Thrift Contest Prizes Awarded
All Essays Said to Have Been of High Order—Originality also Counted

This morning David Kyre, president of the Salem thrift campaign executive committee, and C. A. Kells of the Salem YMCA that staged the campaign, are to make the rounds of all the local schools and give out the prizes for the recent thrift essay contest. They have evolved a plan of making these prizes in the form of little souvenirs that will be permanent reminders of the honor won, as well as giving the cash awards that the thrifters can spend or save as their thrifty souls best dictate.

A vast number of essays came in and they were generally of high order. The judges based their awards largely on originality rather than text-book thought, and what a normal, live-minded child will think up may sometimes be a flash of Solomonian wisdom. Some of these philosophic gems appear all the way through the essay series.

The winners and the judges who passed on the sea of manuscripts follow in order:

APOLLO PROGRAM IS APPRECIATED

Rehearsal at State Hospital is Preliminary to Semi-annual Concert

One of the most delightful and musical circles heard the Salem Apollo club give a rehearsal program at the State hospital auditorium last night. The club is preparing for its big semi-annual concert for February 14, and last night they gave the full program at the hospital. About 700 were in attendance and the singers reported that they never saw a more appreciative audience. Following the program Dr. Steiner entertained the singers at a delightful little informal luncheon at which he gave a brief talk on the curative and social value of music in such an institution as the state hospital.

On the program were some of the most attractive numbers presented last year, one of them being "The Bells of St. Mary's," a favorite for the ages. One of the most attractive pieces was "Murmuring Zephyrs," a big, splendid number not heretofore presented in Salem. It will be on their Valentine day program. Altogether, they sang a full dozen pieces, all of which were enjoyed.

One of the attractive numbers of the evening was a piano solo by Miss Ruth Bedford, the regular accompanist for the Apollo club. She is developing into a real concert player, with the strength that so many pianists lack, and her work promises to add lustre to the list of Salem musicians.

Income Tax Exemptions Listed by Revenue Office

PORTLAND, Jan. 31.—Clyde G. Huntley, collector of internal revenue, calls the attention of Oregon taxpayers to the fact that without any exception the following persons must file income tax returns for the year 1922 not later than March 15:

Every single person who had a net income of $1000 or more.

Every married person who had a net income of $2000 or more.

Every head of a family who had a net income of $1000 or more.

The exemption for a single person is $1000; for a married person $2000, if his income does not exceed $5000. If the net income of a married person exceeds $5,000 he is allowed an exemption of only $2000.

The exemption allowed for dependents under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support is $400, but a return must be made in order for the taxpayer to claim credit for the exemption. In other words, a return must be

PROGRESSIVE TAX ADVOCATES SCORED

Day Sees Supporters of Measure Linked up With Socialist Doctrine

Before the joint assessment and taxation committees of the legislature Tuesday night advocates of a progressive form of income tax were scored by I. N. Day, chairman of the tax investigation commission appointed by Governor Olcott.

Although he did not make the direct charge, Day plainly left the inference that those who advocate the progressive form of income tax, such as is proposed by Governor Pierce and also by the state grange, are sympathetic with the socialistic doctrine of the day.

With Dr. James Gilbert of the University of Oregon, who also spoke on the commission's proposed income tax bill, Day advocated the enactment of a flat rate personal income tax by the legislature.

The Pierce income tax bill, according to Day, is entirely too high, since it proposes to levy a state tax equal to 50 percent of the tax now paid by incomes to the federal government. This, according to Day, is a larger proportion than is levied by any state now having an income tax. In answer to this, advocates of the Pierce tax bill claim that real property in Oregon now carries the heaviest tax in the nation and

Governor Issued First Pardon to Woman Inmate

On Tuesday, Governor Pierce issued his first prison pardon. He has had a lot of chances for others, but none quite like this one. There was one woman in the prison, sentenced for a year's imprisonment. She still had 52 days to serve; her sister came up from California, to plead for her; she offered to take the unfortunate down to the Golden State, and take care of her.

The governor found that a matron was being employed for the care of "woman prisoners"; the matron was paid $100 a month. He figured that the prisoner had already paid almost the full price assessed against her; she would be leaving the state and the state could afford to discount the bill for quick settlement.

So the pardon was issued, there is today no prison matron, and the state is tottering along under that much lighter load—about $250 in all—that the taxpayers won't have to pungle up.

$100,000 SAVED

Tomorrow 1,000,000 customers will patronize the Piggly Wiggly stores. Today there are fifteen hundred Piggly Wiggly stores in operation. If each customer would have their purchases delivered it would cost $100,000.

The United States department of commerce has found by investigation that it cost an average of ten cents to make each delivery.

Ex-Secretary Redfield says that the annual charge for cartage is probably far above the total of railway freight charges. There is no such thing as free delivery; every customer pays his proportion for delivery just as every customer contributes his proportion to a bad debt account when goods are sold on credit. The following are only a few of the regular every-day Piggly Wiggly prices. Visit the Piggly Wiggly Stores tomorrow—you will like the clean store and fresh stock.
