

MOVIE GOSSIP

GRAND
Coming Saturday and Sunday: Charlie Chaplin in "The Pilgrim." Wesley Barry in "Rags to Riches."

OREGON
Rex Ingram's "Trifling Women."

LIBERTY
"The World's a Stage," with Dorothy Phillips.

BLIGH
Macy Baird's Comedians present "Maggie and Jiggs at Newport." Earl Williams in "Man From Downing Street."

Phillips plays an entirely different role. She brings out all the humaneness—the vitality, the sincerity of the role in a manner which stamps her as a superb artist.

According to the impression of the spirit of the memorable age given by Mr. Fairbanks in "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood," a United Artists release coming to the Oregon theater soon, the men fought with reckless abandon that ladies fair might be duly honored and it seems exceedingly certain no woman would have had to cling to a strap while men held down comfortable seats—if there had been street cars in those days.

Earl Williams in "The Man From Downing Street," an extraordinary East Indian story by Clyde Westover, Lottie Horner and Florine Williams, will be shown at the Bligh theater today. As a secret service employe on a mission to India, Mr. Williams appears throughout the picture in the gorgeous garb of a rajah. The production, which was directed by Edward Jose, is an elaborate one both as to scenery and costumes, and Mr. Williams has a splendid supporting cast, which includes two well known leading women, Betty Ross Clarke and Kathryn Adams.

"Maggie and Jiggs at Newport" is the title of the show presented by the Macy and Baird's Comedians at the Bligh theater tonight and tomorrow night. This is a rip-roaring farce comedy and it is a riot of laughter from start to finish.

Charlie Chaplin and Wesley Barry make up the double comedy bill at the Oregon tomorrow. It has been a long time since Salem movie fans have had the opportunity of witnessing two so prominent comedy artists on the same bill. Chaplin appears in his latest comedy sensation, "The Pilgrim," and Wesley Barry in "Rags to Riches." The bill will play to houses at both the Grand and Oregon Saturday in the regular Saturday bargain matinee and at the night shows, and will finish at the Grand Sunday.

Midnight Transfer
The subject under discussion of hotel congressmen, sitting in a hotel lobby, was the different brands of hospitality. Nicholas Longworth of Ohio told of this experience while driving with a friend through one of the southern states:

"One night darkness overtook us while traveling along a lonesome road through a strip of seemingly interminable pine timber. After a couple of hours of slow plodding we saw a light ahead. When we reached the house I yelled like the Indians used to yell down in John Garner's state. A bewhiskered old fellow opened the front door and asked what we wanted. When I said we wanted to stay all night, he looked us over mighty carefully and said:

"Wal, I reckon I kin stand it if you kin."
"We thanked him politely and went in and found it was only a one-room cabin, just swarming with kiddies of all ages. There were six or eight in sight and others within hearing. We were disappointed by seeing only one bed and wondered if we would have to sit up in chairs all night. We were so dog-tired and sleepy that we could scarcely hold our eyes open.

"After giving us a good supper of hog and corncakes, the mother put the two youngest kids to bed. In less than three minutes they were sound asleep. She took them out and laid them over in the corner on the floor and put the next two in bed, and so on.

"When all the little ones were asleep on the floor the old folks strolled out to the woodshed and told us we could use the bed. We hopped in without delay.

"Imagine our surprise when we awoke at daylight the next morning and found ourselves lying over in the corner with the kids and the old man and woman snoring away in the bed."

DALLAS TO VOTE ON $25,000 BONDS

Construction of Septic Tank and Better Water System Is Found Necessary.

DALLAS, Or., March 21.—(Special to The Statesman).—On Tuesday, April 3, the city of Dallas will vote on a $25,000 bond issue for the building of an additional septic tank to take care of the sewage of the city and the construction of a system of water mains for fire protection in the industrial section of the city.

The measures will appear separately on the ballot. The septic tank measure calling for the sale of negotiable interest bearing coupon bonds to the aggregate amount of $10,000, payable 20 years from the first day of July, 1923. This measure is made necessary on account of the rapid growth of the city within the past 10 years or since the old tank was constructed.

The present tank is too small to take care of the present sewage and with another truck sewer which will have to be constructed on Maple street within the next year it is imperative that the bonds for the new tank be voted. As it is at present the packing houses and canneries in the industrial district are without proper facilities for disposing of their sewage and as a consequence during the seasons when these plants are operated numerous protests come before the city council for relief from the nuisances by the plants disposing of their sewage.

The other measure calls for the expenditure of $15,000 for the purpose of laying, renewing, enlarging and extending the water mains connecting with and forming a part of the Dallas water system for the purpose of affording better fire protection in the industrial district.

The present water mains are too small to afford fire protection even in a small way. With the proposed new mains it will be possible adequately to protect not only the industries but also the public school and the entire residential district in the south part of town.

A canvass of the entire town will be made sometime before the day of election and an effort will be made to have every legal voter get out and vote as the passing of both measures mean much to the future development of Dallas and vicinity.

Nurse at Dallas Dies From Pneumonia Attack

DALLAS, Or., March 21.—(Special to The Statesman).—Miss M. Erick, a professional nurse of this city, passed away yesterday after an illness of several days with influenza-pneumonia. Miss Erick contracted the disease while taking care of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Uglow, who have been seriously ill with the disease for the past two weeks. She came to Dallas from Texas several years ago and by her winning manners, had won the hearts of those with whom she came in contact and her death is mourned by the entire city. The remains will be sent to her former home in Texas for interment.

There is no doubt that Dorothy Phillips, the star of the principal picture, "The World's a Stage," written by Elinor Glyn, has had more screen successes than any other actress. Her talent—her gift of expression needed the finest kind of dramatic stories and characterizations. And who has achieved them. You who saw her in "Hurricane's Gal," "Hell Morgan's Girl," "Hearts of Humanity," and "Man, Woman, Marriage," will see an actress whose versatility knows no bounds. In her last picture, "The World's a Stage," she played the role of a tempestuous, dynamic daughter of a deep-sea skipper—a girl brought up on the briny deep.
