Fined For Speeding—H. Broedlove was fined $20 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding, when arraigned in the justice court yesterday afternoon. Ten dollars of the fine was suspended by Judge Kuntz on the condition that Broedlove never be caught speeding again.

Trial Fixed—M. L. Albert, who was arrested for parking on the highway a short time ago and who pleaded not guilty, will be given a trial in the justice court next Monday at 2 p. m. He is out on bail, which was set at $20.

Boy Recovering—Roy Monroe, 9-year-old boy living on route 8, who was injured when he fell from a horse, is reported to be recovering. It was at first thought that he was injured internally since the horse stepped on him, but it is now thought that bruises and shock were the extent of his injuries.

Tournament May 26—The ROTC of Oregon Agricultural college will sponsor the annual military tournament at the college May 26, and many from Salem will attend the affair, which includes a sham battle and parade of all the units maintained at the college. The military department at the college ranks as a full school in the college with the commandant appointed by the government ranking as a dean in the college council.

Junior Week End Attracts—Oregon Agricultural college will be hosts to high school students from all over the state this week end, when the junior class will entertain at the annual junior week-end festivities. The University of Oregon will hold its annual week-end May 18 and 19. The OAC week end will be featured by the canoe carnival, junior vaudeville and other special features.

Societies Join—The Leslie and Jason Lee Home missionary societies will hold a joint meeting Friday at the Old Peoples' home. The home is under the direction of the Home Missionary societies of the Columbia River conference.

Burns Healing—Prompt action on the part of a co-worker in the chemical laboratory probably will prevent permanent scars on the face of Miss Ethelyn Yerx, who was burned by acid at the university Saturday. The bursting of a retort in which Miss Yerx was generating gas, threw the acid on her face. Miss Alice Wells applied salts of ammonium, which stopped that action of the acid before it had burned deeply. Both Miss Yerx and Miss Wells are from Portland.

Assault Charge Made—Adolph Hegethwilder, a huge gash in the side of his face ebbing silent witness, walked into the justice court yesterday afternoon and swore out an assault and battery charge against Roy King, of Sublimity. According to the tale told by Mr. Hegethwilder, an argument arose over the payment of a debt which was owing the plaintiff. By way of enforcing his contentions, Mr. King is said to have picked up a monkey wrench with which he hit Mr. Hegethwilder. A warrant for King's arrest was sworn out in the justice court yesterday.

Chorus to Practice—The May Festival chorus will practice again this evening, according to those in charge. Since such a short time remains before the presenting of the oratorio, those in charge decided to hold extra practice. Illness has prevented many from attending all the rehearsals and it is hoped to make up for all of this with the few extra meetings.

Will Yield Heavily—R. W. Hogg, route 2, Salem, has a cherry tree near his house that he expects to yield over 800 lbs. of Royal Anne cherries this season.

EYERLY TO RACE AT VANCOUVER

Local Man Finishing Two Speedy Cars for Competition on May 20

Lee Eyerly is finishing up his two racing cars to take to Vancouver, Wn., on May 20, for a series of auto races that look inviting to the speedsters of the Northwest. The Dodge-Essex-Franklin-Eyerly special has been given enough engine test to show that it is going to be as exceptional a racer. A number of new features have been worked into the machine to make it look like a winner. It will be finished and on the track within the next few days for the final try-out. The car is to weigh 1400 pounds. The other car is the little "No. 19," that was driven by "Dusty" Rhodes in the races last year. It is a Ford, cut down in every direction, so that it weighs only about 960 pounds, on an 82-inch wheelbase. The frame was changed this winter, to give room for the driver and mechanic to sit down inside the frame at the rear, one on each side of the transmission. They will be some inches lower than as the car was last year, and far more comfortable. The little machine is expected to be faster than ever before, because of a number of important improvements—and it made better than 84 miles an hour last year, in trial tests. The Ross Special, a rebuilt Templar machine now owned by D. H. Quackenbush of Salem, may also go up to the Vancouver meet. It is a fast, powerful machine, that on the Tacoma Speedway made better than 90 miles an hour. Just who is to drive the speedy Salem cars is not yet decided. Eyerly went to Medford last year with a rebuilt Ford racer of his own construction, and cleaned up big on two races in one day. This year, the Medford sports have clipped the wings of all outside competition, by limiting its races to home production only and refusing "those professionals from Salem" a chance to enter. As Eyerly has only built and operated these two cars of his own design, both of them experimental machines to try out new ideas, the inference of "professionalism" seems a pretty weak alibi for the Medford sports.

