CLUB CALENDAR

Pussy Willows and violets lent a delightful spring-time atmosphere to a pretty luncheon given last Wednesday for which Mrs. William Brown was hostess.

Mrs. Frank Snedecor and Mrs. Charles Gray were honor guests for the occasion. Covers for 12 were set at the charming luncheon table.

Mrs. Snedecor and Mrs. Gray will leave late this week for several weeks in California and a number of affairs have been arranged in their honor during the coming week.

The silver tea which the American War Mothers planned for this week has been postponed until February 6, according to Mrs. John Carson, president of the local group of the organization.

The tea will specially honor war mothers in the legislature and other war mothers attending the legislature. The local women are working toward the endowment of an ex service men's ward in the new hospital.

Mrs. William Fleming is spending several months with her daughter, Miss Ruth Fleming, in Arcata, Cal. Miss Fleming is librarian at that place.

Mrs. Fleming has many friends in Salem where she has always taken an active interest in social affairs and church work.

The members of the Fortnight Music Club participated in a delightful banquet at the Spa on Saturday evening. Pink carnations made an attractive centerpiece and dainty place cards in the club colors, pink and white, marked the place of each guest. Following the dinner the members of the club formed a line party at the Oregon.

Those enjoying the evening's merriment were: Thelma Carey, Lucile Anderson, Nina Cole, Eloise Wright, Vida Farrell, Edith Manning, Mabel Dicks, Charlotte Martin, Dorice Phenice, Fay Bartel, Mable Dotson, and the club advisor, Miss Dotson.

Mrs. Edward Lamport is spending a short time in California, and will go there east for a several weeks' visit.

Mrs. John J. Roberts will be hostess for the Thursday Bridge club at her home this week.

The General Aid of the First Methodist church will meet Wednesday at Epworth hall.

The Senior King's Heralds will meet Friday evening with Mrs. A. A. Lee. Mothers of the girls will be guests for the evening.

Mrs. Arthur J. Rahn will be in charge of the music for the Salem Woman's club dance February 1 which is to be a benefit for the proposed woman's club building.

The two committees which are working together for the affair met yesterday to perfect plans. Chairmen of the committees are Mrs. J. W. Harbison and Mrs. Harry Hawkins.

Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh, executive secretary in charge of the campaign for the Children's Farm home, will meet with all women interested this afternoon. The meeting will be held at 2:30 in the reberian church. Plans for a campaign will be discussed.

A health clinic will be held tomorrow under the direction of the Marion county health association.

Mothers are being asked to register their children with Mrs. E. E. Fisher before the opening of the clinic. More than 20 children are now registered for the clinic and more can be accommodated, Mrs. Fisher states.

Considerable interest has been noticed by those in charge and many have expressed themselves as pleased to have the clinic started. Salem doctors and nurses will be in charge of the clinic.

The Circle is more than a Bra. It's Self-Adjusting, and simply slips over the head, slips at the waist and under, and smoothly fits gently under. If your dealer can't tell you, send coupon for measure, name, address and size. We'll send the Circle promptly. Size 34 to 48. Nemo Hygienic-Fashion Institute 130 East 14th St., New York, Day 21.

A group from Independence and Monmouth formed a party giving a delightful program for the girls of the Industrial school Saturday afternoon. Vocal numbers were given by Mrs. J. C. Landers of the Monmouth Normal school, accompanied by Miss Kate Houx. Readings and impersonations were given by Miss Kathryn Arbutnot. Instrumental selections by Miss Kate Houx.

After the program the guests were taken through the building and later a luncheon was prepared and served by the girls of the school.

Those included in the party were: Mrs. A. L. Thomas, Mrs. O. D. Butler, Mrs. H. B. Fletcher, Mrs. D. P. McCarthy, Mrs. Crosby, Davis, Mrs. Glauco Skinner, Mrs. J. O. Landers, Mrs. Crow, Miss Kathryn Arbutnot, Miss Kate Houx.

The Smith Hughes sewing class will meet Tuesday evening at the Red Cross rooms, according to Mrs. F. E. Barker, who is in charge. Mrs. Barker went to Albany yesterday to organize a similar class.

Mrs. J. C. Barker was hostess last week at a family reunion for her six boys and two girls and their families. All of the family live in or near Salem and have lived here for four years, coming here from New York. It is considered especially remarkable that the entire family are living so close together and that all made the trip together from the east and settled here so near together.

The children are Mrs. E. J. Raymond, Mrs. Edith Claxton, John, Charles, William, Ernest, Fred, and James Barker. Seven grandsons and six granddaughters also reside here. Mrs. Barker has two great grandchildren. The family came from England in 1902 and Mr. Barker, the father, died six years ago, just a year after he and Mrs. Barker celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

The Sweet Sixteen Five Hundred club was entertained Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Rookstool. Guests for the evening included Miss Odille Persons, Mr. and Mrs. Al Propp and Charles Elrey. Mr. Propp won high score for the evening.

The members of the club are Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Shepherd, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Burroughs, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Joe O'Shea, Mr. and Mrs. Roy McCallum, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Frazier and Mr. and Mrs. Rookstool.

