CIGAR STORE IS DEMPSEY'S LATEST

Champion Boxes 8 Rounds and Collects Enough to Help Oldtimer.

LOS ANGELES, March 2.—Jack Dempsey boxed eight rounds and started a cigar store here today.

The eight rounds of fistcuffs were parceled out by the world's champion heavyweight among Joe Benjamin, Lee Moore, Morris Lux and several other hardy ringmen, and the cigar store represents gate receipts taken in for the benefit of Monte Attell, old-time boxer and brother of Caesar and Abe Attell, also boxers.

Monte's eyesight is falling. His idea of a way out is a little cigar store in San Francisco.

"So," said Jack, "we got up this little affair today to help him put it over."

Although the athletic program had been arranged on the spur of the moment, the news that Dempsey would box brought out a large crowd of fans, and the gate receipts, it was announced, were "quite satisfactory."

Battling Siki Arrives at Cherbourg for Bout

PARIS, March 2.—Battling Siki, the Senegalese heavyweight, left today for Cherbourg on his way to Dublin where he is to meet Mike McTigue on March 17.

As the boat touches at Southampton before proceeding to Queenstown, Siki's manager is desirous of keeping the name of the vessel secret to prevent the British authorities from removing Siki at the former port and compelling his return to France, due to objections to mixed bouts.

CHERBOURG, March 2.—"Battling" Siki, who is to fight Mike McTigue, middleweight Canadian champion, in Dublin on St. Patrick's day, arrived here from Paris this evening on his way to Ireland to get in condition for the bout.

Siki says he is determined to leave here Sunday on board the American steamer President Adams for Queenstown.

"Babe" Ruth Gives Up Golf for Influenza

FORT SPRINGS, Ark., March 2.—"Babe" Ruth, here for preliminary training in preparation for another campaign for home run honors, took a recess from his mountain climbing and golf today to battle with the "flu" which developed over night and sent his temperature at one time to 104.

Tonight his physician reported him free of fever, and with every indication that he would be in shape to leave Monday for New Orleans.

New York.—Mrs. Rene Davies Lederer, sister of Marion Davies, and herself a movie star, today won a $12,500 judgment against the Briarcliff Lodge association and Sime Silverman, owner of Variety, a theatrical magazine, for injuries received in a motor crash on the Albany post road near Croton, in 1919.

TRIANGLE DEBATE IS MONDAY NIGHT

Salem, Albany and West Linn Teams Will Battle Income Tax Problem.

Salem high school will take part in the triangular debate with Salem, Albany and West Linn on Monday night, on the question, "Resolved, That a graduated income tax should be made a feature of the state system of taxation."

The debate was to have been held Friday night, but because of a death in the family of one of the West Linn debaters, it was postponed until Monday night.

The Salem affirmative team, Benoit McCroskey and Bernice Mulvey, will go to West Linn; the West Linn affirmatives go to Albany, and the Albany affirmatives come to Salem to meet the local affirmatives, George Rhoten and Elizabeth Fairchild.

The debates are judged on the number of points won, each decision of the judges counting for one point. It would be possible for the affirmatives of one school to win their contest by a unanimous vote, and for their negatives to win three votes against another contestant, with one added point for the total side verdict, a possible score of eight points in a single evening. Salem won five points in the first debate against Woodburn and Oregon City, a win that series. There are nine districts in the state, and the winners in these are to meet at the state university at Eugene for the finals.

WOULD LYNCH NEGRO JAILED

road department here, was shot to death in a store last Saturday night by a negro. Johnson later was arrested and held for the killing. He was spirited away from the Gainesville jail Sunday after officers had expressed fear of mob violence.

Advices from Palatka were that warrants would be issued for the men held here on charges of attempts to commit a felony assault with intent to murder, and shooting into a dwelling.

BLIGH
Hippodrome vaudeville road show, four acts. Special feature, "The Servant in the House."

Four feature acts coming highly recommended compose the road show at the Bligh theatre today and tomorrow. They are "Jack Sutherland Four" a classy musical offering, using saxophones, French horns, cornets, and trombones. "The Tysons" in novelty dances, songs and talk. "Cairns and Devoll" the two extremes in comedy singing talking and dancing. "Jordan and Morris" a comedy acrobatic offering. "Thrills and Spills."

