DEED—In this city at a local hospital, Feb. 27, 1923, Wilber Beaver passed away at the age of 68 years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Susie M. Beaver, one daughter, Mrs. L. L. Robinson, Bend, Or., two brothers, A. M. Beaver and J. M. Beaver, both of Ashland, Ore., and two sisters, Mrs. W. R. Yockey of Ashland, and Mrs. F. M. Byrne of Faulkton, S. D. Funeral services in charge of Webb & Clough will be held at the First Christian church, March 1, 1923 at 2 p. m., with Rev. J. J. Evans officiating. Interment in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

WARNING—Robert J. Waring, 17-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Waring died Wednesday afternoon at the family home, two miles north of Salem on the River road. The funeral services are to be held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the Rigdon mortuary. Interment will be in the City View cemetery.

FUNERALS—Funeral services for the late Mrs. Martha Marchand, wife of Arnold Marchand, at 180 South Fifteenth street, will be held this morning at 10:30 o'clock from the Rigdon mortuary.

A private funeral will be held today for the late Mrs. Lucy Ette Plank, wife of G. W. Plank, of 2365 South Commercial street. The services will be from the Rigdon mortuary, at 2 o'clock.

Fishermen Investigate—A party of Salem fishermen drove over to the Little Nestucca, Sunday to investigate fishing conditions. They report the steelhead and salmon to be running freely up in the mountain section of the stream, and they caught a fair showing of the fine 'big fish. They drove the 30 miles in a little less than four hours. They reported that it could readily be covered in three hours, the roads being that good. The party consisted of George and Eugene Grabenhorst, Ghalmers, Brown, and L. L. Oberer of Portland.

Reagan is Speaker—Frank Reagan, national tax expert, Chautauque lecturer and chalk-talker, is to be the principal speaker at the Reators luncheon at the Marion today noon. He is with the Flying Squadron that is to appear for the last three nights of this week at the First Presbyterian church, as part of a national campaign to urge the enforcement of law, particularly the prohibitory laws. The Reators invite anyone interested to join them today.

Lecture on Etiquette—Mrs. Prof. Alice H. Dodd of Willamette university appeared last night before the Lincolnian literary society in a lecture on "Etiquette." It's such an all-inclusive subject, all the way from the cradle to the grave and every minute of the time, that it wasn't quite covered at the one sitting, though what was given is reported to have been of the highest class.

Juvenile Case Friday—The case of Norman Hastings and Everett Vanderhoof, charged with stealing an automobile, will be considered by Judge W. M. Bushey in the juvenile court next Friday at 10 o'clock. Both boys were captured at Grants Pass and returned by Constable Walter De Long.

Bishop's Boys' Suits $12.50—Stylish, carefully tailored, long-wearing garments, made to our exacting specifications from 100 per cent Pure Virgin Wool Bishop Fabrics. If bought from regular clothing manufacturers, through the trade channels, they would retail for $16.50. Our bed-rock price, due to our large, cash operating methods is $12.50.—Adv.

Governor to Speak—Governor Walter M. Peirce will speak at the regular meeting of the Artisans tonight when several new members are to be initiated. The governor is a member of the order. The newly organized women's quartet will furnish music and refreshments will be served.

$900 Player Pianos—Like new, with rolls and bench, $347; $19 down, $2.50 a week. $450 piano, sold new six weeks ago, left with us for quick sale at $298; $5 down and $1.50 per week. Tallman Piano Store, 395 South 12th St.—Adv.

Army Not Opposed—A report that the Business Men's league had refused to endorse the proposed Salvation army drive for funds, seems to have been unfounded. The league met Monday to consider this and some other matters, but no adverse action was taken. The meeting adjourned without finalizing the things under consideration. The league met again Wednesday to consider various matters and took no adverse action. The work of the army has been so well received in Salem that no such vote could reasonably be taken. The army has some high class state officers in Salem this week to consider financial plans for the coming year, but nothing has as yet been announced as to their plans for the year to come.

Legal Blanks—Get them at The Statesman office. Catalog on application.—Adv.

Soon Ready For Use—The new Busick store at North Commercial and Court streets, is to be ready for occupancy about Saturday, March 10, and the moving from the two present stores will begin at that time. They will have more room in the new place, than in both the older stores, and so much more efficiently arranged that it will serve practically as much trade as both the old ones. The fixtures are being built in with a view to eliminating all unnecessary handling, and they count on saving hundreds of years of customers' time in the saving of time in service, every year. The back end of the building will be used for a general warehouse and for their wholesale department.

West Salem Revival—Great interest in the West Salem revival services continues and last night many attended from the surrounding territory and from Salem. Testimonies were given last night by those who have recently made decisions and by some others. The services tonight will be as follows: Open air service 6:45, song service 7:15, and regular service at 7:30.

Bishop's Boys' Suits $12.50—Stylish, carefully tailored, long-wearing garments, made to our exacting specifications from 100 per cent Pure Virgin Wool Bishop Fabrics. If bought from regular clothing manufacturers, through the trade channels, they would retail for $16.50. Our bed-rock price, due to our large, cash operating methods is $12.50.—Adv.

Hospital Patients Will Go to Pendleton Today—Two carloads of patients of the state hospital for the insane, numbering 46 men and 45 women, a total of 91 persons, will leave here at 5 o'clock this morning for the eastern Oregon state insane hospital at Pendleton. The transfer is made to relieve congestion in the Salem institution. The population reached 1920 yesterday, the highest in the state's history. The railroad fare for the transfer will be about $940. The patients were accompanied by eight attendants.

