BLIGH
Hickman Bessey Co. presenting "The Orphan Girl." Wm. S. Hart in "The Whistle."

The last showings of William S. Hart's picture, "The Whistle," will be had at the Bligh theater today. The photoplay, although radically different from the usual

Hart vehicles, has a dramatic and appealing story and this accounts for much of its success. The support is highly artistic.

"Trapped in the Air," the next attraction at the Bligh theater, tells a story of dramatic adventure in Nature's own settings, the only true locale for genuine romance. Filmed in the Sierras in the most mountain fastnesses, it shows scenes of natural grandeur and beauty that have never before been seen on the screen.

The airplane has superseded the galloping broncho and the dashing racing car as the adventurer's steed. Lester Cuneo's latest starring vehicle, "Trapped in the Air," shows him as a gallant aviator, meeting dramatic adventures, overcoming tremendous odds and winning the love of a wonderful girl.

True" easily the greatest motion picture in which Harry Carey has ever appeared. It is the current attraction at the Liberty theater. The cast includes such well known players as Vola Vale, Tully Marshall, Charles Le Moyne, Helen Gilmore and an array of super-numeraries. The story was adapted from a novel by Eugene Manlove Rhodes.

Agnes Ayres' new starring feature, "A Daughter of Luxury," was adapted from the well known play "The Imposter," by Leonard Merrick and Michael Morton. Annie Russell was the star of the play, which was first presented in New York in 1919. The screen adaptation was made by Bouleh Marie Dix, a well known scenario writer.

COAL SUPPLY TO GERMANY IS CUT OFF

and there is evidence that real military occupation is coming in the Ruhr.

Stern measures, including martial law and an early curfew, suppression of the use of automobiles and censorship of the newspapers will be enforced in a few days, after the last opportunity has been given the Germans by Quai d'Orsay to make a suitable reparation offer.

These measures will come into effect should Berlin refuse to come to terms, and the reich has been informed of them through diplomatic channels. General Degoutte, allied commander in chief in the occupational zone, told the Associated Press today.

Resistance Maintained
Although Dr. Guetner, president of the Rhineland province, and the burgomasters of Dueseldorf and Essen have been made aware of the coming measures, they maintain their attitude of resistance. Immediately upon being informed of the intentions of the French, Dr. Guetner left for Cologne, where he went into conference with Cardinal Schulte, while Dr. Luther, burgomaster of Essen, conferred with the coal barons, headed by Fritz Thyssen.

The French today began requisitioning automobiles in the Duesburg-Ruhrort-Hamborn region. The coal magnates and industrial leaders who have been racing through the Ruhr in high powered cars were halted and the machines confiscated and sent to French garages.

An official at French headquarters in commenting upon this commencement of the application of stern measures, said: "The fact that a German owns an automobile," he continued, "does not make him immune from the present difficulties of traveling in the Ruhr for which the Germans are responsible. If the magnates desire to visit neighboring cities they must start the trains again or walk."

Food is Scarce
On the way from Dueseldorf to Duisburg this afternoon the correspondent passed many cars which had managed to escape from Duisburg and were speeding for Dueseldorf, where the requisition measures are not yet in force.

Waving frantically at the correspondent's chauffeur they warned him not to enter Duisburg, "or you lose your car."

Soldiers stand at bridges and cross roads demand passes, as in real war days and anyone without authority from the requisition office was halted and forced to alight. Many leather coats and goggles automobile parties were met dejectedly wending their way back to Duisburg at foot or waiting for trains.

There is much unemployment around the Duisburg steel plants. The heavy pall of black smoke normally hanging over the city now is much thinned. Ruhrort, once the busiest Rhine port, is completely idle.

Food is getting scarce in Dueseldorf and meat was selling tonight for from 6,000 to 7,000 marks a pound.

The Franco-Belgian grip on the Ruhr is tightening. The occupational authorities have seized the entire customs of the Ruhr valley and have shut off all shipments of coal to unoccupied Germany.

A serious situation has arisen at the mines. Only about half the normal output is being brought to the surface and the supply of cars is fast diminishing.

Though the output is small, coal is accumulating at the pit heads and the French admit that this may cause a suspension of operations within a few days.

