LESLIE LIVE WIRE CLASS IS ACTIVE

Young People's Class Led By A. C. Bohrnstedt, Does Much Good Work

That while agitation regarding religious instruction in day schools is going on throughout the country, the Sunday schools of Salem are active and doing good work; is the statement of an active Sunday school worker.

One of the specially active Sunday schools in Salem is that at the Leslie Methodist Episcopal church in South Salem.

This Sunday school is divided into four district departments, with specially trained teachers and with a superintendent for each department. The senior department is in charge of Mrs. Leavenworth; the junior department is in charge of Helen Ingrey and the beginners are in charge of Mrs. Jessie Bush, superintendent. E. A. Khoten is general superintendent of all departments.

The attendance for the winter has been close to the 300 mark, according to Mr. Khoten. Since twenty-four classes are in the school, one of the great problems in this school is lack of room. When the classes are all at work it is a busy place with improvised class rooms in various parts of the church and the old building adjoining, that was formerly used for church purposes but since the erection of a new church, is being used for Sunday school purposes. One of the active classes in the school is the Live Wire class.

This is a class for the mature young people, those above high school age that are unmarried. Its membership numbers 170 with an average attendance of 75. A. C. Bohrnstedt, the teacher, organized the class in 1916. Officers of the Live Wire are: George Moorhead, president; on Hardy, vice president; Hoyt, vice president; Eva L. ree, secretary-treasurer.

They have not only done excellent work in the class room, according to those in charge, but have done considerable Christian service work outside during the activity of this class. More than 15 per cent of the members have pledged themselves to life service. Members are doing work at the following places: Springfield, Illinois; Seattle, Wash.

A large portion of the class have signed up for part time life service. Not only has class done good work, but it has had most enjoyable in a social way. The accompanying picture shows a part of the class following the last of the morning breakfast at the home of the teacher, A. C. Bohrnstedt, 1775 Fairmount avenue. Rev. F. Pemberton is pastor.

INCREASING IN POPULARITY

That the week-end camping excursions is growing in popularity these balmy spring days is evidenced by short trips to the mountains, beaches and country side where tented sites spring up Saturday afternoons and as quickly disappear Sunday nights.

The lure of the open, with its dash of adventure and romance, is too strong for the average city dweller to resist, so with their cars laden down with camping equipment they start out for two full days of pleasure among the primitive places.

With the complete and up-to-date camping equipment supplied at the Western Auto Company's stores, there is none of the bother and trouble experienced in the old days when it took weeks to get together the equipment necessary to spend a few days in the open and then without the perfect comfort the modern equipment affords.

Every Closed Car Reason is a Reason for the Gardner

For attractive appearance—the exclusive Gardner straight lines; the body of sheet steel finished in special limousine blue; satin finished hardware and other equipment chosen with equal good taste.

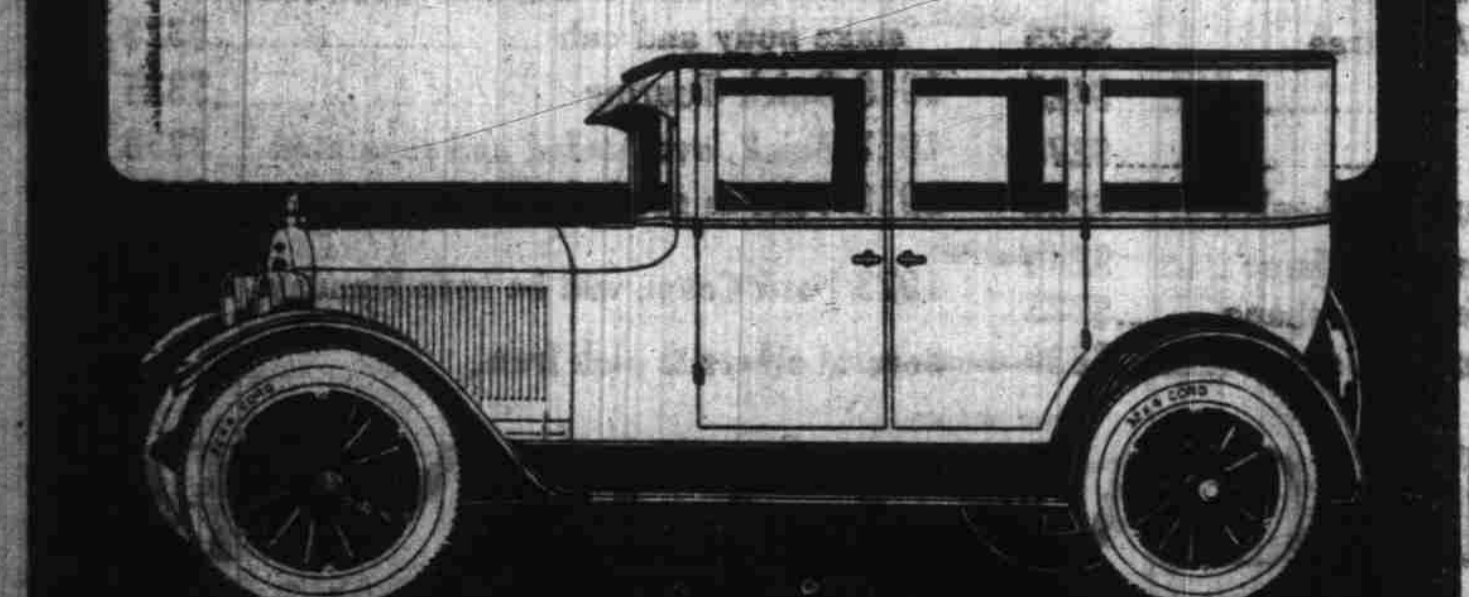

For performance—the easy operating clutch and improved braking system; the notably improved Gardner motor, with the five-bearing crankshaft that has made exceptional power possible without a vibration point—a feature of special importance in a closed car.

For comfort—the roomy five-passenger body; deep upholstery with 14-inch spiral springs, covered with all-wool cloth; sun visor, spiral window lifts, tilting steering wheel, dome light, cowl ventilator—all standard equipment.

For economy—the first price of the Gardner (among the lowest on the market for a standard closed car); plus the low operating cost found in Fours alone, and the economy of long life that comes from balanced value throughout.

Judge the Gardner by these or any other standards. But rather, let us demonstrate the car. Its story is best told on the road.
