

TRIBUTE IS PAID
GEORGE HALVORSEN

School Children, Business Men, City Officials Honor Departed.

Nearly 4000 school children in the Salem schools yesterday paid a tribute of silence at the hour of 7:30 when the funeral services for George E. Halvorsen, former member of the Salem school board, were beginning at the funeral parlors of Webb & Clough.

Nearly every business house in Salem paid tribute by suspending business for five minutes at this time and every garage and automobile concern closed its doors for two hours during the funeral. The city hall, where as mayor of Salem, Mr. Halvorsen was in charge for two years, was closed for two hours and city officials attended the funeral. W. F. Thompson and O. F. Vietor, members of the Salem police department, attended the funeral in uniform as a guard of honor.

Six men of the Marion Automobile company, of which firm Mr. Halvorsen was a member, acted as pallbearers. They were George Griffith, Ralph Thompson, Claude Morse, Otto Paulus, Albert Smith and H. W. Pierson.

The Elks lodge was in charge of the funeral and Rev. Ward White long officiated at the services. A quartet composed of A. E. Hanson, Floyd McIntyre, Albert H. Gill and Lyman McDonald sang "Just As I Am" and "Aldo With Me." Early and late services attended the funeral and a large number of these attended the graveside services.

CHICAGO MAN TO TALK IN SALEM

William Herrin Will Speak Before Realtors Association at Early Date.

Most of the time of the Marion County Realtors luncheon Thursday was devoted to a general business session. A number of matters that have been deferred owing to urgent literary programs were taken up for brief discussion. One of these was a multiple listing system for property, where all the members put at least some of their good listings into a general pool and by so doing offer a far larger range of bargains for the buying public. The discussion, led by C. E. Harris, was not finished. It will be taken up again March 23.

The association will have William Herrin of Chicago, field organizer for the national realty boards, as a guest for the evening of April 23. He is a speaker of national prominence, and he is aiming to tell the business world some of the aims and accomplishments of organized realtors. The local association plans to hold a big invitation meeting to which other business men and civic clubs are invited, as was done by the Rotary club for the Sheldon lectures recently.

"It is a good thing to press the idea that we are as legitimate and as necessary a part of the city's business as any other class of business," said one speaker. "Merchants and professional men who wear out their cars hunting for property, and then condemn others for patronizing Montgomery Ward and the other catalogue houses away from home, need to have the truth brought right up to them." This will be one of the points of the Herrin lecture, though he is a versatile, widely-informed man who will present far more than this one line of argument.

A resolution of condolence to the family of the late George E. Halvorsen, was adopted and the committee, Mrs. Page, Mrs. Pettyjohn and J. A. Mills, will prepare and present the sympathy of the association to the bereaved family.

Car Accident May Prove
Fatal to Walla Walla Man

WALLA WALLA, Wash., March 15.—Andrew Zaro, seriously injured last night when an automobile in which he was a passenger turned turtle on the highway south of Walla Walla has but a slight chance for recovery, according to hospital physicians. An X-ray examination showed that his right lung is pierced. A bottle of what is thought to be "Dago red" was found in the overturned car by deputy sheriffs.

BANNER CROWD

Salem Best Represented City at John R. Mott Talks in Portland.

Salem sent 35 delegates to the YMCA convention at Portland this week, most of them going up Wednesday morning, and returning last night. They report a wonderful two days session. The big banquet at the municipal auditorium Wednesday night, where more than 1100 men were served, was the outstanding social event. Almost every little town in western Oregon and Washington was represented in some way by association delegates or Hi-Y members. Salem had the star delegation of the whole northwest, with 35 men from the city and the Willamette associations.

Three powerful addresses were made by John R. Mott, the international leader. Other prominent speakers were Arthur M. Colton, international boys' work secretary, and a magnetic speaker; E. T. Colton, senior secretary for religious work; Harry Hill, state secretary for California; Lester Adams, state secretary for Washington; and J. L. Seaman, student secretary for the Pacific coast states.

GILL TO LEAD
AGGIE TOSSERS

Salem Basketball Player Makes Phenomenal Reputation at Corvallis.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, March 15. (Special to the Statesman)—Amory "Slats" Gill, former high school athlete, was unanimously elected captain of the 1924 Aggie basketball quintet.