Mrs. Jessie McComb, head of the home economics extension department at the Oregon Agricultural college, will address the women of the Liberty school district Thursday of this week. A horticultural demonstration including pruning demonstrations, will be given at the same time by a horticultural expert from the extension department.

California Club Women Sponsor Property Law

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 22. (By the Associated Press) Amendment of the California civil code so as to place the wife on an equal footing with the husband in willing or inheriting community property, is part of the 1923 legislative program sponsored by the California Federation of Women's clubs.

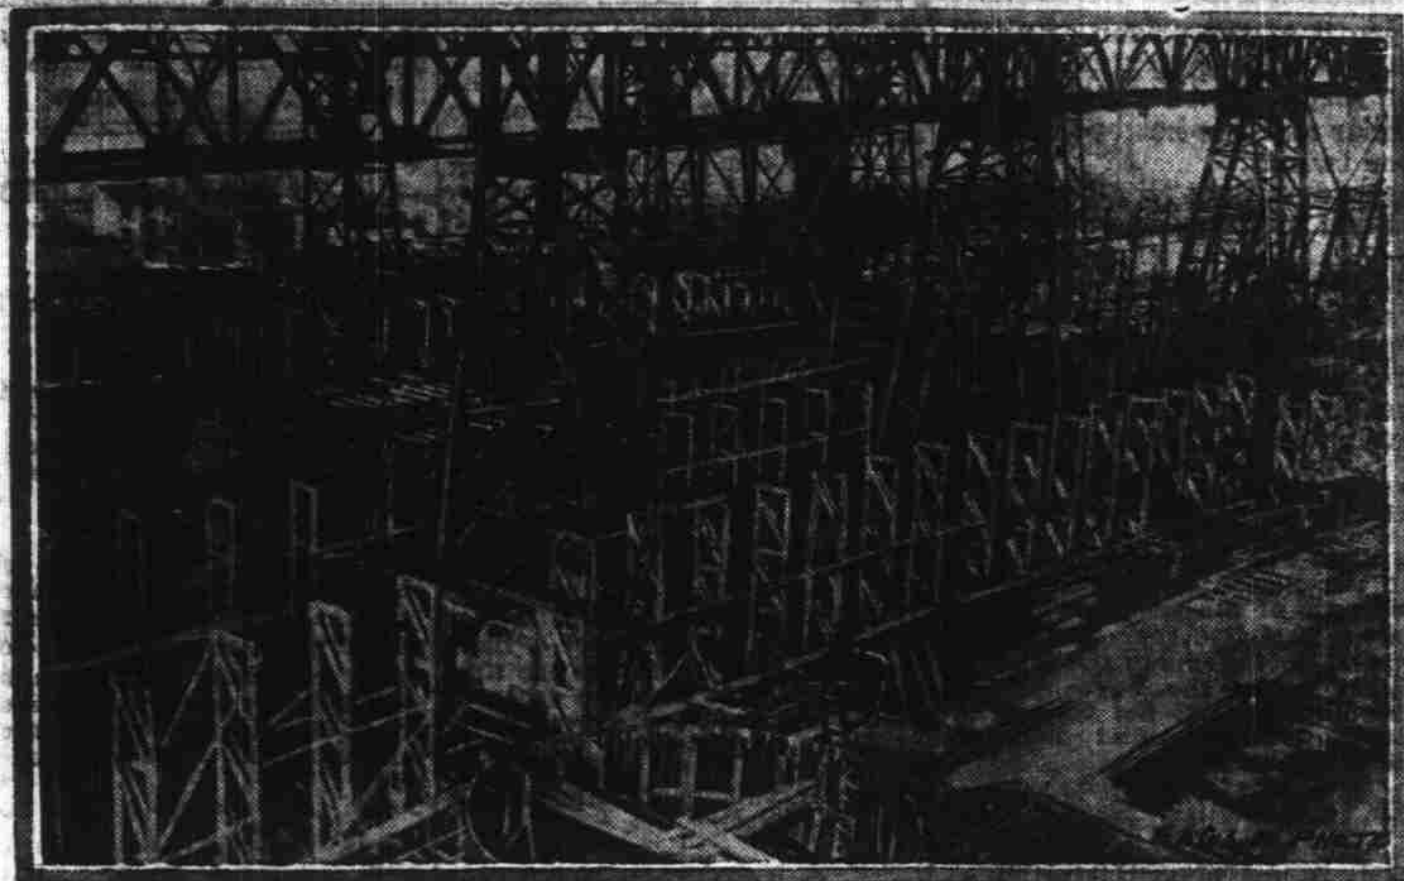

Community property is that acquired by either husband or wife, or both, after marriage. As the state law now stands, the wife's interest in community holdings, in the language of the state supreme court, is a "mere expectancy." In every state where the community property system is in vogue, the wife has some constitutional power, except in California.

Under an amendment to be introduced by Senator Ed. P. Sample of San Diego county, and having the support of the California Bar association, a wife also would have the right to will her half of the community property, and if the husband or wife dies without a will, the entire community property would pass to the survivor.

