WILLAMETTE TO PLAY WSC TONIGHT

Bohler Expected to Start Stolzheise and Patton Against Cougars.

For the game against WSC tonight, Coach Roy Bohler is expected to start Stolzheise and Patton, guards; Logan center; and Emmel for one curtain guard and either Vinson, Roberts or Wilkinson as the other shooting player.

The result of the game against OAC last night gives Willamette a far better chance than had been assured earlier in the week. The Bearcats fought a game but losing fight against the Aggies, being beaten by a decisive though not ruinous score. With the Oregon team beating the Washington invaders by almost as decisive a score, the Willamette chances are not at all bad. While the visitors have cleaned up some fast teams in their travels this year, they seem to be playing a ragged, inconsistent game, and Willamette has a chance to make a better showing tonight than against any other visiting team so far this year.

Starting the last of this week, the Bearcats are to go on a long tour to include Whitman, Idaho, Pullman, Gonzaga. Two games are to be played at Whitman. The locals lost to Whitman in their first clash, and Whitman has won some good games since, while Willamette has lost everything so far this season. But Whitman has lost consistently to most of the teams that also beat Willamette, so their score on the same class of antagonists is not much better. The Willamette quintet, on comparative scores, ought to win one of the Whitman games.

OAC Beats Washington State, Score 24 to 14

Hjelte 10; C. Sorenson 2; G. McMillan 2; G. Schroeder 2; G. Harrington 2; S. Loomis 2. Spares: WSC—Kelso 2; Loomis. Referee—Lon Fabre.

The OAC Rocks defeated the Medford high school, 40 to 30 in a fast preliminary. The visitors played a hard consistent game, but the locals were their superiors in almost every point of play.

WOODWARD SPEAKS

the matter in a clear, logical manner. He showed that Salem is better able to give her children the schools they need than any other city of the state; the careful financial management in the past years has kept the per capita cost down much below the average of the state high schools, and the district indebtedness is the lowest of any first class district in the state. He told of the plans to keep the bonds cleaned up, and not let them run as some of the old bonds have done.

Dr. L. O. Clement, a new member, attending for his first time, drew the attendance prize, a box of Oregon walnuts, given by Earl Peary.

A feature of the day was three songs by Claude Stevenson, the Salem baritone Caruso. "The Clang of the Forge," "The Stuttering Song," and "Dago." The trio almost produced a riot. Miss Ruth Bedford presided as accompanist.

Poultry Yard Play Is Given at Heights Club

"Mrs. Briggs of the Poultry Yard," a rural epic feature a poor widow, her importunate creditors, her hungry children, the incubator—they called it an "incubus"—on which with fear and trembling the widow and her family pinned their financial hopes, was given last night by the Salem Heights Community club at their hall at the south end of Commercial street. It was the first of two presentations of a well staged, homey rural play, put on for the purpose of raising funds for the club needs. A number of Salem people attended the play, and they report it a great success, both artistically and financially, for the house was filled.

Mrs. Farrington as the title widow, Mrs. Briggs and Mrs. Burnside as the second widow, "Mrs. O'Connor," were the busiest characters in the play, with nine others in the full cast. The play was laid much as "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," which was one of the most popular heart-interest stories of the last decade.

The second presentation of "Mrs. Briggs" is to be given tonight, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all Salem to attend.

Some good music was one of the features of last night's program, as it will be again tonight. A local orchestra, and solos by Mr. Burnside, junior, were parts of the offerings.

Fair Board Cut

The committee last night slashed $25,000 from the appropriation asked by the state fair board and $10,000 from the appropriation asked by the international livestock exposition of Portland.

Two years ago the sum of $171,000 was allowed for the state fair. For this biennium the needs of the fair were estimated at $236,000, but the budget commission recommended only $100,000. Senator Taylor moved that $80,000 be allowed, and Mann moved to amend the motion by making the amount $75,000. This was accepted by Taylor and that sum was approved.

Stock Exposition Hit
Two years ago $175,000 was appropriated for the international livestock exposition and for this biennium its estimate was placed at $75,000, the budget commission making no recommendation. Brownell last night moved to allow the full amount asked, but Hunter moved an amendment to make it $65,000. Taylor made an effort to have the appropriation cut out entirely and Strayer, Smith, Zimmerman, La Follett and Fisk voted with him. Hunter's motion to allow $65,000 carried. Strayer, Zimmerman, La Follett, Taylor and Fisk voting against it.

From the recommendation of $20,000 for soil investigation by Oregon Agricultural college $5000 was cut, the committee approving $15,000.

Other Requests Allowed
On all other recommendations the full amounts were allowed. These were:

Oregon Agricultural college, experiment division for soil investigation, $50,000, La Follett voting no.

Oregon Agricultural college, experiment division, for crop pest investigation, $30,000, Taylor attempting to have it cut to $25,000, Strayer, Zimmerman and La Follett voting with him on his amendment offered to the motion to allow the full amount. On the final vote Zimmerman, La Follett and Taylor voted no.

Oregon Agricultural college, for dairy investigation, $15,000, allowed unanimously.

State lime board, $2000, unanimously.

State livestock sanitary board, $56,000.
