

OREGON SINGERS DELIGHT CROWD

Program at High School Artistic Feat and Riot of Fun All Combined

It was a well satisfied crowd that left the auditorium of the Salem high school last night...

There are a number of excellent tenors, baritone and basses in the club. The quartet, composed of C. Phillips, Bryson, W. Phillips and Furry is worthy of special mention.

The first part of the program consisted of a number of operatic selections by the entire glee club. Featured was Arnourer's Song "Robin Hood" sung by Aubrey Furry, basso.

The second part of the program was devoted to light selections given by the entire club and individual members.

But let a paragraph be here given to Cyril Valentine "and his ps," who proved an instantaneous hit and a little show all their own.

"All the Style—All the While" participated in by the quartet, with the assistance of a piano, saxophone and banjo was another big hit.

There is this distinction between fear and cowardice: fear is born of the imagination; the coward lacks character.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder, Bothers or Back Hurts.

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy.

Mr. Herwig also made a strong plea to the judges to impose the maximum sentences upon violators of the prohibition laws especially under the new law affecting moonshiners.

The maximum sentence being $3000 and two years in jail. The speaker contended that a fine approximately the maximum would do more to stamp out the bootleggers and moonshiners and empty the jails than a fine of only several hundred dollars and a short jail sentence.

The mass meeting closed with an appeal for funds to carry on the work.

THE BLOW THAT KNOCKED BRENNAN OUT.

Call it league of nations, or association of nations or any such phrase, and call it if you like, as a brand new idea in international relations, designed to insure peace and prosperity.

The special Article X of debate between an Egyptian and a King of Ethiopia was Makeda, dusky daughter of the latter. He had made her the covenant of his league of nations and insisted that the corner stone of the new international structure be inscribed "Love my league, love my daughter."

But Pharaoh couldn't get over his liking for blondes, particularly the pretty serving maid to the Ethiopian princess. So the kings fell out and the league went smash, and one of the biggest wars resulted that ever a movie camera man recorded.

This legend of love, ambition, and fighting over a girl is the most recent film romance directed by Ernest Lubitsch, creator of "Passion" and "Deception." He has used 112,000 persons, by far the largest number of extras ever photographed, to tell this story of "The Loves of Pharaoh," a Paramount picture now showing at the Liberty theater.

Emil Jennings, who was the king in "Deception," Paul Wegener, who played "The Golem," Harry Liedtke, hero of "The Last Payment," and Dagny Servaes, a new thing beauty, play the leading roles.

Beauty Parlor Methods Pervade Chicago Stables

CHICAGO, April 10.—The seductive, soothing murmur of the vacuum cleaner which draws the dust and dandruff from the heads of fair women in beauty parlors is now heard in the stables where the best of Chicago's horses are kept.

The golden sheen on M-lady's hair as she walks down the boulevard Michigan is no longer pronounced than the glossy tint on the coats of Chicago's police horses.

Dr. Frank T. McMahon, a veterinarian of this city, has installed such a machine in the stables where the police horses are kept and also in four other large stables in the city.

Dr. McMahon says he got the idea from noticing the cleaning of a woman's hair in the beauty parlor. He hurried to a company and bought one of the kind used for cleaning halls and rooms in hotels.

On the end of the hose he attached a curry comb device and put this equipment into use in the Chicago police stables. Such satisfactory results were obtained that it was installed in other stables. He says that with this equipment one man can clean 75 horses a day more thoroughly

There is no legal force in this private referendum vote. The city council will have the sole authority. But at the Chamber of Commerce membership meeting tonight, the two matters will be discussed without gloves, and it promises to be nip and tuck for the unofficial decision.

There will also be a live discussion on the question of fruit harvesting labor for the coming season. The present fruit prospect indicates a great shortage of picking help. It's time for the organizations to begin to organize for more help. They will start it tonight.

GRAND Saturday and Sunday—Lon Chaney in "Shadows."

"Three Weeks," by Elinor Glyn, is the subject that really occupies the attention of Constance Talmadge, when she is thought to be worshipping at the shrine of the Joss in "East is West," the First National attraction coming to the Oregon Saturday.
