

BIG CAMPAIGN CHURCH PLAN

Methodists and Salem Organizations to Hold Evangelistic Services.

All the Methodist churches and organizations of Salem, including Kimball School of Theology and Willamette University, have joined in an intensive evangelistic campaign, to run for the two weeks from February 11th to the 25th. Services are being held in the churches, each night, that are attracting notable attention.

This two weeks special campaign was preceded by a spiritual awakening campaign beginning with the first week in January, now nationally observed as "The Week of Prayer." A deeply spiritual atmosphere has pervaded the various Methodist churches as a result of this month's special preparation, and the final two weeks of public evangelistic work promises to show a record attendance in the various church services.

Dr. Hickman Speaks

At the First Methodist church, President E. C. Hickman of Kimball School of Theology is to speak each night of the series. Before coming to Kimball, two years ago, he was pastor in Portland, and he has an exceptional record as a pastor, and evangelist and as an educator. He spoke twice Sunday, morning and evening, and is to occupy the pulpit each evening of the week.

Dr. Hickman occupies a field apart from many of the traveling evangelists. With a splendid classical education, he has the distinction and the ease of expression of the Master; but he has the warmth and the humaneness of the man in the street, and his sermons are models of trained fire. The sermon Sunday morning was a personal appeal to everyone to spiritualize and make helpful to others the life that he lives.

Services Economical

A feature that will interest many, is the fact that the total estimated cost of the services at First church, where Dr. Hickman is to preside, will be only $500; it has been estimated that to bring in an outside evangelist of Dr. Hickman's ability and power, with his personal workers and music, would have cost anywhere from $2500 to $3000. The services are to have Cyril Mee, an Australian song leader with the Ellison-White Chautauqua, as special singer and musical director. He has a baritone voice of fine quality, and the music promises to be a splendid feature of the series. Sunday night's service opened with what is said to have been the most magnificent rendition of "America" ever sung in Salem; the Australian soldier leading; Prof. T. S. Roberts on the splendid, big, newly rebuilt organ, and Prof. Riddle at the grand piano. It takes a man's strength to play the piano for mass singing, and the piano had such a volume of tone.

"Borrowed Religion" First

Prayer services are being held around the homes, in business offices, wherever church people may meet, during the day, especially at the hour of 10 o'clock in the morning.

The topic for tonight at First church is "Borrowed Religion"; Wednesday night will be "Family Night."

Because of the great number of people who were turned away from the opening concert on the new organ, last week, because of lack of house capacity, Prof. Roberts is to give one of the organ numbers of the first program, each evening beginning promptly at 7:30. Some of these organ pieces are masterpieces well worth the hearing.

SALEM QUOTA IS ONLY HALF RAISED

Albany, Which Benefits Only Indirectly, Oversubscribes Amount.

Salem has contributed cash and pledges totalling $3,750 for the Children's Farm Home at Corvallis, according to the figures given out yesterday by Field Secretary J. B. Littler. The original call was for $7,500 from all Marion county, and this makes just half the whole county apportionment already provided for in Salem.

A total of 540 subscriptions have been made, starting with three at $100 each, one at $75, nine at $50, 17 at $25, 73 at $10, 140 at $5.00, and others running down as low as 10 cents for children who have to earn money somehow, but haven't it in sight just at this time.

From one of the rural routes, a total of $100 has been reported. The bad weather has brought the canvass to a standstill, but as soon as it clears up, the committee hopes to go ahead with the rest of the rural routes, and the clean-up in the city.

Any subscriptions that may be sent from outside of town will be credited any way that is desired; to the rest of Marion county outside of Salem, or however the subscribers ask. The important thing is to get the money for the home, and get it into service as rapidly as possible to care for the hundreds of out-of-luck little folks that need its ministrations.

Albany, that was asked to raise $2600, thought so well of the splendid charity, that the city raised $6,100 for this enterprise that is tributary to a rival town and brings nothing directly to Albany.

Should enough come in from Salem, to more than cover the apportionment for Salem, the excess will go to pay up any deficiency in the Marion county quota.

