That the presentation of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," the Rex Ingram production, rivals the greatest theatrical offerings of the legitimate stage, was the opinion of John Galvin, mayor of Cincinnati, after twice viewing the picture in New York. This screen masterpiece will be seen at the Grand starting tomorrow.

Marie Wells in "The Merry Widow."

row at 2 p. m. The music will be by a special orchestra.
"It is the greatest picture I have ever seen," declared Mr. Galvin. "Its dramatic power is something wonderful and it affected me just as much as though I were witnessing a spoken performance. It stirs the emotions and I am not ashamed to say that parts of that picture brought a lump to my throat and tears to my eyes."
Pictures like "The Four Horsemen" are the greatest kind of advertisement to show that the movies are capable of just as wonderful dramatic effects as the speaking stage. It shows what tremendous things the big companies of the motion picture industry are doing to advance the standard of pictures.

Agnes Ayres, in her latest starring vehicle, "A Daughter of Luxury," now playing at the Oregon, has a role similar to those in which she achieved success when she appeared as the "O. Henry" girl. She is a girl reared in luxury who is left destitute and is forced to walk the streets hungry and destitute, vainly seeking work. Miss Ayres plays the part with a keen sense of humor and instead of viewing her plight as a tragedy, makes light of it. Coupled with thrilling action, there is an abundance of wholesome comedy.

Harry Carey leaps into the forefront of Western character actors by virtue of his sterling performance in his latest super-Western "Good Men and True," adapted from Eugene Manlove Rhodes' virile story. As J. Wesley Pringle, candidate for sheriff, Carey is a downright triumph, according to critics who have reviewed the production now at the Liberty theater. Others in the cast are Volva Vale, Thos. Jefferson, Noah Beery, Chas. LeMay, Tully Marshall, Helen Gilmore and a legion of supernumeraries.

Harry Lee, a New York boy, is an artist of exceptional ability. He has won for himself a name in the east as an entertainer. He has just finished an engagement of three solid months in New York City. The first time west you will like Harry Lee. He's different. His present offering gives him splendid opportunities for displaying his wonderful ability as a ventriloquist. His pleasing voice is a great asset to his offering, rendering many new and popular song hits. At the Bligh theater today and tomorrow.

"Merry Widow" Coming Has Series of Triumphs

The real gala season of music and romance is promised in the early engagement of Franz Lehár's justly celebrated and beloved operetta, the famous "Merry Widow," at the Grand theater for one night, Wednesday.

The tremendously popular operetta has been given an entirely new and magnificent production by its producer, Henry W. Savage, who has equipped it with scenery by the famous artist, Joseph Urban, and costumes by Miss Peggy Hoyt, noted New York modiste and milliner to society.

NORTHCLIFFE WILL BE INVALIDATED

Famous Publisher Bequeaths Majority of Estate to Lady Northcliffe

LONDON, Feb. 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—The will of the late Lord Northcliffe, drawn up in 1919 in favor of which his will of last July was invalidated today in the court for testamentary dispositions, after making provision for certain trusts, deeds and other matters, bequeaths all the publisher's personal effects to Lady Northcliffe and gives her an immediate legacy of 10,000 pounds.

She is also given a freehold of the house of Carlton Gardens to be held in trust during her widowhood; after her death or relinquishment the house goes to the residuary estate.

The whole realized estate is divided into 100 equal parts, 71 1/2 of which are known as the residuary trust fund and the remainder as the legacy fund. Under the residuary fund Lady Northcliffe will receive 25 per cent of the total funds of the income annually during her widowhood. Eight per cent goes to Lord Northcliffe's mother, 2 per cent each to his three sisters and 4 1/2 per cent is divided among three of his brothers—Vivian, St. John and Charles. The legacy fund provides for nearly three score legatees.

"Well, my dear, you are a good, quiet little girl. Will you sit on my knee?"
"No, thank you," said the little one demurely. "I mustn't."
"Mustn't, my dear? I don't understand," queried the lady.
"Well, you see," was the meek reply, "I've got to sit still and hide the hole in this chair."

RANGOON, Feb. 1.—Supaya-lat, the aged ex-queen of Burma, has said to a representative of the Associated Press that, in her opinion, the Burmans are not yet ready for complete home rule. Her Majesty is now 63 years old and is living in seclusion in Rangoon. This was the first press interview she has granted since 1917.

When asked for her opinion on the political question in Burma, Queen Supaya-lat replied: "The Burmans are not yet ready for complete home rule. They are divided among themselves, and need a strong government to hold them together. They say they are united, but it is only a unity of the Burmese people."

