ing use of the coupons given with the tickets. Miss Olinger is a graduate of the blind school here and has often appeared on programs and in concert work in Salem, her home town.

Miss Hima Weller presented 20 pupils in recital at her studio Tuesday. Junior piano pupils and the first class in Dunning schools were among those presented. The work was well done, some of the pupils having only taken three months' work.

Miss Weller will present other pupils in recital, very soon.

The pupils taking part were: Werner Brown, Marie Stutesman, John Barker, Karlina Rice, Marjorie McKeown, Dorothy Quackenbush, Gladys Robertson, Ruth Hinkle, Florence Hinkle, Katherine Gossler, Mabel Cupper, Arthur Hollenbeck, Elaine Brown, Gertrude Stratton, Jean Wilson, Elizabeth Lewis, Gwendolyn Jarman, Dorothy Livesley, James Fairchild, Ivan Katuray and Helen Katuray.

Twenty-four members of the Salem High School chorus under the direction of their leader, Leona Belle Tarrar, broadcasted a program Tuesday evening from the Salem Electric company radio station. This group of singers has the honor of being the first high school chorus in Oregon to participate in singing for the radio.

Particular mention has been made in reports from outlying stations of the solo work by Ruth Tucker, soprano, and Louise Findley, pianist.

Following is the program:

WOMAN ASKS DIVORCE

DAKOTA, Or., Feb. 3.—(Special to The Statesman.)—Mrs. Lillian Laws of Richland has filed suit for divorce in the Polk county circuit court against her husband, Frank Laws. In the complaint the plaintiff charges cruel and inhuman treatment and that her husband frequently beat and choked her and a number of times actually threatened her life.

It is evident that Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the Exchequer, to judge by his views of the settlement of the debt question, ate something that did not agree with him when in this country.

YVCA NOTES

All women and girls are invited to the YVCA rooms Sunday afternoon from 4:30 to 5:30 for a Vesper social hour in front of the fire. This hour is filled with singing, special musical numbers, devotional exercises, and a friendly time with refreshments.

Miss Esther Dayman, national secretary of Girl Reserve, whose office is in San Francisco, will be a visitor at the Salem association Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock Miss Dayman will meet the grade school Girl Reserves at the Washington school. The girls from the other clubs are invited to join with the Washington girls. On Wednesday afternoon Miss Dayman will talk to the high school girls at the YVCA on "Personal Standards of Girls," and after the meeting the council girls with the advisors and special guests will hold a dinner for her at The Spa. The Girl Reserve committee will meet at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at the YVCA. Miss Dayman has been in Salem before and has met many of the girls and advisors, and it is hoped that those interested in the Girl Reserve work will have the opportunity to meet her while she is visiting here.

The eighth grade club of Girl Reserves of Washington school, Cheriwaniken corps, met for a pot-luck supper and initiation service at the YVCA Tuesday evening. Eighteen girls were present. Mrs. Kenneth Jones, the new adviser of the corps, and two of the girls were initiated. At the same time the ninth grade corps, Sihalo, met for a pot-luck supper and business meeting. Sixteen girls attended.

The Howehee corps of the Girl Reserve met for their regular meeting January 30 at the Grant school. The following were chosen to take part in the one-act play, "The Burglar," which is to be given soon: Peggy, Dorothy Smith; Varella, Thelma Hewitt; Mabel, Beverly Wygant; Freida, Jean Brickelle; Edith, Virginia Billings.

A candy sale will be held at the YVCA Saturday, February 10, the proceeds going towards buying an electric plate for the Girl Reserves of Salem to use when they have suppers at the YVCA. All corps will contribute to the fund.

New Books at the Library

"Mysterious Japan," by Julian Street.

"Short History of the World," a general view of history put into popular form, by H. G. Wells. The author suggests that this volume be read before his "Outline of History."

"Steel, the Diary of a Furnace Worker," a story of personal adventure among men and machines at Bouton, Penn., just before the great steel strike, by Charles Rymford Walker. It is an intensely interesting story as well as a study of conditions as one man saw them.

"The Hound of Heaven," the poem by Charles Thompson, with essay on the author and on his work, by Francis LeBuffe.

"Bill Johnston's Joy Book," a collection of funny stories, edited by William T. Johnston.

"The Honour of the Clintons," one of the older of Archibald Marshall novels of the Clinton family.

"Doctor Claudius," by F. Marion Crawford.

"Mystery of the Silver Dagger," by Randall Parrish.

"Sunshine Sketches of a Little Town," another collection of papers by Stephen Leacock.

"Wanderers in Wasteland," by Zane Grey.

"The Mercy of Allah," by Hilary Belloc.

"The Fair Harbor," the new novel of Joseph Lincoln.

SILVERTON HAS MANY NEW FIRMS

H. L. Stiff Furniture Co. Opens New Store; Many Change Hands

SILVERTON, Or., Feb. 3.—(Special to The Statesman.)—Several changes have recently been made in Silverton business houses and property which returning Silvertons who have been absent from town for a short time would be apt to notice. Among these perhaps the most conspicuous is the removal of the charred remains of the old Silverton hotel which was burned several months ago. This is now one of the most centrally located lots at Silverton and it is surmised it will not long remain vacant.

H. L. Stiff & Co. have moved their furniture into the store building which they recently purchased on Main and First streets. The building has been completely remodelled. It now has plate glass fronts facing both Main and First streets. The entrance has been moved to the corner.

L. E. Inman has moved his plumbing business from the Earlman Bros. building on West Main to the Robens building. Earlman Bros. will use the space vacated for the building of more Sibboc furnaces.

The Silverton telephone company is now settled in its new quarters on West Main street and the telephone system around Silverton has again resumed its normal path with the exception that we now have a rural and a city operator and a bell that is supposed to ring automatically.

M. S. Hendrickson has leased the Eastman warehouse building on First street and will use it as an office and carpenter shop. Mr. Hendrickson is a building contractor.

G. I. Barr has begun the erection of his new building on Jefferson street and will use it as a farm implements. Mr. Barr sometime ago purchased the Richardson Implement store.

A. L. Larson who has for some time past been managing the Brastor Electric shop has opened a jewelry repair shop in the Gem theatre building in the store room recently vacated by L. F. Evenson.

Some fellow yold make a lot of money by contriving a machine that would relieve the situation when a fellow e asterathers 'in bed.
