Market Takes Eearly Upturi With Bullish Reports But Varies Later CHICAGO, April 21. - With nearly 1,000,000 bushels estimated as having been bought for shipment to Europe and with bullish reports current as to the seeding outlook in the northwest, the wheat market today took something of an upturn in price.

net higher, May $1.24 % to $1.25 and July, $1.22 1/2 to $1.22 1/3.

The close was unsettled, 1/4 to Corn finished % to %c lower; oats down % @ % to % @ % cents and provisions off 2 to 5 cents. At first wheat prices showed a downward tendency owing to the reported rains which were falling over the domestic winter crop belt, including some heretofore dry sections of Kansas and Nebrasks. Lower quotations at Liverpool tended also temporarily to weaken values here, indications, however, that export demand had improved, and that Enropean purchases included considerable durum wheat, led to a change of front on the part of numerous traders. Bullish sentiment was further stimulated by in the Dakotas this season. According to one authority many Dakota farmers who intended to sow wheat are instead sowing flax and barley, eliminating every acre of wheat. This course he reported, was especially being followed in South Dalota and southern North Dakofa, and was due to the fact that the lateness of spring this year had much increased the danger of wheat being damaged by black predictions that seeding of spring wheat would be greatly curtailed declines in price were more than overcome, and the market closed at fractional gains. Speculative selling weakened the corn market, and indirectly had a bearish effect on oats.

Provisions went lower in line with hog values.

Under such circumstances early