The Home office in Salem is with Judge John H. Scott, second floor of the Oregon building.

here," and those that are here are just human. They are the fellows whose foot slipped and they got caught. I want to read you a poem which holds my sentiments. I wish that if you do not have it you would get and memorize this poem, "Let me live by the side of the road and be a friend to man."

One of the special hits of the show was a "six-weeks" old pig which seemed as much at home on the platform as a pet dog, and followed one of the end men around.

William Cullen was director of the chorus while Eduard Bertona directed the orchestra. S. M. Knight played the piano accompaniments.

Numbers Popular

"Three O'clock in the Morning," sung by the chorus, made the hit of the evening. Numbers played by the orchestra included such descriptive numbers as "Our Governor," "Legislative Waltzes," "The Spending Spree," "Republican Goose Step," "Hail to the Democrats," "Our Warden Blues," "Eighteenth Amendment Shimmie," and "Umatilla War-whoop."

Tickets are on sale at Perry's drug store until evening, when they may be purchased at the gates.

BOND REGULATION BILL IS PASSED

shall be decreased in proportion as the assessed valuation is increased during the next two years.

Loop Hole Seen

Because of the apparent lack of agreement on the bill, the house went into committee of the whole and amended several sections, chief of which was an amendment providing that the assessors should assess on a uniform valuation of 65 per cent.

The chief objection appeared to be that with an increased valuation of property throughout the state, it would be an easy matter for the various tax levying corporations to secure the passage of bills authorizing the issuance of additional bonds, thus raising the taxes and outstanding indebtedness of the state.

The vote on the bill follows: ayes: Bailey, Beals, Buchanan, Carsner, Cary, Ford, Graham, Hunter of Union and Wallowa, Huston, Kirkwood, Lacey, Lovejoy, Miller, Mott, McPhillips, Randall, Reynolds, Simmons, Smith, Wheeler, Woodward; nays: Adams, Bennett, Bolton, Burdick, Campbell, Carlin, Cowgill, Ezell, Goin, Gordon, Hammond, Hesse, Jackson, Kay, Keeney, Kuehn, Lee, Lewis, Meindl, Miles, McMahan of Linn, McMahan of Marion, Overturf, Schulmerich, Shelton, Watson, Wilson, Speaker Kubli; absent: Blowers, Brownell, Fletcher, Hunter of Union, Hurd, Hurlbut, Jones, Mapin, Pierce, Throne.

Senators Need Gloves

He consoled with Senator Hall, who he said he had noticed was looking a little peaked and yellow around the eyes since his bill failed. He asked that Speaker Kubli change his middle initial because the three Ks made him nervous.

Senator Sorghum, who claimed he came to the legislature every two years, said a resolution had been passed to have ex-Governor Olcott's picture painted. He said this would be convenient since "when they had him on canvas they would know where he was."

The honorable hayseed senator proposed that Senators Strayer and Staples be provided with boxing gloves, "that they might settle their disputes in the attic."

He opined that "the legislators were all liars and liked to toot their own horn, and darn near got his goat."

Warden Given Ovation

The show last night was for the convicts, with a few invited guests, while tonight and tomorrow the minstrel show will be open to the public. The legislators and their friends will be guests at a complimentary show Thursday night.

The money taken in at tonight's and Wednesday's show will go as it has in the past, toward the prisoners' amusement fund. Jack Liffel, parole officer, is business manager of the show.

During the intermission in the entertainment, Warden Johnson Smith was called to the platform and received a rousing ovation from the men.

Pig Entertains

Warden Smith commented on the fact that 30 years ago such an entertainment would be unheard of. He said he was often asked where they "kept the bad ones."

short arms around the grayed woman.

"Mamma," she said excitedly. And then an old fashioned kiss resounded.

A moment or two later the elderly woman was on her knees with her hands outstretched to a grandchild named after her—a grandchild she had never seen before. Little Annie drew back. Her mother bent over her. "It's grandma," she said with a German accent. Annie still hesitated.