Gill is picked by sport critics as the cleverest basketball player on the coast. He was a member of the 1922 Pacific Coast mythical basketball team, high point man for the 1923 season, and captain of the all star high school team his last year in prep school ball. "Slats" was picked on the second Pacific coast mythical team this year much to fans' dissatisfaction. His admirers are firmly convinced that his stellar work for the Aggies last year caused opposing coaches to instruct their guards to ride Gill in order to keep the score down and thus ruined his chances of making his usual number of points.

Gill is the second Salem man to pilot the Corvallis bunch in the last two years. "Pug" Ross, another Salem ball tosser, headed the Aggies last season, but was unable to play the entire season because of an ineffectual protest from Idaho. Hoop fans, who can recall former high school tournaments, will remember the Salem squads of '18, '19 and '20 of which Gill was a member. Every man of the old bunch has established a collegiate record in basketball. "Pug" Ross was captain and two year letter man with the Aggies. "Hunk" Latham, stellar Oregon center, has been with the university quintet for two seasons and succeeded in beating the powerful Hjelts from his position as all star center in "Doc" Bohler's opinion.

Marc Latham played three years with Oregon and proved to be very popular with fans. Luke Gill, another prominent Salem athlete, played with the Aggies last year, but was unable to play this year because of injuries received in football. And last but not least is "Slats," now leader of the Aggie gang.

Gill will lose but one man, Hjelts, who has played his last game for the Aggies. "Sunshine" Richards, the sensational guard of last years conference will be back next year when Captain Gill issues his first call.

Salvation Army Official
Will Be in Salem Sunday

Lieutenant Colonel Emil Marcussen, men's social secretary of the Salvation Army for the western territory, will visit Salem Sunday, March 18, and will at that time conduct the meetings of the organization. He will also address the boys at the state training school at 11 o'clock.

Capt. A. M. Holbrook, who is in charge of all Salvation Army work for Salem and surrounding country, says: "Colonel Marcussen heads one of the most important of the organization's activities. It is from this branch that the slogan, 'A man may be down but never out' had its origin. Through this

Bill Brennan Said to Be Out of Danger Now

NEW YORK, March 15.—Bill Brennan, Chicago heavyweight boxer who is in a hospital with a slight concussion of the brain, resulting from his knockout at the hands of Louis Firpo Monday night in Madison Square Garden, tonight was declared "out of danger" by a specialist attending him. He will be able to leave the hospital in three or four days, it was said.

Salem OAC Club to Give Dance for High Students

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, March 15. (Special to the Statesman)—The Salem OAC club will give a dance as part of its entertainment scheduled for Greater OAC week, March 17-26, for the Salem high school students. The dance will be held Tuesday, March 20, at the army. High school students and OAC alumni will be special guests of the club, and an effort will be made to acquaint the high school students with the college.

The state's further motion was granted that all the indictments be dismissed against Howard A. Hill, orchardist, acquitted last week of a riot charge in the Hale case, and Bert L. Moses, county janitor, accused with Hill of being parties to the "hanging" of Arthur Burr, negro boot-black up in the Siskiyou mountains.

Following this Judge C. M. Thomas announced that the remaining indictments against Dr. J. P. Bray, chiropractor-minister; J. P. Hiltson, automobile dealer and Howard A. Hill, all acquitted last Saturday in connection with the Hale hanging and kidnaping, would be postponed for the present. The indictments charged extorting and assault.

DECKEBACH MAY GET OUT BEAVER

Salem Man Nominated Editor of College Year Book at Corvallis.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, March 15. (Special to the Statesman)—Frank Deckebach of Salem and Ralph Schiegel of Portland, former student at Willamette university were nominated for editor of the 1925 Beaver, the college year book.

Both men are well known by the Salem younger folks. Deckebach was graduated from Salem high in 1921 and entered OAC in the fall. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. Schiegel entered OAC after a term at Willamette, where he established a reputation. He is a member of Alpha Psi Delta fraternity and Chresto literary society at Willamette, and a member of Sigma Nu fraternity at OAC.

