It was O. Henry who once said that one night in New York has more romance and adventure than in any Arabian Nights tale. In his short stories this author caught flashes of that romance, but never has the truth of his statement been more clearly demonstrated than in "One Wonderful Night," the Universal feature which brings Herbert Rawlinson as the attraction at the Bigh theatre on Sunday.

With the broader scope of the stage Louis Tracy caught the romance and glamour of a night in the great city in a manner impossible for O. Henry with the limited canvas of the short story. Entire action of the play takes place within the twelve hours of a single night. Into these twelve hours is crowded a series of thrilling adventures. From the moment Rawlinson marries a beautiful girl to save her a million dollars, things happen in an exciting manner.

The management of the Bigh theatre very honestly announces that they have been successful in securing the "Orpheus Comedy Four" for their show next Sunday and Monday. This quartette of grouch killers are known from coast to coast and are really one of the big time acts.

Probably the strongest and most distinguished cast ever assembled for any picture in the history of the screen, is seen in the Rex Ingram production of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," from the world-famous novel by Vicente Blasco Ibanez, now showing at the Grand at popular prices with the full new Grand orchestra.

While every player of the 25 principal roles was selected because of his or her special ability to enact the part, there is scarcely a name in the list that is not prominently known to motion picture followers.

Rudolph Valentino, who has the role of Julio, the romantic South American hero of the story, has been in pictures for several years. Previous to going into pictures, Mr. Valentino was a professional dancer.

Alice Terry is enacting the leading feminine role, that of Marguerite, the little French girl. Miss Terry played in the Metro production of "Shore Acres," featuring Alice Lake, and later had the leading role in "Hearts are Trumps."

Joseph Swickard, a veteran of 25 years on the American speaking stage and 10 years in motion pictures, appears in the part of Marcello Desnoyers.

Edward Connelly, best known of veteran Metro character actors, has the difficult role of the old lodgekeeper. Mr. Connelly, after a stage career of 30 years, has appeared in many character roles in Metro successes.

Mabel Van Buren has the part of Elena, a German character role.

Nigel de Bruiler takes one of the most difficult character parts in the production. In the role of Tchernoff, the Russian who relates the legend of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," Mr. De Bruiler has created a characterization which stands out.

There are many other noted names in the cast.

"The Voice from the Minaret." Norma Talmadge's picture which, with Eugene O'Brien as leading man, will be shown at the Oregon, starting tonight at 7 p.m.

It is noteworthy for its unique variety of settings. The story, from the pen of Robert Hichens, covers considerable ground, and Director Frank Lloyd was compelled to reproduce far-off scenes on the studio lot in Los Angeles.

The story opens in Bombay, India; proceeds through the Suez Canal to Port Said; then to Damascus, back to Bombay, and from there to London and finally has finale written to its exotic pages in Damascus again.

In order to secure realism, it was necessary for Mr. Lloyd to conduct extensive research into the customs, raiment and living conditions in those parts of the globe. However, he did not have to do all the actual work, for in the film capital there are gathered "experts" who are acquainted with all sections of the world and can be relied on to give advice to motion picture producers along their special lines.

"MERRY WIDOW" HAS COMEBACK

Interest Waned and Play Became Obscure—Success Again Renewed

Blasco Ibanez, the Spanish author, has shrewdly said: "There is a certain tunnel of forgetfulness into which a musical or dramatic production runs when its original interest wanes, and it is only the very great product, like "The Merry Widow," that can emerge from obscurity again into the blazing brilliancy of renewed success."

There are substantial reasons for the fresh enthusiasm inspired by Henry W. Savage's new production of Lehár's world-famous operette. It has an ideal story of romance; the most alluring waltz ever composed; a splendor of staging never before approached in opera and singing cast of grand opera quality. "The Merry Widow" with an exceptional company and magnificent Urban production, comes to the Grand Theatre for one night only Wednesday.