MAKING OF AUTO TOLD IN PICTURE
Studebaker Company Shows Film at Grand Depicting Building of Car

"The Story of an Automobile" moving picture, now being shown at the Grand theatre is alive with human interest. Machines representing the last word in manufacturing efficiency perform spectacular operations of almost every conceivable description. Red hot steel is forged into axle shafts by a few blows from gigantic steam hammers. Molten metal is cast into intricate designs. Bars of steel are cut by a huge knife as if they were paper, and specimen propeller shafts are twisted until they break to be sure that they are capable of withstanding a strain far beyond anything the most excessive road use would demand. This film was produced under the direction of the United States department of commerce in cooperation with The Studebaker Corporation and will be shown in all parts of the world. It was photographed in the new $20,000,000 Studebaker plant at South Bend, Indiana. The story is told in an inspiring and simple way and shows, in an intensely interesting manner, the many operations used in the building of an automobile. The picture follows the assembly line with units added in logical order, each unit being traced throughout its manufacture before the next is applied. This motion picture is even more interesting than a trip through the factory because many details which escape the eye are caught by the camera. Through the courtesy of Marlon Auto Co., Studebaker dealer, this picture has been obtained for a showing in this city. No admission will be charged.

should be freed and delivered unharmed. TIENTSIN, May 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Both the British and French chambers of commerce last night passed resolutions of protest against what is termed "the Lincing outrage." It is understood that the American Chamber of Commerce which met today will take some action. The Great War Veterans' association, a British association, adopted a resolution condemning the bandit outrage and demanding that armed foreign guards be carried on all express trains in the future.

Some Feared For
TIENTSIN, May 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Miss Lucy Aldrich, sister-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., arrived here on the late train from Tsinanfu, en route to Peking. She was accompanied by Miss MacFadden and Miss Schenberg, Dr. H. S. Houghton of the Peking medical college, in charge of the party, said the three had retired and forbade interviewing them.

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 9.—Friends here of Dr. A. M. Lowe, formerly a dentist in this city, expressed fear today that he was the Lowe referred to in dispatches as having been kidnapped Sunday from a train by bandits in China. Dr. Lowe has been living at Tsinanfu, Shantung province, China, two years.

INDIAN SCHOOL IS THROWN OPEN

Work of Students at Chemawa Exhibited for Benefit of Public

An invitation is extended to all the friends of the Salem Indian school to visit the school on Thursday and Friday for the annual "open house" demonstration. Every department of the school is thrown open for public inspection. The acres of home-canned fruits and vegetables that the girls of the school prepare every year will be on display. The hospital is thrown open. The shop work for the boys, and the sewing and household work for the girls, are all exhibited in attractive fashion. Especially in the domestic science department, the Salem school stands admittedly at the head of the whole Indian school system of the United States. And that would go without challenge for any school of any kind, of equal range—up to the 10th grade. The work this year has been exceptionally good; partly because of the sincere interest of

The Doctor Was Right

When the good old family doctor was asked about baking powders, he said: "Use Royal. It is made from Cream of Tartar and is absolutely pure. You could dissolve a couple of teaspoons of Royal in water and drink it with benefit. That's a health test mighty few baking powders can meet."

On Porch or Deck

THE paint that goes forth to sea on the decks of ships must be able to withstand the blistering heat of the sun's rays, the driving rain, and the dashing of waves over the ships' decks in storms. The porch, too, must brave the elements and yet keep spick and span to "welcome the coming, speed the parting guest."

BASS-HUETER Porch and Deck Paint

answers the needs of both home and ship. BASS-HUETER Paints are not only used by owners of yachts, launches and motor boats, but by the United States Shipping Board and a number of privately owned lines. While the chief use of BASS-HUETER Porch and Deck Paint is for porches and steps, you will realize that a paint we can recommend for the deck of a ship is bound to prove successful for your home.

When you next need to repaint these entrances to your home, insist on BASS-HUETER Porch and Deck Paint. It comes in several shades of gray and tan, as well as drab and light brown. Full directions for applying are on every can.
