BLIGH
Macy Baird's Comedians present "The Law of the North."
Alice Calhoun in "The Angel of Crooked Street."

OREGON
"Robin Hood" with Douglas Fairbanks.

LIBERTY
"One Week of Love" with Conway Tearle and Elaine Hammerstein.

It was to be expected that Elaine Hammerstein and Conway Tearle would make a splendid starring team; the result in "One Week of Love" at the Liberty theatre, far exceeds expectations. Miss Hammerstein, rarely has never done more accurate work than in the present instance; and Mr. Tearle is vibrant and accomplished as usual.

Motion picture stories as a rule are dreadful things; but "One Week of Love" there is something positively big and fine, a blending of thrills and common sense that leaves one breathless with surprise.

Jimmy Aubrey assumes a heroic role in "The Trouble Hunter," a rollicking comedy which will be shown at the Bligh theatre today, as rescuer and defender of a little country girl seeking her brother in a wicked underworld, and underworld resort. There is more than a touch of sentiment and a strongly dramatic scene at the close, and there is no indication of any more laughs to come. And then, most unexpectedly, Jimmy Aubrey springs the biggest laugh of them all.

In "The Angel of Crooked Street," Alice Calhoun goes behind the bars for the first time since she became an actress. Above her is shown in her cell in the reformatory, to which she has been unjustly sent, reading of the death of her mother. Miss Calhoun does some fine emotional acting in this scene. At the Bligh today.

The Macy Baird's Comedians opened their weekly engagement at the Bligh theatre last evening with an entire new show, a new type of show from what they have been putting on, entitled, "The Law of the North," a thrilling dramatic version of the very things are done in that far north land. This same show will be presented again tonight and tomorrow night.

MISS RUTH KUHN IN THIRD PLACE

Excellent Work Done by Salem Girl in Typing Contest at Corvallis

Ruth Kuhn, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Kuhn of 653 North Winter street, won third place in the state typing contest held in connection with the business show at Oregon Agricultural college last weekend. Miss Kuhn is a student at the Salem high school and was one of six from the school entered in the contest in which 30 schools were competing.

The contest was divided into junior and senior divisions, according to the number of terms of typing which they had taken. While definite reports of the number of words written was not available last night, Mrs. Elizabeth Hogg, Miss Kuhn's teacher, said that her pupil has made as high as 75 words a minute.

Salem high school took third place in the contest although it was only one half point behind The Dalles which had nine points. Ashland took first place with 35 points.

Members of the senior team entered from Salem were Ruth Kuhn, Jewel Steel and Margaret Campbell. The junior team was composed of Thomas Allen, Dolores Douglas and Edna Ellis. This team has taken typing since last August.

Miss Hogg and Miss Margaret Purvine accompanied the members of the two teams to Corvallis.

Miss Kuhn was the bronze medal for her work while a silver trophy cup and banner comes to the high school as a result of the work done by the two teams. The students entering the contest numbered 177. Miss Hogg said last night. She was more than pleased with the contest and business show and said that she thought it was a valuable experience for her students.

DEDICATION OF CHURCH TODAY

Leading Episcopal Clergymen Will Participate in Services Here

The formal opening of St. Paul's church will take place today beginning at a celebration of the Holy Eucharist at 9:30. Bishop Sumner and several of the diocesan clergy will be present during the day.

Luncheon will be served in the parish house at noon for the clergy.

The afternoon will be taken up with reminiscences by two of the older members of the parish and the present by a number of the vestry the future also by a member of the vestry. The visiting clergy will be taken for an auto ride about the city, and in the evening a service in the church at which Bishop Sumner will consecrate several articles of furniture, and will speak as will also the Rev. E. T. Simpson of Corvallis, an old schoolmate friend of the rector's.

At this evening service the full vested choir will sing and the public is invited to attend.

Layton, Poultry Expert, Is Coming Back Again

J. E. Layton, poultry lecturer and general bird authority, is to speak Thursday night at the Chamber of Commerce at 7:30. He was here a few months ago to deliver two lectures, and his message was so absorbing to poultrymen that Charles R. Archer, finally found him again down in Petaluma, Cal., and got him to come back for one more talk. He is recognized as one of the best authorities in the United States, and he is in demand. The lectures are given free, without a string of any kind.

Professor Layton urges all poultrymen with sick birds that they do not quite understand to bring them in for diagnosis. It costs them nothing to learn what the doctor orders in the way of treatment.