Prevent Flu and Grippe—For a few cents you can ward off Flu and Grippe by promptly checking your coughs and colds with Foley's Honey and Tar. Also gives quick relief from coughs resulting from Flu, Grippe, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Bronchitis. Forty-eight years of satisfaction to users has made Foley's Honey and Tar the World's largest selling cough medicine. Contains no opiates—ingredients are printed on the wrapper. Refuse substitutes. Insist upon Foley's. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

ADVANCE SALE OF SEATS IS HEAVY
Indications Point to Large Patronage for Lions Minstrel Show.

The advance seat sale for the Lions' minstrel show next Monday and Tuesday nights began yesterday and indications are that a capacity house will be in attendance both nights, according to those managing the affair.

A dress rehearsal will be held Saturday night at the penitentiary. That "real critics" will be in attendance at the show is the statement of the manager, who remembers how the men there have put on their own show in times past.

Fifty men are included in the list of those taking part in the show. The end men include two veterans of every home talent minstrel show given in Salem since 1912, H. R. (Rufe) White, and Charley Knowland. Other men include Ed Chastain, Frank Zinn, Dr. W. B. Mott and Don Young. Merrill (Hike) Ohling will be interlocutor.

Some real surprises are promised by those in charge who say they have tried to get something "different yet maintaining all the good things of the old minstrel show."

Seventeen men make up the circle and soloists include Floyd McIntyre, Lyman McDonald, Claude Stevenson, and A. B. Hansen. A five-piece orchestra will furnish music with Miss Betty Bedford at the piano.

LOWER HOUSE WAS DOZING MERRILY
Representatives Forgot to Handle Vetoed Measure Sent by Senate.

That the lower house of the legislature was dozing in its chairs during the latter days of the session, is indicated by developments since the session closed.

Senate bill No. 16, special session of 1921, was passed in the senate over the veto of Governor Olcott. It was sent to the house where it was not even assigned to a committee, and no action was taken on it. It was found yesterday among the house documents. The bill provided for amendments to the state budget law and was introduced by former Senator Eberhard.

Senate bill 127, introduced in the recent session by Joseph, which was reported Tuesday as having been unsigned by the speaker of the house, was killed by indefinite postponement. Records in the house calendar on the bill were erroneous.

SHYLOCK PART WELL PRESENTED
Salem Audience Extends Ovation to Fritz Leiber at Grand Theatre.

Shakespeare probably never meant that all the other characters in "The Merchant of Venice" should be bumps and warts and mere fillers, like sagebrush desert and the Rocky mountains in the making up of a map. But without a doubt he meant that Shylock should be the one big character of the play. He wrote the part of Portia to please the strong-minded Queen Elizabeth of his own times; he wrote Gobbo the clown, and Bassanio the adventurer, and fair, false Jessica, and the punk duke, to fill in and give everybody something to remember and enjoy—like even good music stores sell jewsharps and hurdy-gurdies and penny whistles; but he wrote Shylock to live for as long as there is a world of letters.

The Shylock of Fritz Leiber last night has the spark that keeps Shakespeare alive. Surrounded by a pack of adventurers, light-o-loves, impossible blonde-haired Jewish daughters, silk-haired serenaders and others, old Shylock stands out like a mountain in a tumbleweed wilderness. He may be a vindictive, rabid old scoundrel, who hates like the very devil; he may be malignant, hump-backed, hysterical as in the court scene—but he is a man of character through it all.

The audience last night paid to Fritz Leiber the finest tribute an audience ever paid—when he tottered haltingly off the stage from the court scene, one could have heard a pin drop for fully a minute; then they cheered as they did Armistice Day! The Shylock of Leiber is a commanding figure, a figure with the courage and the fortitude that men revere. And he has love, too; warped, selfish love, perhaps, that could not command other than robbery in his own daughter—but the sincere agony of the father when his daughter robbed him and ran away, was a love that makes mushy moonlight philanthropists look like boarding house hash.

The house was more than sold out upstairs, and there were hardly a score of vacant seats in the whole downstairs. Shakespeare

As Fritz Leiber presents it, at least equals sax-horns and soup-and-fish fiddlers and dancers and darning chorus girls as a Salem attraction. They've been dissecting "The Merchant of Venice" in both the high school and the university, and they knew there wasn't an indecent thrill in the whole show but they came, and they applauded magnificently at precisely the right seconds. Which is a fine tribute to Salem culture.

"To provide additional license fees and poundage fees for the operation, maintenance and equipment of the hatcheries, patrol service and other activities of the fish commission of the state of Oregon; and the master fish warden's department; to provide for a sinking fund to be under the control and direction of the fish commission of the state of Oregon; to provide rules and regulations, reports and records to expedite and insure the collection of moneys and fees due the fish commission and the master fish warden; to give to the fish commission the right to make rules, regulations and orders; to define the mouth of the Columbia river; to prohibit the use of trammel nets and whip seines; to provide penalties in certain cases."

The emergency clause is attached to the bill.

There is a constitutional question whether the governor has only five days after the close of the session to pass on bills not passed on before the session ends, or whether he has five days after the bill is actually delivered into his hands with signatures of the speaker of the house and the president of the senate attached. Opinions on this point differ.