Her Majesty spoke of her deep affection for America, and of her high regard for the American citizens with whom she had come in contact. She said that while she was exiled in India, American friends had offered to take her to the United States, and when she was returning to Burma in 1917, an American missionary had made arrangements for her comfort on the journey.

Supaya-lat was the wife and chief advisor of King Thibaw, the last Burmese ruler. Mandalay was then the national capital. Thibaw was not a strong ruler, and allowed most of the affairs of state to fall into the hands of his wife. Queen Supaya-lat was largely responsible for the repeated atrocities which brought on British intervention and the end of Burmese rule.

The Burmese were dissatisfied under a system of heavy taxation, and rebelled in several parts of the kingdom. In 1886, after failing to obtain redress for alleged wrongs, the British inaugurated the third Anglo-Burmese war by sending an army to occupy Mandalay.

Upon the approach of this armed force Thibaw and Supaya-lat fled. They were soon overtaken however, and were exiled to the western coast of India, where Thibaw died in 1917. After her husband's death, Queen Supaya-lat was allowed to return to her own country and is now living in retirement in Rangoon with one of her daughters.

BIG TIMBER DEAL CLOSED YESTERDAY

Transaction of Buehner Co. Said to Involve Total of $4,000,000

PORTLAND, Or., Feb. 1.—The largest individual lumber transaction ever consummated in Oregon was closed today when the Buehner Lumber company mill and timber located in Coos bay were transferred to eastern and southern operators for approximately $4,000,000.

Those in the purchasing syndicate are: George T. Mickie, president of the George T. Mickie Lumber company of Illinois and Oregon, who announced the closing of the deal; W. C. Ribbeck, chairman of the board of directors of the California and Oregon Lumber company of San Francisco; Frank D. Stout, president of the Stout Lumber company of Arkansas and Wisconsin and W. T. Culver, head of the Stearns and Culver Lumber company of Ludington, Mich.

SALEM BOY TALKS AT REALTY LUNCH

R. P. Bonham, for Many Years in Immigration Service, is Speaker

R. P. Bonham, a former Salem boy and a graduate of Willamette university, for almost 20 years in the immigration service, was the principal speaker at the Realtors' luncheon Thursday noon. He talked on the fundamental principles underlying immigration—the matter of assimilation, of compatibility, of health, of ideals, which determine whether immigration will be helpful or harmful.

Mr. Bonham told of the various great movements that had been either actually made, or attempted, to America. The great Scandinavian and Anglo-Saxon immigration that made the real America, he characterized as safe and sane. But after they had taken all the risk and had built up a great country that looked attractive to others of softer stuff, the other less desirable nations began to come in increasing numbers. The south of Europe armies that have come, and the far vaster armies that would come but for the present exclusion laws, he pictured in vivid terms.

He showed that in the Orient there are near 800,000,000 people, nervous, restless, hungry, looking for a way out; enough of them of the Chinese, Japanese and Hindu peoples would come in a single year to absolutely destroy the last vestige of America as it is now known, if there were shipping capacity to carry them and the bars were down. He told of the various laws or agreements that had checked each of these three nationalities from a threatened invasion.

Contractors Have "Do As You Please" Night

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 1.—Tonight was "do as you please" night for delegates to the fourth annual convention of the Associated General Contractors of America, in session here since Tuesday. The program of special entertainment was suspended and the visiting contractors, with a fleet of automobiles placed at their disposal, broke up into small groups and investigated at their leisure the recreational possibilities of Los Angeles and its suburbs.

Consolidation of crafts in the building trades, the elimination of irresponsible bidders, standardization of construction methods, free wholesale markets and other subjects of interest to the general contractor, were discussed in the divisional sessions held today, the delegates meeting in three groups—the building division, highway division and the public works and railroad division.

even years after they land and have apparently settled down. The Portland branch is said to be one of the most efficient of all the branches in the United States in cleaning up the foreign criminals who never could belong here.

Mr. Bonham especially urged every Oregonian to take up with the delegates in Washington the matter of giving the department more money to carry on its work. The immigration department took in more than $6,000,000 last year in fines and other receipts and spent only $4,000,000; the excess went into the federal treasury, yet the department had to lay off many of its men for lack of funds at a time when they were most needed. To allow them to use some of the money they collected and make their work more effective, he said, would almost solve the whole immigration problem.

The Realtors had the largest attendance recorded for a number of months. Some routine business was transacted.
