

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

May Move to Portland—
J. H. Wilson has severed his connection with the Automotive Engineering school of Salem, and will probably remove to Portland. He started the school last year on North Liberty street, conducting it with enough success that it had to move to a down-town location this year and quadruple its working capacity. L. U. Eyerly, who started in as co-manager last fall, is now in full charge.

Writes on Berries—
Carl Aspinwall of Brooks is author of an extensive article on loganberries in the current issue of the Oregon Grower, official organ of the Oregon Growers Cooperative association. The periodical appeared yesterday and is devoted largely to the subject of berry growing.

Cherrians to Meet—
An important meeting of the Cherrians is to be held Tuesday evening, March 13 to consider two amendments to the constitution, along with other matters for the good of the order. One amendment is that providing for associate memberships, carrying the title "Dukes of the Manor," that may be extended in almost any numbers. The members do not vote, or wear the Cherrian uniform, but they have many Cherrian privileges. Another declares that while the Cherrians may as a body endorse any cause that calls for the solicitation of funds, the Cherrian club money cannot go for any outside organization pledge. The Cherrians are to put on a Cherringo circus, as was done last year, and this will be discussed at the Tuesday meeting.

Heard Far Away—
When the Salem Electric company installed its radio transmission set in the Masonic block, it was rated as good for 100 miles. It is still so rated, but returns have been coming in of its messages being picked up at far greater distances. One of its messages was plucked out of the air at Atlanta, Ga. It was heard by a sister of Floyd McIntyre of Salem, who wrote to him of its receipt. Others have been reported from Chicago, and one got as far east as Brooklyn, N. Y. Lodi, Calif., has reported hearing the Salem messages. That is more than 600 miles, and the Brooklyn and Atlanta stations are approximately 3500 miles away. The weather conditions have much to do with the sending of radio messages. Cloudy weather is much better for transmission.

Play Realistic—
"The Fast Mail", playing now at the Liberty, installed a huge electric gong, to ring as the million dollar train comes whizzing up the screen. The gong was inside the playhouse at the front window of the theater, and when it first rang there was a regular fire-alarm commotion in the street. People wondered why the fire engines didn't come a-tearing along. The effect of the alarm inside the theater, along with the well-filmed train scene, was a thriller.

Taxes Coming In—
A total of $15,475.31 in 1922 taxes was paid in to the sheriff's office yesterday, one of the largest amounts paid in during the past month. The first half of the 1922 taxes must be in to the sheriff's office by April 5. Taxpayers can save county officials and themselves much extra work by paying their taxes early, according to Sheriff Oscar Bower, eliminating much extra clerical work, which will, he states, indirectly save money for the taxpayers. Approximately $100,000 in taxes has been paid in thus far. The total amount of 1922 taxes to come in is estimated at $1,664,793.06.

Creamed Chicken Monday—
Creamed chicken on toast and Governor Pierce are to be part of the menu at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday noon. Ice cream and the governor's own choice of a talking subject will be other parts that promise to fill every chair with at least one dinner, and perhaps two in relays. They can't talk school bond election for fear of the corrupt practices act—the bond election is to be held that afternoon, and it might not be legal to hold public meetings on this politico-educational subject, but the governor

Plaintiff alleges that in December, 1921, he sold certain goods to the defendant to the value of $64.92, which were never paid for.

Doctor to Give Prize—
Dr. Fred Thompson is to give the attendance prize at the Kiwanis luncheon Tuesday. Prof. E. W. Hobson of Willamette is to sing. C. F. Warne, regional Boy Scout executive for Oregon, Idaho, Washington and Montana, who is working in the Salem district for a few days, is to be the speaker, and tell much about scouting and its influence on the citizenship of tomorrow.

Pettyjohn Sues—
That he had loaned $985 to Isaac S. Ramsey on July 17, 1922, of which $815 was still unpaid was the assertion made by F. W. Pettyjohn in his suit against Ramsey and C. H. Brown filed in the circuit court yesterday. According to Mr. Pettyjohn's complaint a note for $1,905 was assigned to Mr. Ramsey by Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Stringham, in which C. H. Brown claims to have some interest. According to the complaint, no means of foreclosure was provided for in the agreement.

Corvallis Votes Bonds—
A special bond election in Corvallis Saturday for the purpose of building much needed new public school buildings carried by a majority of 444 to 88, or a little more than five to one in favor of the building. Corvallis has not nearly the number of pupils as Salem, but its school tax has been considerably heavier. However, finding the pressing need for building enlargement, the people gave the bonds a big vote, Saturday, and they are to have two new grade school units, with some changes in school arrangement that will relieve the especially crowded high school.

New Sign Goes Up—
A new electric sign has been erected in front of the Argo hotel on Chemeketa street. The Argo has built up an excellent business and the traveling public seemed to want to see it shine at night.
