PUBLIC NOTICES
NOTICE OF IMPROVEMENT OF SOUTH WINTER STREET BETWEEN STATE STREET AND OAK STREET.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Salem deems it expedient and hereby declares its purpose and intention to improve South Winter street from the south line of State street to the north line of Oak street at the expense of the abutting and adjacent property, except the street and alley intersections, the expense of which will be assumed by the City of Salem, by bringing said portion of South Winter street to the established grade, constructing cement concrete curbs and paving said portion of South Winter street with a three-inch bituminous concrete wearing surface pavement in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor which were adopted by the Common Council March 19th, 1923, now on file in the office of the City Recorder and which are hereby referred to and made a part hereof.

The Common Council hereby declares its purpose and intention to make the above described improvement by and through the Street Improvement Department of the City of Salem.

By order of the Common Council the 19th day of March, 1933. M. POULSEN, City Recorder. Date of first publication hereof is March 22, 1933.

STOCKS INDICATE FUTURE INCREASE
Speculative Fear of Increase in Rediscount Rate is Influence

NEW YORK, March 28.—Elimination of speculative fear of another increase in the rediscount rate by the federal reserve board's statement yesterday brought about a further recovery of prices in today's stock market. Gains of 1 to 3 points were quite common during the morning but many of these were cancelled or substantially reduced later when professional interests disposed of stock purchased at lower levels to support the market.

Speculative interest in the rise was dimmed somewhat by the failure of the New York Central directors to increase the regular quarterly dividend as had been expected. New York Central closed one point lower at 96 with most of the other shares in the railroad group moving irregularly within narrow limits.

New high records were made by a number of stocks. Call money opened 5 1/4 per cent, eased to 5 1/2 at noon and to five in the last hour, closing at that figure. The time money market was quiet with loans in limited volume being made at 5 1/2 per cent for two and four months maturities. The commercial paper rates were unchanged with prime names commanding 5 per cent.

More activity was noted in the foreign exchange market with the principal quotations showing slight irregularity. Demand sterling eased slightly to 4.68 1/8 and French francs, after advancing 5 points to 6.62 cents, slipped back to 6.58 3/4.

The result was a glowing countenance, which, toned down only by a little cold cream and rice powder, looked twenty years younger and infinite degrees healthier than the face which she had worn out of the room. Her abundant silver hair, always wavy, was knotted carelessly low on her head, her most becoming coiffure, and she was dressed with her usual modish exquisite, except for the last fastenings, so hard for any woman to achieve alone.

"There, lady!" she said triumphantly. "Aren't I nifty? Now if you'll just help me with these plaguey fastenings."

"You're the eighth wonder of the world," I assured her, as I bent to the troublesome snaps, but my own heart was far from assurance. There were limits, I told myself, even to Lillian's wonderful will, which, so far, had enabled her to triumph over really serious ills, both mental and physical.

arms clasping her mother's waist. "You're not sick are you, Mungie?" "Sick!" Her mother clenched the words indignantly. "Whatever pit that in your head, sweetheart!" She flashed an indigning, almost suspicious, glance at me as she spoke, and I had hard work to keep what I'dy called a "poker face." But Marion is a loyal little soul, and she diverted her mother's attention from me promptly and cleverly.

"Why, you went out of the room so quick, and your face was all red, and you went to sleep so quick, and I was afraid we couldn't wake you, and I am so sorry I was naughty about my hair, and I never will be again."

"I'm Perfectly All Right."

"Mother was naughty, too. Lillian bent over her child with passionate tenderness. "And don't worry one bit more. I'm perfectly all