This splendid cast includes Jefferson de Angelis, James Liddy, Marie Wells, Eva Webber, Warren Proctor, Tom Burton, Robert Howell, Anita Whitaker, Joseph Miller, Walton MacAfee, W. H. White and Frieda Fitzgerald.

Agreement Reached on Redrafting of Code

The American Legion, the World War Veterans aid commission and the joint committee on military affairs have reached an agreement on the redrafting of

TORTURED MANY YEARS BY KIDNEYS

"I have had kidney trouble for twelve years," writes H. P. Pinkney, West Jackson, Miss. "Pains in back, joints, catches in the hips, run down and getting up too much during the night. But since taking Foley Kidney Pills, my suffering is over, and I feel like a new man." Backache, rheumatic pains, kidney and bladder trouble quickly relieved with Foley Kidney Pills. Refuse substitutes. Insist upon Foley's Honey and Tar. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

the code under which the commissions operate.

The particular point in controversy, on which a settlement has been reached, has to do with the right of a veteran to refund his cash bonus with interest and take advantage of the loan which now may be applied to any purpose.

The agreement is that the burden of proof that the veteran accepted cash because he thought the loan could be used only on the purchase of a home, will rest on the applicant.

No Change in Workmen's Compensation Act Wanted

Discussion by members of the house committee on labor and industry preliminary to voting an unfavorable report on Representative Hunter's bill to remove state aid, from the Industrial accident fund, indicated that there will be practically united opposition to any serious changes in the workmen's compensation act at the present session.

Representatives of organized labor and the employers of the state testified before the committee that their respective interests were well satisfied with the act as it now stands.

It was shown that the creation of a reserve fund in the workmen's compensation department acts a safeguard against emergencies and served to stabilize the operation of the act.

KLEPPER WEDDING BILL DEFEATED

Senate Does Not Approve of Ten-Day Requirement For Marriage License

The Klepper bill providing that applicants for marriage licenses must file their applications with the county clerk at least 10 days before the issuance of the license was defeated after a long debate yesterday.

After Klepper had explained the bill at length, Senator Dennis assailed the measure, declaring it "would drive all the rest of the marriages across the line into Vancouver."

He also objected to the measure in that it would allow the county judge to obviate the law in his discretion.

Senator Moser opposed the bill. "They have a little mint over there in Vancouver," said Moser, "and they would be glad to have us put this law on the statute books along with the law requiring physical examinations. The preachers, and the judges and the lawyers over at Vancouver are reaping a rich harvest over our marriage laws."

Senator Ellis defended the bill, Garland defended it, declaring it would prevent marriages contracted while the contracting parties are under the influence of liquor.

"As far as many of our couples going to Vancouver to be married is concerned," said Garland, "I thank God that most of the class of people going there do not have the stamp of Oregon on their marriage certificates."

Senator Joseph fought the bill vigorously, declaring it never should go upon the statute books of Oregon. Strayer joined in the fight against the measure. Zimmerman opposed it.

"You may not pass the bill," said Klepper in conclusion, "but I am proud that it has been my privilege to sponsor it."

The vote was:
For—Dunn, Edwards, Ellis, Garland, Hare, Kinney, Klepper, Maglady, Staples, Toose, Upton.
Against—Brown, Clark, Corbett, Dennis, Eddy, Farrell, Fisk, Johnson, Joseph, La Follett, Moser, Mickelson, Rfmer, Robertson, Smith, Strayer, Taylor, Zimmerman.
Absent, Hall.

UNIVERSITY AND COLLEGE ARE HIT

Bill by Senators Would Make Millage Cover Extension Service

Following out a threat made at the ways and means committee meeting Thursday night, Senators Smith, Taylor, La Follett Strayer and Zimmerman yesterday introduced a bill that would make the millage tax levy for Oregon Agricultural college and the University of Oregon over very low extension and experiment activities of those institutions as well as the institutions themselves. For OAC the bill would set aside $233,099.37 annually for this purpose as a continuing appropriation and for the state university the sum of $135,528.75, the amounts to be subtracted from the millage levy proceeds.

The annual millage levy for the support of the two institutions is 1.2 mills.