"Ess ist deine grossmutter," the mother said.

Many Just "Wait"

The child held her face up for a kiss. A few minutes later she uttered her first phrase in the English tongue—a phrase in which she had been carefully coached— "Hello, grandma." Soon the family was seated in the lounge chatting as freely as the limitations of a strange tongue would permit.

"We're off to Boston tomorrow night," Bill announced happily.

All but one of the brides seemed happy in the land of their husbands. The one had a violent attack of homesickness and threatened to take the next ship back, but recanted.

The others peered curiously from the window of the hotel or sat around in groups talking fluent German. Some of the brave ventured forth to have a look at the subway and some of the other things of which they've heard. But most of them just waited for their husbands, who by tomorrow will be discharged from the army.

Railroad Pass Bill to Be Reconsidered by Senate

On motion of Senator Joseph the senate yesterday voted to reconsider S. B. 184, defining what persons may be allowed free railroad passes, which was defeated in the senate Saturday. The bill was referred to the committee on railroads and public utilities.

EMANCIPATOR IS PRAISED

President Harding Would Have Humanity Follow Lincoln's Example.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The supreme gift of Abraham Lincoln was not in construction, but rather in preservation, President Harding declared in an address tonight at a Lincoln memorial dinner tendered by friends of Lincoln Memorial university of Cumberland Gap, Tenn.

"Humanity itself," the president declared, "needs to drink of the cup of unflinching confidence which enabled him to stand erect and unshaken amid discouragements and criticism which would have crushed any less than a master heart and soul."

The president spoke in part as follows:

"No human story surpasses the fascination and the inspiration of that of Abraham Lincoln. The republic pays tribute tonight and most of the world is doing him reverence, because in his unshakable faith the world finds its own hopes mightily strengthened. Our words are all feeble, because we are dealing with the master martyr, the supreme leader in a national crisis, the surpassing believer in a fulfilled destiny and a colossal figure among the heroes of all ages."

Hopes For Happy Day

"Turning over, in the last few days, the promises I had made to add my own to the testimonies that here are to be spoken, I have been impressively reminded of the greatly revived interest in everything concerning Lincoln, which has marked the past few years, notably the last two."

One cannot but observe how greatly the thoughts of people have turned to this man of vision, the great emancipator, who spoke with the voice of the common people for truth and for freedom. One cannot have failed to note that as the fortunes of mankind have confronted tribulation and distress, the minds of men have turned to this son of the yearning, eager earnest, simple people and sought in the story of his life for guidance in the hour of humanity's trial.

"To me this has been a portent of hope, a justification of faith, a reason for confidence that men will not only guide the bark of civilization through the storms which beset it, but will at last bring it into the port of a better and happier day."

Helped Ways and Means

"I want to correct you about the clerks on the engrossed bills committee," answered Zimmerman. "You must remember that five or six of them were being used by the ways and means committee."

"Not the first week." Hare replied. "During the first week you didn't turn over a hand except to amend one bill."

SALARY BILL IS GIVEN HATCHET

Appointment of Paid Highway Commission Is Not Liked by House.

After a prolonged debate the house yesterday afternoon voted down Governor Pierce's bill calling for the appointment of a paid highway commission of three members at a salary of $3600 per year. The bill was introduced by Representative Carlin, who warned the other republican members of the house that if they failed to give the governor the tools he asked for, they would be giving him the opportunity of "putting you in the hole."

Twenty-seven favorable votes were cast for the bill.

Carlin argued that paid commissioners could devote their entire time to the work, that they could harmonize all sections of the state better than if they were unpaid and that paid commissioners would get down under the bridges and look at the work.

Representative Pierce questioned the possibility of getting competent men for $3600. Representative Key paid a high tribute to the present and former members of the commission, but argued that a paid commission would not improve the service, while Representative Bennett argued that the passage of this bill would be a slap in the face of the present commissioners, since it would be equivalent to saying that the present system has failed.

