

economically and excellently managed."

"Why did the Oregonian support the Hall bill?" asked Joseph. "Why so a vast patronage could be built up to which the Oregonian hoped to succeed in four years. Such damnable, dastardly little tricks as those to which the Oregonian stoops can only be leveled by a snake's belly."

Hall Reads Letter
"If anyone can justify," said Senator Hall, "on the 39th day of the session spending a full half day in discussing a matter that is already settled, I don't know who it is. These senators tabled my bill long ago and have kept it there ever since. Since my bill was tabled I have busied myself with other legislation but find that to get it through requires more ingenuity than I have. Some way a barrier has been built up at this session against any legislation I want."

Hall read a letter from Governor Pierce received February 2 in which he quoted the governor as having said he favored the Hall bill.
Compliment to Bill Seen
"Two days ago," said Hall, "I asked him if he was still of the same mind and he said he was."
"One of the greatest compliments that has been paid my bill, and it comes from one of the 17 senators, is that it is a political vehicle for myself. Therefore it must be a good bill. I am only sorry the objection to the bill did not center on the bill itself instead of on the man who introduced it."

PORTLAND DIGGING OUT

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 14.—Portland and other towns in Oregon spent most of the time today digging themselves out from under a fall of snow which ranged in depth from seven inches to seven feet, according to location and drift.

The weather bureau said the end of the cold wave, or at least a considerable moderation was in sight and predicted more snow, turning tonight into rain. Neither snow nor rain had appeared as night fell. Storm warnings also were ordered at the coast points by the weather bureau.

Traffic conditions on railroads and car lines has resumed normal for the most part tonight. The street car company had a struggle throughout the early part of the day to keep its lines open and service was disorganized, but tonight cars were running with fair regularity. Extra crews were at work under municipal auspices removing snow from the downtown streets and carting it to the river into which it was dumped.

Senator Corbett spoke briefly for bill 205.

Different From Inside
Senator Joseph quoted Governor Pierce with having said with reference to his tax reduction ambitions voiced prior to the election: "Boys, it looks different on the inside from the way it looked without."

Joseph ridiculed the Hall bill because of the two advisory members it would have the governor appoint to serve with the commission.

"He would appoint two non-salaried chair warmers," said Joseph, "to meddle in the affairs of the state. It isn't hard to imagine whom they would be. He says they must be learned in the science of organization. Would it not be two men who have taken all they could from the state and given back as little as possible?"

Joseph Hits Press
Joseph said he understood the governor at first believed he should be given full control of the state institutions.
"But he has changed his mind about that," said Joseph, "and now says that since he became governor he has investigated and found that they have been most

STAYTON NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hobson are enjoying a visit from their daughter, Mrs. E. C. Peery of Portland who has been spending the week end with them.

Fred Watters and Win Harlan came down from the logging camp near Detroit Monday, the snow being too deep for logging work. The men say the snow was between three and four feet in depth when they left and still snowing hard.

Dr. W. N. Pintler was among those who attended the automobile show in Portland last week.

Harold, the 16 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Portette died at the farm home one mile west of Stayton Saturday morning after a few days illness with pneumonia. The funeral was held from the Weddel undertaking parlors Sunday afternoon. Two other children in the home have been seriously ill, but are now improving.

Funeral services for Mrs. William Humphreys, whose sudden death cast a gloom on the whole community, was held from the Christian church Friday morning. Mrs. Humphreys was found dead in her bed Thursday morning of last week. She retired at night in her usual health, which for years had not been very good, and passed away some time during the night. Her death was not discovered until her husband went to awaken her at the breakfast hour.

John Flick who was accidentally killed by the falling of a heavy barn door upon him, early Friday night, and whose body was not discovered until Saturday morning, was a well known farmer who resided alone on his place six miles south of Stayton, near Mt. Pleasant. The body was brought here. Interment took place Tuesday morning in the Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Howls and moans and groans in the vicinity of the city hall kept the residents of that part of town awake several hours early Monday morning. Later it was discovered to be emanating from the city jail where Marshal Henry Smith had placed a tenant during the night, who evidently objected in loud terms to the accommodation the place afforded or for some other reason.

Snow has been falling here almost incessantly for three days, but owing to the strong south wind, and moderate temperature, it has melted almost as rapidly as it fell. At no time during the storm has the ground been covered to the depth of an inch. The streets and walks, however, are in a remarkably slushy condition.

Roll Harold and Adam Shepherd, two prominent Linn county men, passed through Stayton Tuesday on their way to Salem where they spent the day.

Lincoln's birthday was celebrated with a dancing party in Beauchamp's hall Monday evening. A good crowd was in attendance.

Chairman Charged With Blocking Ford Action

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Chairman Campbell of the rules committee was charged today in the house with blocking action on legislation proposing acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals. Representative Garrett of Tennessee, the Democratic leader, declared that the rules committee at its last meeting would have adopted a resolution to give this legislation right of way had Mr. Campbell not declined to lay the rule before the committee for action.

Representative Fields, Kentucky, Democrat, also charged that the steel interests were opposed to the proposition as were the American automobile manufacturers "because of the well known fact that Henry Ford controls the automobile market."

Even at Last

A well dressed man stopped beside a house painter and said: "You are not doing that job as I would do it. You should take longer strokes."

"Say, look here," said the man with the brush, "are you a house painter?"

"No."

"Then what do you mean by telling me how to do my work?"

"Oh, I'm the manager of a mail team and I notice you in the bleachers occasionally handing me unsolicited advice."
