In a letter to the Oregon, a correspondent asks whether, in "Singed Wings" Bebe Daniels is a moth, a butterfly or an angel? Miss Daniels is neither. She is a beautiful cafe dancer, member of a once proud and wealthy Spanish family. The title of "Singed Wings" is taken from scenes in the picture where Miss Daniels, clad in a moth costume, performs a "Moth Dance." The costume is one of the most unique and resplendent ever conceived for a motion picture. "Singed Wings" will be seen at the Oregon, today only. Bebe Daniels and Conrad Nagel have the featured roles.

Simplicity is the entire keynote of Harold Lloyd's life, and of his success. In the flush of his success, following the stupendous triumph of his first five-reel production, "Grandma's Boy," Lloyd never changed from the likable boy he has always been. This is not the ranting of a press agent, but the opinion of everyone who has come in contact recently with "The Boy," as the comedian is known to all.

Another One is Accused at Trial (Continued from page 1) "Yes, T. J. Burnett." Threat Made Other testimony regarded by the state forces as of vital importance to its case was offered at the forenoon session by William J. McDonald, brother-in-law of J. L. Daniel. Mr. McDonald declared that "Jap" Jones mentioned frequently in previous testimony had told him that the "whole damned family" would be "cleaned out" before the alleged attempt to assassinate Dr. P. M. McKoin, former mayor of Mer Rouge was settled.

TO ELIMINATE DEPENDENTS The clinic will be under the superintendency of Dr. Emerson K. North, former superintendent of the Longview Hospital for Insane, at Cincinnati. The aim of the clinic, according to Dr. North, will be to eliminate dependents by prescribing remedies to fit the individual. Before arriving at the remedial point, Dr. North said, the individual will first be given a general examination. Then it will be determined briefly if there are any mental deficiencies. The case will not be analyzed, first to ascertain the sociological condition of the individual, secondly to ascertain completely his physical state. Following this, the individual's intellectual level will be determined, through the process of the Simon Dimet test, outlined to determine the intellectual capabilities and possibilities.

When we look at a statue or a painting representing the figure of a beautiful woman, what fascinates us more—the idea behind the work of art or the face and figure of the model herself. This is the question that many of us are sometimes afraid to ask ourselves as we pass through an art gallery or view statuary on some of our public buildings. We all know that the answer should be. The public should admire the idea of the artist's creation, and not merely the beauty of the model who posed. But human nature often tempts us to admire the body and overlook the spirit of a masterpiece, especially when the figure of the statue or painting happens to be that of a rare beauty.

place hotels and restaurants under the state fire marshal's supervision which was scheduled to be introduced several days ago, will probably be in shape by Monday.

Nine for Third Reading Nine bills are ready for third reading and final consideration in the house of representatives and some criticism has been heard because the house adjourned yesterday afternoon to remain away until Monday morning at 11 o'clock, which means that virtually nothing will be done until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Senate Goes Easy The Senate, during the first two weeks since the legislature assembled, has been a very leisurely body and has been in adjournment most of the time. So far only seven senate bills have been passed by that body and only one house bill. The latter was the per diem and mileage measure, appropriating $25,000 which customarily is passed early in the session so the members may draw compensation.

First of the senate bills to pass the upper body was Strayer's measure designating the state highway from the Idaho line to the Pacific ocean as Old Oregon trail. It had no opposition. Also unopposed was the Strayer bill, which has been passed by the senate, placing the construction of market roads exclusively under the jurisdiction of county courts. Included in the bill is a provision that market road money be applied by county courts to market roads that also are designated as state highways, excepting the Pacific highway, the West Side Pacific highway, the Columbia River highway and Mount Hood loop.

Weapons Prohibited Another bill that has passed the senate is the Eddy bill allowing a salaried circuit court reporter for Douglas county, and another is the Hare bill authorizing circuit judges in the 19th judicial district to call special sessions of court.

One of the law enforcement program bills passed yesterday. This is the Hall bill making it a felony punishable by penitentiary sentence for a bootlegger or moonshiner to be armed with a dangerous or deadly weapon.

Another bill that received unanimous approval of the senate was the Upton measure providing that the inheritance tax, amounting to about $200,000, on the million-dollar estate of the late Judge Bernard Daly be permitted. The reason for this was that the estate was left as a fund to pay for the education in Oregon state institutions of the needy boys and girls of Lake county.

The Moser bill providing for a thorough teaching of the constitution of the United States and its history in the public and private schools of the state from the eighth grade on was enthusiastically approved by the senate.

Many Educational Bills Among the bills introduced so far in the senate are five educational measures. One is the Moser bill requiring instruction in the federal constitution, another is the Eddy bill requiring a more thorough groundwork in fundamental education and Americanism, and a third by Dunn would require the transportation of all pupils living more than three miles from a schoolhouse. It would require the district to provide the expense of the transportation, and if the district failed to do so would empower the county court to levy on the district for the purpose, if recommended by the district boundary board. Relative to districts of less than $100,000 valuation, the court could use its discretion about the levy. This measure is recommended by the county superintendents of the state.

Nationality Census Asked

A bill by Senator Clark would require the school census taker to ascertain the nationality of the parents of children and whether they are naturalized. A measure by Senator Farrell would require a portion of the school fund to be set aside for the education of crippled children in school districts.