Representative Cowgill expressed the belief that a paid full time commission could have saved the state $1,000,000 to date. An attempt of Representative Lovejoy to raise the salary to $5000 was voted down. Representative McMahan of Marion and Representative Woodward, of Multnomah, favored the passage of the bill, and Representative Mott, of Clatsop and Graham of Washington, opposed the bill.

BANKING CODE PASSES SENATE AFTER FIGHT

ments made requiring board approval for the superintendent's appointment of assistants and fixing of salaries. Then Zimmerman attacked the measure.

"It seems funny to me," said Zimmerman, "that this was in the hands of certain bankers in Portland for three months, and then didn't reach the legislature until three weeks ago. I wonder where the 'nigger' is. The people are in the clutches of the banking system, and the system is controlled by a few men."

Hare Scores Zimmerman

"I congratulate the silent senator from Yamhill on changing his speech," said Hare with sarcasm. "I thought I was going to have to listen to the same speech from him that I already have heard 15 or 20 times during this session, but I want to congratulate him for changing a few sentences."

Hare then twitted Zimmerman about a surplusage of clerks on his engrossed bills committee.

"You have nine of them," said Hare, "and during the first week of this session they didn't do a thing, but put an amendment in one bill. I can hardly understand this, since you are so solicitous for the taxpayers. You should not assume, Senator Zimmerman, that every man in a different line of business from you is a crook. There are a few men in the state who are in businesses that differ from yours who are honest."

Seal Hunter Has Claims

Much of the remaining time of the committee was taken up with hearing L. J. Liljequist in behalf of William Hunter who has a claim before the legislature in house bill 351 for $2,726 in bounty for killing seals and sea lions off the coast of Curry county. Mr. Hunter also appeared.

R. B. Goodin, secretary of the state board of control, presented the requests of the board for $16,247.30 for fire protection of

PIERCE AGAIN MAKES APPEAL

Governor Before Ways and Means for Small Fair and Strayer Bill.

Governor Pierce last night made another personal appearance before the joint ways and means committee, this time in behalf of several county and district fairs that are asking appropriations and in behalf of Senator Strayer's bill, introduced yesterday which would create a certification commission to pass on the bond issues of irrigation and drainage districts.

The Strayer bill provides for a non-salaried commission of four members to be appointed by the governor, but the governor suggested to the committee that about $2000 ought to be appropriated to pay the expenses of the commission at times when he should call it into conference. Under the present law whereby the state engineer, the attorney general and the state superintendent of banks compose this commission the governor objected that "I am just a mere bell boy and have to sign the legal papers when they are brought to me after being passed on by the commission."

Upton Appears

The governor spoke in behalf of the Deschutes county fair at Prineville which asks $2000 annually, and the Oregon interstate fair at Prineville and the Union county fair at La Grande, each of which ask $3000 annually. He declared that these fairs are necessary to the livestock industry.

President Upton of the senate appeared also for the Prineville fair and Senator Dennis for the Union county fair. Upton said he could see no justification in the state making appropriations for the state fair at Salem and the Pacific International Livestock show at Portland unless appropriations are made for the smaller fairs.

Seal Hunter Has Claims

Much of the remaining time of the committee was taken up with hearing L. J. Liljequist in behalf of William Hunter who has a claim before the legislature in house bill 351 for $2,726 in bounty for killing seals and sea lions off the coast of Curry county. Mr. Hunter also appeared.

R. B. Goodin, secretary of the state board of control, presented the requests of the board for $16,247.30 for fire protection of the state institutions. Mr. Goodin also appeared for the same which asks $24,550 for administrative expenses.

C. S. Chapman, representing the timber interests, spoke in behalf of Representative Cramer's bill No. 264 which asks an appropriation of $10,000 to the white pine blister rust.

Aims at Bounty System

Harry Falconer spoke on Representative Carner's bill asking an appropriation of $100,000 to cooperate with the government in the payment of hunters' predatory animals. This would supplant the present bounty system.

Hal D. Patton of Salem, former member of the senate and now a member of the Salem council, made an argument against the state for the payment of Church street in front of the state blind school.
