20-yard line the Trojans advanced the oval to the one-yard line. On fourth down U. S. C. tumbled and Penn State recovered and Palm punted to mid-field.

Both Exhausted

The teams took turns intercepting passes and shortly before the half ended a long gain by Baker and a pass, Baker to Galloway, put the ball on the two-yard line. Baker gained a yard and Campbell scored the Trojans' first touchdown when he went through Center on the next play. Hawkins kicked goal.

The Trojans' second touchdown came within five minutes of the opening of the third period. Baker's 22-yard gain

Eastern Eleven Triumphs in One-sided Game—Final Score is 32 to 0

CORVALLIS, Ore., Jan. 1.—The football eleven of Scott high school, Toledo, Ohio, today won the East vs West game with Corvallis high, 32 to 0.

Seven thousand spectators here this afternoon saw the light team of Corvallis bow down in defeat before the fierce attack of the crew of powerful youths from the east.

Scott high school already held the championship of the east, of the south and of the middle west. Today's victory added that of the Far West.

It was a good little team against not merely a big team but a big and wonderful team. After the first few minutes of the game there never was any other doubt as to the outcome, despite a stubborn defense by the little Corvallis lads through the first half.

Two minutes before the end of the first half a freak forward pass which bounced out of the hands of one receiver, was touched by an opponent and thence dropped neatly into the hands of another receiver, who was there Johnny-on-the-spot, gave Scott the first of five touchdowns.

Four more were scored by the visitors in the second half. Corvallis was battered down by an onslaught that would have given many college teams trouble.

CORVALLIS, Ore., Jan. 1.—(Special to The Statesman) Scott high completely outclassed Corvallis in a 32-0 game this afternoon before a crowd of 7,000.

Scott appeared a trained, well balanced team against the light fast locals. At no time during the game did Corvallis threaten Scott's goal.

Hunt, captain and fullback of Scott, was the shining star of the game. His tackle, bucks and end runs netted the greater part of Scott's yardage. Denman's kicking and field work composed practically all of the Corvallis gains. Arvita and R. Montgomery of Corvallis looked good, but were unable to pierce the heavy Toledo line.

Numerous times out for Corvallis in the third and fourth periods showed the effects of the easterners' weight on the light local team. Rough playing cost Scott 60 yards, while numerous off-sides netted several first downs for Corvallis.

During the third and fourth period Corvallis attempted an aerial attack, but it was soon shattered by the fast easterners and backfield.

They wrestled 10 rounds to a draw. They will fight again at Silverton at some future date.

There were two preliminary boxing matches, the first between Ed. Hendrickson, 130 pounds and Bill Ringwell, 150 pounds. They fought to a draw.

1000 SALEMITES SEE BIG GAME

Toledo-Corvallis Contest of Yesterday Lures Many Fans From Here

Salem contributed almost 1000 guests to the Corvallis-Toledo football game Monday at Corvallis. They hardly expected to see what they did see—the western team swamped by a 32-0 score.

Most of the football experts had agreed that the eastern visitors would probably win, but with no more than a two-touchdown advantage.

Toledo outweighed the Oregonians so heavily as to make the result almost certain. About 20 pounds to the man is a handicap that the locals couldn't possibly overcome. One former eastern university football star, residing in Salem reports that the Corvallis team really did remarkably well, considering the disparity in weights, but that the unfortunate passing of the Corvallis center, when on four separate occasions he threw the ball far over the head of his fullback who was preparing for a punt on a fourth down, simply paralyzed and annihilated the team.

At that, when Avrit the Corvallis punter did get the ball, he made better yardage than the Toledo man. Several times the Corvallis team made first downs against the brawny Ohio line, but in the soggy field, the superior weight of the visitors gave them the sure victory.

Among the Salem visitors were most of the Salem high school football team that almost won the title that Corvallis claimed—the interscholastic championship. Corvallis fished them out of a victory, by a placement kick, on Salem's off day early in November and saved Salem the chance to lose $4,000 and the world's championship in this East-West game on New Year's day.

About 7,000 people attended the game yesterday.

Hendricks in Peppy Mood
Following the dinner, several short speeches were made, one a particularly felicitous address by Captain Paul Hendricks, in which he urged the boys to make it a point of honor to attend regularly and all help in making the company a crack military organization, proud of the privilege of serving under the federal flag.
Company F now has 86 members, with only two places yet to fill to make the maximum of 88. There are several real though not yet legal vacancies that are to be declared as soon as possible, the vacancies being left by several of the Chemawa Indian school boys who left last summer and did not return in the fall. They were all rated as specially good soldier material, but they're gone for good. Almost one-half of the present company membership is from the Salem high school with several members from Willamette university.

PLAYS IMPROVE SAYS RALEIGH

Manager of Local Theater Circuit Comments on Coming Productions

"There will be more better plays offered to the American screen public this year than ever before in their lives," is the statement of Manager A. C. Raleigh of the Oregon-Grand-Liberty circuit in Salem.

"There will be fewer plays made, perhaps, but the average will be much better. The comedy is cleaner, the staging and photography will be better, the acting better.

"The public itself is the ultimate censor, not Mr. Hays, or any local or state or national board of censors. The bad play eventually falls of its own weight. We are starting in on an era of better stuff from every point of view. In general, the public is right in what it wants. Possibly 10 per cent may want tainted, vitiated pictures, but the majority wants really good stuff. This call is being heard by the producers, by the distributors, by the local showmen. The cleaner, better play is actually here today. It is quite true that there are still some of the older plays that are still some of the older plays that please everybody, but the tendency is upward, and that very sharply, and I believe permanently.

The incident added another chapter to the book of startling events being written here which already includes a masked and robbed mob stealing five men from a public highway; of punishment grounds where two were unmercifully flogged and two beaten to death and horribly mutilated; of bodies being decapitated, wire-bound, weighted with iron and thrown into a lake; of the governor of the state personally entering into the investigations; of troops, divers and volunteers drugging lakes and swamps, searching for the bodies; of mysteries of dynamite blowing them to the surface; of arrests of prominent men and the promised arrest of others; of confessions involving 45 men; of charges that the Ku Klux Klan was responsible for the deed and of counter charges and of open hearing and trials to commence.

believes the public will gladly reciprocate, especially for the big events, and that everybody will be pleased with the results.

As evidencing the public tastes, "The Old West," by Rupert Hughes, is to be given a return date at the Grand. It was a homely little play that was said to have cost only $1800 to produce in its first version, and it was apologetically slipped in as a filler in its first New York presentation. But some show critic with a heart and soul saw it, and what he wrote of it the very first night made it a national knock-out. The owners do not sell it out here on the $1500-cost-plus basis, but it represents the growing demand for clean, sweet pictures. Another little orphanage sweethearts, that is to be at the Grand about the middle of January.
