BLIGH
Hickman Bessey Co. presenting "The Orphan Girl." Wm. S. Hart in "The Whistle."

Mother love, father love, the love of fair play, the love of money, the love of position—all these phases of the grand passion enter into William S. Hart's Paramount picture, "The Whistle," which will be the feature at the Bligh theater for three days beginning today. The story was written by May Wilmoth and Olin Lyman, and Lambert Hillier, the director, made the adaptation.

Mr. Hart appears as Robert Evans, a factory worker and has a wonderfully strong supporting cast. Myrtle Steadman, always a favorite, has the leading feminine role—virtually the only woman's part in the picture. It is a rugged story, one dealing with human souls and the hearts of men and women, making and breaking.

Richard Thayer faces in "All Night," the Universal Attraction De Luxe, in which Rudolph Valentino and Carmel Myers are starred, and which will be shown at the Oregon starting today.

However, that one scene is only one of the many laughable (to the audience) situations, that the pair were forced into by the doddering old western magnate who insisted that he knew just the right thing for young married folks. And, just to complicate matters a trifle more he fell in love with the real mistress of the household while her husband stood by helpless and afraid to protest because he needed the million dollars that the capitalist had promised to invest in his company.

DRUG DEALERS ARE INDICTED

Federal Prohibition Agents Hold Three Officers of Large Company

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 29.—Three officials of the Independent Drug company of Cincinnati were indicted today by the federal grand jury on the charge of conspiring to violate the federal prohibition law.

Those indicted are Otto Katz, president; George H. Lander, vice president, and Sydney H. Miller, secretary.

One thousand offenses involving one million dollars worth of whiskey according to United States District Attorney Thomas H. Morrow, are alleged in the indictment which charged the three men with having conspired to divert the whiskey without proper permits into channels for use as a beverage.

Sold Without Permit
The indictments set forth that the whiskey was sold without permits at Owensboro, Frankfort and Louisville, Ky., and at Troy, Ohio, and that that it was sold to persons in Cincinnati, Butte, Mont.; Newport News, Va., Philadelphia, Hannibal, Mo.; Fort Worth, Texas and other cities.

The indictments are the result of weeks of investigation by federal prohibition agents, United States District Attorney Morrow said after the grand jury had reported. Witnesses examined by the jury included retail druggists from various cities of the country, who, it is alleged, had dealings with the Independent Drug company, one of the largest wholesale drug concerns in Cincinnati.

No Record of Sales
The defendants also are charged with failing to keep a record of sales of whiskey and alcohol and failing to attach proper label, soliciting, receiving and permitting employees of the Federal Distributing company and the Independent Drug company to solicit and to receive orders from all parts of the country.

PROHI BILL IS CAUSE OF FIGHT

Senate in Favor of Enforcement, But Want More Funds for Counties

One of the administration law enforcement measures, senate bill No. 30, by Eddy, which provides the governor with a fund for enforcement of the prohibition laws was re-referred when it came up for third reading yesterday.

The bill provides for the appointment of a prohibition commissioner and certain agents to be named by the governor, all to give bonds and all to be paid out of a fund created by the act from fines imposed upon violators.

Of the proceeds from fines one-half would be turned over by the county treasurer to the state treasurer to be used by him for enforcing the law, but this amount cannot exceed $25,000 a year. After this is reached no more can be taken from the counties.

The other half, under the bill would be kept in the county treasury and up to $2000 be used for enforcement of the law. Any more than that sum in any one year is turned into the general fund of the county.

Senator Ellis opposed the bill and Senator Moser urged that it be amended, though he said he would vote for it in the present form. Moser read a telegram sent from Coos county to Senator Hall urging him to vote against it. Moser wanted the bill amended so that all fines resulting from arrests by the governor's agents be turned over to the state and all resulting from arrests by county officers go to the county. He declared this would lead to a rivalry that would be beneficial. He said the bill as it stood allowed too much money to the state.

Senator Johnson moved that the bill be re-referred with instructions to amend so that three-fourths of the fines go to the counties and one-fourth to the state.

Joseph moved to amend the Johnson motion by referring back without instructions.

Senator Toose objected to any alteration in the bill and urged support of the governor in his desire to enforce the law.

Senator Garland spoke urgently for the bill as it stood. Eddy explained that the measure would not be retroactive so any money could be taken from the counties that is there now. Senator Taylor, a member of the committee on alcoholic traffic and who with Senator Ellis composed a majority of the committee against Eddy, declared he would join Eddy in support of the bill if it were amended so the counties would get 75 percent of the proceeds of the fines. Johnson's motion prevailed and the bill was re-referred.

PRESIDENT LIKES WESTERN SCHOOLS

Dr. Doney, Returning from Eastern Tour, Lauds Coast Universities

"I wouldn't trade Willamette for any or all the eastern colleges and universities I visited," said Dr. Carl G. Doney, president of Willamette university, who returned Sunday night from a month's tour of the east.

The student life in the east is not what it is here on the coast, says Dr. Doney. The students themselves do not generally have the same perspective. The professors do not maintain the same standard of supervision. The general moral standard of Willamette and the west is much the better, and that is the reason the Willamette president wouldn't trade for the biggest or the best of the easterners.

However, there are many fine folks in the eastern institutions. At Boston Dr. Doney took dinner with Dr. and Mrs. Walton, A. C. Barnes, Ralph Barnes, Ray Atterbury and John Moodie, the latter three having been Willamette students. Atterbury is attending Harvard, preparing for the ministry after graduating here. Barnes and his father are going through Harvard together, and Moodie is in Massachusetts Tech. Hugh Doney gets his degree this year from Wesleyan college, at Middletown, Conn., and Paul Doney is still at work in Boston and Harvard universities.

Dr. Doney made an especial study of financial and executive matters in a number of colleges, among these being Harvard and Denison university, at Granville, Ohio. He gathered