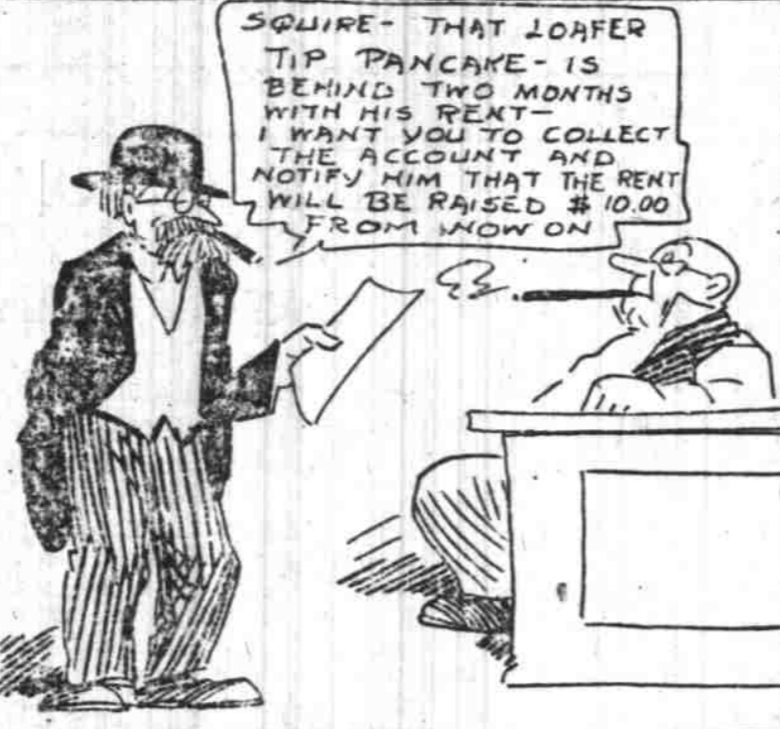

"The Servant in the House" first of the H. O. Davis special production gives fresh and convincing evidence that the Shakespearean truism "the play's the thing," applies as strongly to the screen as it does to the stage.

Mr. Davis has shown rare judgment in the selection of his cast and everyone is entitled to stellar honors if the results achieved in this soulful picturization of life is taken as a criterion.

The photoplay production of "The Servant in the House" will be presented at the Bligh theatre for two days engagement, commencing today.

riding cases, came before the court and said he had been threatened by Henry Johnson and Paul York, two of the men reported to have been victims of a night luring party of which Norris is alleged to have been a member.

Admits Carries Gun

Johnson denied the charge but admitted that he sometimes carried a gun, particularly at night. Judge Thomas told Johnson to get his gun and deliver it to the court and asked the sheriff for a list of the gun permits issued to citizens. York was also ordered to turn in his gun to the court as Norris had charged before the court that York took had made the threat that "somebody would go home with their hip pockets full of bullets." Norris in his statement to the court charged that Johnson in his alleged threat against him included Thomas E. Goodie, also of Jacksonville, his son-in-law, who was indicted with himself and that Johnson had said "if the court don't get you I will within two years."

Called Him Bad Name, but Says He Needed It

Admitting that she called her husband a word not spoken in good society in a fit of exasperation but charging that his contemptible conduct more than justified it, Velma Adelia McDowell yesterday filed a reply to the answer of her husband, Ralph Leonard McDowell, in her suit for divorce in the circuit court.

According to the reply, her husband is the possessor of a suspicious mind, capable only seeing bad in every one. Upon one occasion she states he sent her to Portland to buy clothes, asserting that Salem merchants were "too high", then accused her of associating with other men while there. Numerous other accusations were made, none of which are true, she states.

Couldn't Pass Bad Bill on Miss Helen Bobell

Doctors have, or used to have, what is known as the tactus eruditus. Miss Helen Bobell of the Ace has the same thing. Translated it means the "learned touch."

When the youth who passed some bogus $10 and $20 bills around town Thursday tried to pass a $20 greenback on Miss Bobell after buying two bits worth of something, she informed him that she hadn't any change—which was all bunk, for there was a lot of change in the store. Whereupon the young man produced the quarter.

"The bill didn't feel right," says Miss Bobell. "It was too thin. And he had some gummy stuff on it to make it look old. I just had a hunch it wasn't genuine."

law in behalf of war veterans by the senate ordered a sweeping investigation of the veterans' bureau to be conducted after adjournment of congress.

Nominations Made

A move for a sugar investigation also was made in the senate, which spent most of today on the government employees' salary reclassification bill which, unless leaders declared, could not be passed before adjournment.

Minor bills and completion of conference reports are on tomorrow's program for both branches of congress, the house working under a rule requiring a two-thirds vote on measures.

At an extended executive session of the senate late today, hundreds of nominations, including recent appointments to independent officers, but mostly postmasters and army and navy appointments, were confirmed.

HEARING DEMANDED BY EX-PATROLMAN

Rolland Parrent Gets Tired of Waiting for Clearing Statement.

Impatient at the delay of the police committee in preparing a report for Salem papers which would acquit him of any alleged impropriety with girl inmates in the city jail, Roland Parrent, ex-patrolman who was discharged by Chief Walter Birtchet on charge of "neglect of duty", following accusations of unbecoming conduct with girl inmates in the city jail yesterday reiterated his intention of demanding a hearing before the city council.

"Officials promised to clear my name through the columns of the daily papers," Parrent asserted. "No statement was ever prepared. I know that I am innocent of the charges made and shall demand a hearing before the council."

L. H. McMahan, Salem attorney who will represent Parrent, stated that it was their desire to set the facts of the case squarely before the council. He stated that it would probably be several weeks however before it would be possible to arrange for a hearing.

Mayor John Giesy when interviewed yesterday stated that neither party as yet had got in touch with him but that the council was willing to grant them a hearing should they so desire.

Parrent, who had been with the local department about one year, was accused by Chief Birtchet of supplying girls confined in the city jail with cigarettes. He also alleged that Parrent had attempted to kiss one of them. Both accusations were denied by the patrolman.
