Snow Slight—
D. M. Wilson received a letter this week, from his little granddaughter in Minneapolis, who wrote, on January 5th: "Dear Grandpa: We have just had our first snow for this winter, and it seems so queer!" Usually there would be well on to a foot of snow there in November; a good snow by election time is quite common. Mr. Wilson, who was a timber cruiser and operator all over the state of Minnesota, wherever there was an evergreen tree, in the year following the Civil war, says that in all his experience there he had not seen a winter with so little snow as they report this year.

DALY FUND BILL PASSES SENATE

Measure Would Exempt Educational Charity from Inheritance Tax

The inheritance tax on the estate of the late Judge Bernard Daly of Lake county will be remitted under a bill by Senator Upton that passed the senate yesterday. The estate is a fund left for the education of needy boys and girls of Lake county and the inheritance tax would amount to about $200,000.

Senator Eddy praised the bill but expressed fear that it might not be constitutional and suggested that it be re-referred and a general bill prepared.

Senator Upton said that Judge Wallace McCormant of Portland had drawn the bill and vouched for its constitutionality.

Senator Joseph made an impressive talk on the life of Bernard Daly as he had known him in Lakeview.

All members voted for the bill.

NOVEL BUDGET PLAN GIVEN

Prof. Alice Dodd Proposes That Men Give Time and Good Cheer to Wives

Prof. Alice Dodd of Willamette university, one of the speakers at the Marion County Realtors' luncheon, Thursday, advised everybody to make the Trift Week program a part of the daily life.

"Today is Budget Day," she said. "Why should not the men budget themselves, and not only their money? Here's a suggestion for a man's time: Give 20 per cent to his wife, 20 per cent to his children, 20 per cent to himself, and the rest to his business. Few women marry a man merely for his money; he could budget his money, or not, and it might not make very great difference; but if he doesn't divide squarely with his time and the good cheer that made her marry him, he's squandering the best part of his life investment."

The speaker told of a former Salem family, that had started the children with an allowance of $1.50 a month, at five years of age; and out of this they had to pay their own way. She told of some very tearful, rebellious moments, before the children learned how to make their money cover their needs by budgeting it in advance; but they learned some wonderful lessons, and they have grown up into a very exceptional citizenship.

Marriage Like Dreams

Marriage, said the speaker, looks like a poet's dream, to both parties; real life may soon disillusion both, and the common tragedy is that neither one seeks thriftily to realize the real angel that is there, after the illusionary angel painted by the glamour of courtship has faded. Thrift, she said, would make use of these real attributes, and build of them happy and prosperous homes, whereas wasing them, unknown after the disappointment of the first impossible dreams, would wreck any home.

"Don't cheat your wife out of the time and attention that properly belongs to her," said the speaker. "The right kind of women never marry for only home, or clothes; the wife wants you. Budget Day offers you your chance to check up on your time and see what you are doing to your family."

Would Shoot at Goal

W. M. Hamilton, of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, spoke of the budget as a goal to shoot at; a ppromise made by a man to himself, that self-pride would make him want to keep and not allow him to call him self a slacker, a coward, a poor judge. He said that in following a budget system, one would find much safety against spasmodic or emotional expenditures; the Mexican proverb of "Manana," of never doing a thing today that could be put off till tomorrow, did not work as to industry, but it was fairly good in expenditures; the fit might pass, an dtomorrow one would not want to spend the excess money.

Mr. Hamilton gave a thoughtful historical story of the days of national speculation, when the budget system was throw naway and the nation ran wild; and then the long, bitter years of getting back to sanity and enough money to pay the bills.

He spoke particularly of the tendency to borrow money under the guise of bonds, that in some cases may overlap four or five or even six deep on the same property, and he urged a fair return to the principle of paying as one goes, and of budgeting expenses so as to know whether there is enough to go round on the scale planned in time to cut where the cuts are needed.

To Start Campaign

President George Grabenhorst was in the chair and the meeting was unusually well attended. Announcement was made that Miss Ruby Rosenkrantz had been re-elected secretary and that the duties of treasurer also had been given to her under the constitution recently adopted.

The association is to start another advertising campaign for the sale of the Oaks addition lots now owned by the city.

CREAM CLEARS A STUFFED-UP HEAD
Instantly Opens Every Air Passage—Clears Throat, Too
If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed because of nasty catarrh or a cold, apply a little pure, antiseptic cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing and healing swollen, inflamed membrances and you get instant relief.
Try this. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Your clogged nostrils open right up; your head is clear; no more hawking or snuffling. Count fifty. All the stuffiness, dryness, struggling for breath is gone. You feel fine.—Adv.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

To the legislature—

And speaking of thrift week and Benjamin Franklin: Wednesday, the 17th, was the 217th anniversary of his birth. Here are some of the things he wrote and printed:

"Well done is better than well said."

"Have you something to do tomorrow? Do it today."

"Speak little, do much."

"One day is worth two tomorrows."

"It is not leisure that is not used."

The postoffice department is in better shape financially than at any previous time in its history. It will get rid of its deficit in another twelve months. Then perhaps it can afford to give the Salem postoffice all the help the service here needs.

Talking of corn, Benjamin Franklin wrote: "Plough deep while sluggards sleep, and you shall have corn to sell and to keep." (And some to feed to the hogs, in the Salem district.)

Don't believe all you hear about the wild women and men around the legislature, making up part of the third house and corrupting the other two. There is occasionally a story told that is not true. More of them were true as to the doings in and around the last session.

RIVER COMES UP TWO FEET

Willamette Rises Nearly Two Feet Here in Forty-Eight Hours

The river rose nearly two feet from Wednesday morning until last night, according to the local weather observer. The water stood last night at 11.6 feet above the low water mark while it had receded to 9.7 feet above the low water level.

Reports were current last night that the water was rising in Eugene and that the conditions were considered dangerous. No official report was received by the local weather observer as is customary in such unusual conditions, and it was thought that such reports were only rumors.

The rainfall yesterday totaled .22 inches, while the temperature ranged only from 49 to 41 degrees during the day.

Saw a sign along the road the other day that read as follows: "Keep off; at your own risk." Cannot this unique sign be construed rightly to give warning about almost everything taking place on this tumultous whirling sphere?