The Salem country is fast getting into the real production class of poultry breeders, and there are hundreds who would welcome such a visitor as Professor Layton. When he was here earlier in the year the crowds almost ran him ragged with their never-ending questions. He talked four hours on his first engagement and almost as long on the second—and they were still coming strong with the "whys" and the "whiches."

NEW HOSPITAL IN DIFFICULTY

the old hospital property. The $26,800 yet required to finish the present unit will make a unit that will care for from 45 to 50 patients, and it will have cost about $104,000; at present building costs, it would be worth near $125,000, even after the community has increased the cost so heavily by building so slowly.

First Unit More Costly.

The present unit, containing all the working appliances for a hospital three times the size of the first section, is necessarily far more expensive than the others will be, costing almost three times as much as the per-patient cost of the annexes that are to be added as the needs indicate. The building has been visited by eminent hospital men, who rate it as having no superior, and a negligible number of equals, in the country, in its sanitation, its facilities for caring for patients, its kitchen arrangements, its beautiful surroundings. If only some Croesus could get sick enough to need such accommodations, or there could come a merciful accident or sports to half kill or cripple a hundred or more people and make the new hospital an immediate necessity, the hospital idea might get over with a bang.

Secretary to be appointed will have charge of the administrative work of the board, covering five departments, including foreign, home and base candidate, medical and treasury.

An educational secretary will have charge of the entire educational work of the board. The home base department will have a man and woman secretary superintending each of eight districts.

The new board will meet here April 16.

British Steamer on Fire, Vessel Rushes to Assist

BOSTON, April 2.—The British steamer City of Victoria is on fire in mid-Atlantic, according to messages from the vessel intercepted here tonight. The position of the steamer was given as 18.50 west longitude and latitude 50.10.

The City of Victoria was said to be steaming full speed toward the Azores. She is a vessel of 3530 tons.

Thousands of radio fans were listening in on an opera broadcast by a station in Boston, and were disappointed when the concert was abruptly discontinued while distress messages from the burning vessel were copied. The opera was resumed, however, after an interruption of 15 minutes.

Later messages said that there was a bad fire in the after hold of the City of Victoria and she was making full speed for San Miguel, Azores.

Radio messages intercepted here from ships at sea said that a British steamer, the name of which was not caught, was rushing to the relief of the burning vessel. The City of Victoria was said to be bound from New York to Hamburg.

MANY OPINIONS AT WOMAN'S CLUB

Question of Buying Property for Community Building Starts Debate

Shall we or shall we not? That was the question, or seemed to be the question, Saturday before the Salem Woman's club.

The question before the house was, "shall the club purchase this said piece of property for the purpose of building thereon a community building?"

Now, some thought the particular piece of real estate was too small for the proposed building, some thought it was all nonsense anyway, and there were all of a hundred different opinions more or less depending upon the number of members present.

When the motion was about to be put before the house in final form for vote, some member more or less devoted to the study of law, order and incidentally, the constitution of the said Salem Woman's club, threw a bombshell into the whole affair by reminding them that the meeting was unconstitutional anyway since a special meeting may not be called without five days notice.

The meeting was finally adjourned and the matter of purchasing property will be taken up at the regular meeting April 14.

FOREIGN MISSION BOARD ORGANIZED

New Presbyterian Body Formed—Oregon in North Pacific District

NEW YORK, April 2.—The new board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian church, consisting of 40 members, including 15 women, was formally organized today, consolidating the work of the old foreign board, the women's foreign board and the committee on work in Europe.

Dr. George Alexander of New York was elected president and James M. Speers and Miss Margaret Hodge, also of New York, vice presidents.

The new board will meet the third Monday of each month and annually in June. An executive committee of 15 to be appointed, will have full power when the board is not in session.

Secretaries to be appointed will have charge of the administrative work of the board, covering five departments, including foreign, home and base candidate, medical and treasury.

An educational secretary will have charge of the entire educational work of the board. The home base department will have a man and woman secretary superintending each of eight districts.

The districts include: North Pacific: Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana; Headquarters, Portland, Or.

The new board will meet here April 16.

SILVERTON NEWS

SILVERTON, Or., April 2.—(Special to The Statesman.)—Dinner parties and family reunions were current at Silverton Easter day. This was made especially possible by the fact that the university students were home for their spring vacation. A great many of the students from Oregon Agricultural college also came home to spend the Easter weekend with their families. It was noticeable too that several persons were down from Portland where some are employed and others of them are attending business college, to spend Easter with Silverton friends and relatives.