FIRE DEPARTMENT SPONSORS MOVIE

"The Third Alarm" to Be Seen at Grand Said to Be Real Thriller.

"The Third Alarm," a genuine thriller fire story, is to go on at the Grand tonight for a few days' run. It is a film dedicated to the firemen of America, and to their devotion to service when the call comes to serve. It pictures the old firemen and the old fire horse back in the days when the horse fire engine was the most thrilling thing in the world. The motor came to replace the horse, and the old driver-fireman couldn't learn to handle the roaring motor, so both he and his faithful horse were retired. But there came a day when there was nothing left between the trapped firemen and the blazing death, excepting the old fireman and his frantic old horse that dashed through the flames and brought them to safety. It may be the tragedy of old age that is outgrown and pushed aside—but it is the triumph of old age, also, if old age will but serve to the best. The film is sponsored by the Salem fire department, and it is to have a 200-foot movie reel of the Salem department, its personnel, its equipment, and the City Beautiful itself. This film was taken some weeks ago, especially for this picture.

TRANSPORTATION NEXT BIG KNOT

Must Squeeze Seven Billions Watered Stock Out, Brookhart Asserts.

DES MOINES, Ia., March 14. (By The Associated Press).—Now that the ship subsidy is dead, the next big problem which confronts congress is the revision of the transportation act so as to squeeze "the seven billion dollars of watered stock out of railroad valuations," Senator Smith W. Brookhart, junior senator from Iowa, declared here tonight in a speech before the Des Moines Press club.

"The press has carried a statement from Senator Cummins to the effect that it will take six months to revise the railroad laws," Senator Brookhart said. "If this is true, an extra session of congress should be called at once and we should begin 'on the job.'"

Senator Brookhart said he was opposed to the suggestion that the government take over 75,000 miles of weaker railroads. "The Wall street crowd would be only too glad to unload the weak roads on the government and continue the private operation of the strong roads at high rates and great profits," he declared. "If the government should take over any roads, it should take over the Pennsylvania system, the Abington and the Union Pacific first," he said.

Following his speech, Senator Brookhart was presented with an elaborate array of farm clothes in recognition of his oft-repeated declarations that he "wouldn't be caught dead in evening dress." One old time hickory shirt, a suit of overalls, a two-foot straw hat and a red bandana handkerchief, a hand-yard pitchfork and a slightly used curry comb were among the farm effects given to Iowa's junior senator by the Des Moines newspapermen.

OREGON WRITERS WILL ASSEMBLE

Meeting to Be Feature of Newspaper Conference at Eugene March 23.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, March 14. (Special to the Statesman).—A group of Oregon writers, the gathering to include novelists, poets, critics and others, will hold a meeting at the University of Oregon coincident with the fifth annual newspaper conference next week. The writers will hold their meeting in the woman's building on the afternoon of March 23, and will be the guests of Pot and Quill, university women's literary society, and Theta Sigma Phi, woman's journalism organization.

Maryland Allen, Anne Shannon Monroe, Mabel Holmes Parsons and Grace Torrey of Portland are among the number who have accepted invitations to be present. Mrs. Allen has contributed countless short stories to eastern

SULPHUR CLEARS A PIMPLY SKIN

Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out. Any breaking out of the skin, on face, neck, arms or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist. Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive. Peare Goes on Trial on Charge of Murder

MARSHFIELD, Or., March 14. L. W. Peare went on trial this afternoon on a charge of murdering his wife and James Culver, following final acceptance of the jury and opening argument by George Neamer. Peare wore a smile during the preliminaries and frequently consulted his attorney.

George Culver, a brother of the slain man, appeared in the court room this afternoon from Roseburg and will remain until the trial is finished.

GETTING TOO FAT? TRY THIS--REDUCE

People who don't grow too fat are the fortunate exception. But if you find the fat accumulating or already cumbersome, you will be wise to follow this suggestion, which is endorsed by thousands of people who know. Ask your druggist for Marmole Prescription Tablets and follow directions. One dollar is the price the druggist or send price direct to Marmole Co., 4612 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. By doing this you will be safe from harmful drugs and be able to reduce steadily and easily, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise.