Resolution Brings Debate The first spirited argument in the senate was over the adoption of the Ellis senate memorial to the interstate commerce commission urging that in the disposal of the Central Pacific properties due consideration be given the railway needs of Oregon. It was adopted.

Considerable importance is attached to the Dennis-Ritner-Corbett senate memorial to congress urging federal legislation to prohibit the issuance of further tax-exempt securities.

Conference Invited Representatives of the legislatures of Washington, Idaho and California are invited to Salem to confer with Oregon legislators relative to income tax and gasoline tax legislation by a senate concurrent resolution introduced by Eddy and Fisk and which has been adopted in both houses.

Wide attention is being attracted by Senator Zimmerman's concurrent resolution which would require all bills for introduction in the legislature to be filed with the secretary of state at least 30 days before the legislature meets, except budget bills. Any others to be introduced after the legislature convenes would need the consent of four-fifths of the members.

Administration Measure Considered an administration measure is Senator Strayer's joint resolution which would make the state irrigation and drainage securities commission be composed of the governor, the state treasurer, a banker, a lawyer and a farmer.

A joint memorial that is of importance is the Zimmerman measure, urging congress to enact a national "truth-in-fabric" law, requiring that cloth be labeled with the exact percentage of pure virgin wool contained in its make-up.

Among the important highway bills reported favorably in the senate is the Eddy measure raising from $2500 to $50,000 the minimum cost of bridges which require the approval of plans by the state highway commission. It also fixes $1500 instead of $500 the amount above which it is necessary to advertise for bids.

Consolidation Hearing Monday The two general consolidation bills are now before the committee on county and state officers, the Hall bill and the Johnson-Crkin bill. Their merits will be discussed at a public hearing in the senate chamber Monday night at 8 o'clock.

A fight is expected over the Clark bill in the senate to place on the tax roll those hospitals that exclude certain kinds of cases and certain physicians. Much speculation is heard over the Hall bill, which would place a tax of one-tenth of 1 percent on the gross income of public utilities, the purpose being to make the public service commission a self-sustaining department. This is an administration measure. Another administration measure is the Eddy bill that would place with the state treasurer as a law enforcement fund to be used by the governor one-half the proceeds of fines collected from violators of the prohibition laws. The State Editorial association is behind the bill introduced by Senator Toose which would be away with voters' pamphlets, as used previous to all elections, and substitute newspaper publicity at a legally prescribed rate in their place.

WOULD REDUCE CRIMINALITY

Psychiatric Clinic First of Kind to Attempt to Handle Civic Problems

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Jan. 19.—The Cincinnati Central Psychiatric Clinic, said by physicians to be the first of its kind in the country to attempt to reduce criminality, will be opened here soon, it has been announced. The plan of the institution is to give the youths of the city the maximum opportunity for normal development through co-ordination with the courts, social agencies, the public schools, board of health, vocational bureaus, and other institutions in touch with delinquent persons.

The clinic will be under the superintendency of Dr. Emerson K. North, former superintendent of the Longview Hospital for Insane, at Cincinnati. The aim of the clinic, according to Dr. North, will be to eliminate dependents by prescribing remedies to fit the individual. Before arriving at the remedial point, Dr. North said, the individual will first be given a general examination. Then it will be determined briefly if there are any mental deficiencies. The case will not be analyzed, first to ascertain the sociological condition of the individual, secondly to ascertain completely his physical state. Following this, the individual's intellectual level will be determined, through the process of the Simon Dimet test, outlined to determine the intellectual capabilities and possibilities.

With these records, Dr. North continued, the case will be determined on finally by the head psychiatrist and remedies prescribed. These remedies, he said, would vary from institutional treatment to social readjustment such as change in vocational fields or a change in home environment.

The clinic is being financed by the Cincinnati Community Chest. Fifteen thousand dollars was advanced for the first six months with the understanding that $30,000 be given for the year.

Uncle Joe Cannon has gone back to his stogie. It is hard for a kid to break off a bad habit. But it is to be hoped that it will not become fastened on Uncle Joe.

Garb Measure Will Be Ironed Out in Committee

The anti-sectarian garb bill which was slated to go before the senate yesterday with a divided report, has been held up until Monday. It is understood that the senate committee will endeavor to agree with Representative Woodward, sponsor of the measure, on amendments that will be satisfactory all round. A majority of the senate committee favored eliminating the penalty of fine and imprisonment imposed by the bill on teachers, and a minority favored allowing the penalty provision to stand.

"The Tidings Brought to Mary," "Secrets," "Johannes Kreisler," "Booth Tarkington's "Rose Brive" with Billie Burke, and "The Egoulet" are on view and their fate rests with the more or less fickle public. Both the new musical plays, "The Clinging Vine," and "Glory," opened to enthusiastic audiences.

Would Aid Transportation Local transportation development would be made possible under a bill by Hall providing for the organization of municipal improvement districts whereby such districts could issue bonds up to $25,000 per mile of the proposed railway, and if the road when built but yielded a return of 6 per cent or more the bonds to the extent of $50,000 a mile could be issued.