Through its legislative department the federation is on the alert for any adverse legislation concerning the Industrial Farm for Women, and will fight any effort to have the farm diverted to any purpose other than for which it was established, it was said.

$5,000,000 SPENT ON HULLS OF BATTLESHIPS SCRAPPED AT BROOKLYN NAVY YARD.

Cradled in the bottom of the two gaunt bare steel and wood building ways of the Brooklyn Navy Yard lay the hulks of what were to have been the biggest and best fighting machines of the United States Navy, the South Dakota and the Indiana, pictured once in the imagination of the yard as trim, steel gray mastiffs of the sea. They now lay there in their cradles which have proven their graves, huge hulks of heavy armor steel, a dull, rusty, reddish brown in color. With scrap steel bringing the present market prices the Navy hopes to be able to break about even on the specific job of scrapping, but the cost of steel and construction work already put into the two vessels will be a total loss. Nearly $5,000,000 worth of material and labor is represented in these now useless hulks. Very little in the way of salvageable equipment had been used or purchased. This exclusive photograph, taken by the Brooklyn Eagle, shows hulks of doomed battleships South Dakota and Indiana.

SILVERTON NEWS

SILVERTON, Or., Jan. 22. (Special to The Statesman.)—Trinity congregation met and surprised Mr. and Mrs. Amos Corhouse at their new home on Mill street Sunday afternoon immediately after services. The members of the congregation first went over to the Mill street home and greeted the Corhouse family bringing them back with them to the church basement where a basket dinner was enjoyed. The affair was in appreciation of Mr. Corhouse's services as Trinity trustee, a position he has held for years, and to which he was recently re-elected.

Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Sebo are spending the week at Portland. Miss Cora Satern entertained a few guests at luncheon Sunday.

Einar Olsen of Hubbard spent a few days at Silvertion the last of the week as guest of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Madsen.

Rev. and Mrs. George Henriksen visited at Portland last week. Trinity Luther League is planning a social for Saturday evening.

Consolidation Asked in Pierce Statement

A plea for such consolidation of state departments and commissions as will give the government a firmer grip on state government is made by Governor Pierce in a statement issued yesterday. The government expresses the belief that his tax reduction measures will be introduced this week. The statement was issued in reply to inquiries that are said to be coming from many parts of the state as to what has been done so far by the legislature toward a program of tax reduction and more equitable distribution of the tax burden.

New Ambulance Service Is Secured for Salem

A new ambulance service for Salem has just been announced by the Oleson Garage, 173 South Liberty street. For a long time there has been a great and insistent demand for such a service, to run night and day, to care for the sick and injured in and around Salem. The really seriously ill patient who has to climb into and out of an ordinary car, in getting to or from the hospital, has been in rather pitiful luck; the aggregate of needless suffering, especially in the cases of severe fractures or injuries, has been an indictment of the whole community. The new ambulance has a comfortable cot, and room for two attendants besides the driver; and is available night or day, by call to phone 666. The first trip the new murey-wagon made was to Independence, for a patient for one of the Salem hospitals. Doctors and hospitals have welcomed the installation of the new service.

Jute Mill Operations Said not Paying State

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Jan. 22.—Jute mill operations at the state penitentiary do not justify the expense and the cost of the finished product is insufficient to pay the maintenance of the men incarcerated who are employed in its manufacture, according to a statement made today by Superintendent John W. Pace of the institution.

Willamette YMCA Workers Put on Stunts at Stayton

A group of Willamette YMCA workers, under the leadership of Clarence Oliver, went out to Stayton Friday on a Y deputa-tion tour. The delegates included Clarence Oliver, George Oliver, Ellsworth Anslow, Franklin Taylor, Walter Neidiger, George Atkinson, Leroy Hyatt, Paul Johnson and Lloyd Waitz. They put on a varied program of religious, athletic and social work, in connection with the local Hi-Y and other Stayton Y workers. They played two games of basketball with the Stayton senior and junior school teams, and on Saturday went on a big hike with a wiener-wurst roast as one of its objectives. The Willamette Glee club sang there Friday night, giving what Stayton hearers said was the best concert the club had ever given there in the series of years the boys have been making Stayton. On Saturday night there was a big father-and-son banquet, and Sunday was devoted entirely to religious work in the various churches. A boys meeting in the afternoon, a union young peoples' service in the early evening, and a union church service for the night, completed the week.

Salem Elks Will Cheer Past Exalted Rulers

On Thursday evening February 1st, the Salem lodge of Elks will entertain the past exalted rulers of their order, as their special honor guests. There are 26 of those officers, who will be coming in from every point of the compass, for a home-week entertainment. The local lodge aims to make every visitor glad that he ever was an Elk, and especially that he was an officer of the Salem lodge. One of the attractions will be a lecture by Captain Upton, one of the star entertainers on the Elks and White chautauqua circuit. Capt. Upton was on the program for the 1921 chautauqua in Salem, and made a fine hit with all who heard him. He was an athletic and entertainment officer and coach during the war, and served for a while with the Spruce division out of Portland.