The German railwaymen who went on strike are displaying the determined front; they refuse to work and traffic is tied up.

Food Getting Scarce
The scarcity of food throughout the Ruhr region is becoming more acute.

Herr Stinnes has discontinued

German deliveries for the devastated area of France. Gold marks to the amount of five hundred million due on the reparations account have not been paid by Germany. Therefore, unless Germany makes a satisfactory response to the latest notification of France and Belgium, these powers have decided to take still more rigorous measures than have yet been put into effect.

Essen has been shut off by reason of the severing of telegraph and telephone communication.

"FOUR HORSEMEN" IS COMING HERE

Salem People to See Famous Picture on Saturday at Popular Prices

For the first time, Salem is to see "The Four Horsemen" at popular prices, and the presentation will not be stinted in the least but will be presented in "road show" style—that is, with full orchestra and everything just as though the production were being shown for the first time at fancy prices. Starting Saturday at 2 p.m. an admission of 25 cents, the first performance will be for children. At this matinee the full orchestra will not be present but will be composed of four members. At all other performances excepting the 5:15 show Sunday the complete new Grand orchestra will play and the admission prices will be but 35 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Showing a big picture with an orchestra, at popular prices, seems unusual and is unusual, but the Grand management is again going to try it out even in the face of two failures from the viewpoint of a lack of attendance on the part of the Salem public, the first being "Dr. Jack" and the second "Monte Cristo." While a great many people saw these productions, not enough came to insure an orchestra as a permanent adjunct to all Grand picture productions. The orchestra is composed entirely of Salem musicians. First and obligato violins are E. Gaigano and Mary Talmadge Headrick; cello, J. D. Beebe; piano Mrs. E. Gaigano; cornet, Charles Pabst; trombone, Oscar Steelhammer, and drums, George Beck. The score is especially arranged for "The Four Horsemen" and it exactly the same as has been used in every large city from New York to San Francisco.

"The Four Horsemen" was directed by Rex Ingram and the leading players are Alice Terry, Rodolph Valentino and Joseph Swickard — although practically the entire cast of 32 could be classed as "leading players." There will be but two shows daily, with the exception of Sunday. The Saturday matinee begins at two p.m. and evening at 8 o'clock. On Sunday the first show is at 2:30, the second 5:15 and the night show at 8 p.m. If attendance warrants there will be evening shows only on Monday and Tuesday at 8 p.m. The feature starts 30 minutes after the hours given above.

A. C. Raleigh, manager of the Grand, hopes that the public will respond to his efforts in putting Salem on the map as a first class picture town, for he believes the people of Salem are as appreciative of the better things in pictures as those who dwell in the larger cities.

TORTURED MANY YEARS BY KIDNEYS

"I have had kidney trouble for twelve years," writes H. P. Pinkney, West Jackson, Miss. "Pains in back, joints, catches in the hips, run down and getting up too much during the night. But since taking Foley Kidney Pills, my suffering is over, and I feel like a new man." Backache, rheumatic pains, kidney and bladder trouble quickly relieved with Foley Kidney Pills. Refuse substitutes. Insist upon Foley's. Money and Tar. Sold everywhere. —Adv.

COMMITTEE MEET BECOMES FIERY

Staples Has Strong Charges Concerning Overtime Granted Stenog.

Fireworks developed at the first meeting of the senate committee appointed to investigate charges of extravagance in the employment of pages, clerks and attaches of the senate, when two members of the committee got together late yesterday.

By virtue of the fact that he proposed the investigation, Senator Staples was named chairman of the committee and Senators Moser and Smith were named by President Upton as the balance of the committee.

Moser did not attend the called meeting and Staples and Smith failed to agree on what should be covered by the investigation.

During the controversy Staples charged that in the 1921 session, the per diem committee allowed Smith's stenographer about 35 days overtime and that Bruce Dennis' stenographer had also been paid for overtime.

amounting to considerable sum. Staples is not dismayed however and has called another meeting of the committee for 9 o'clock this morning. If the committee cannot agree Staples will file a minority report to the senate, charging that a large portion of the cost of pages, messengers, assistant sergeant at arms, and similar attaches can be dispensed with.