Mrs. J. P. Larson, who is well past 76 years of age, spent Easter day in bed. Mrs. Larson has been suffering from ill health off and on for years.

The Silverton Parent-Teacher association is planning a meeting of some importance and interest for next Friday.

The Silverton Playmakers have postponed the day of their play, "The Country Cousin," from April 6 to April 13.

It is reported that tickets are rapidly being sold for the Williamette Glee club concert to be given at the Eugene Field auditorium Wednesday night. This is the third musical event of some note staged at the auditorium within the past three weeks. The Williamette Glee club concert is being put on under the auspices of the Epworth League of the Methodist church.

ARMY CAMPAIGN COMES TO CLOSE

Salvationists Decide to Defer Further Solicitation Until Fall

A statement from the Salvation Army Campaign headquarters shows that there has been received approximately the sum of $1750. This amount being subscribed in the city of Salem.

Upon the recommendation of several of the leading business men and taking into consideration the great number of campaigns that have been held recently, it has been decided to wind up the campaign until such time as the funds now received have become exhausted.

It has been suggested that in the fall of the year it might be possible to conduct another campaign for the balance of the money required and necessary to maintain the work for the balance of the 12 months period.

While the returns are a little disappointing yet it is a pleasure to see the great number of contributors emphasizing the fact once more that the Salvation Army still has a great number of friends.

With the exception of the various state institutions that are to be called upon this coming week, there will be no more solicitation of funds for the home service campaign until such time as the present funds become exhausted.

CITY COUNCIL IN MOOD FOR MURDER

ter between Aldermen Van Patten and E. Steinbock, junk dealer, over the removal of unsightly junk which graced the premises of the Steinbock abode of business. Mr. Steinbock contended that it was not feasible to remove

"The bids submitted by the Salem and West Coast Gravel companies were read and it was decided that in order to give the bids full consideration a special meeting would be necessary which was called for Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The West Coast bid provided for a straight rate of 79 cents a cubic yard for gravel, $1.50 a cubic yard for ready mixed gravel and $1.75 a cubic yard for sand. Charge for hauling was entered at the usual rate. The Salem Sand & Gravel company bid provided a "zone system" which in the aggregate provided for $1.55 for concrete, $1.15 for gravel and $1.55 for sand. The matter was referred to the street committee for consideration, a report to be made at the meeting Thursday.

A communication was read thanking the council for its consideration and sympathies extended in the death of the late George Halvorsen.

After lengthy argument the council went on record as being opposed to the purchase of any property for city purposes without an abstract being first prepared.

The claim of $6.90 submitted to the council by Mrs. William Rogers, which she claimed was taken from her husband under the Moffitt administration when he was searched at the city jail was indefinitely postponed.

On the strength of a complaint turned in by George H. Paul concerning the granting of credit by merchants to small boys, E. J. Wenderoth and W. W. Rosebraugh prepared a communication to the effect that "after careful consideration, although this committee has no jurisdiction in the matter, it believes that if the merchants were made to realize the harmful effects of a business policy of granting credit to young boys they would remove this criticism."

The Salem police were instructed by the council last night to see that the street was cleared at Liberty and Ferry of objectionable clutter, which Alderman George W. Thompson contended was ruining his business in that section.

A number of favorable reports on licenses for hotels and apartments were read and adopted by the council as were the recommendations of the committee on streets. The committee recommended that the petition for the improvement of Lafelle street between Commercial and First street be granted, which was favorably acted upon by the council.

The recommendation of the paving of Capitol from Madison to Fairground was laid on the table by the council until some action from the water company regarding mains be first obtained.

The paving of North Cottage from the north line of D street to the south line of Market was recommended by the committee and passed by the council.

The petition for the paving of North Liberty from A street between Commercial and Norway was reported unfavorably by the committee and rejected by the council. Action was deferred on was carried.

The paving of North Seventeenth from the north line of Center to the south line of D street.

The matter of paving Saginaw from the north line of Mission to the south line of Aun was reported unfavorably by the committee and laid on the table by the council, as was the paving of Highland street west on Fifth to the west line of Fairground road.

A motion made by Alderman Hal Patton that the street committee investigate into the cost of improving north Summer street four block north of the bridge was carried.
