

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Cousins Find Each Other.
Though they had lived in the same block for more than a year, Mrs. Ora F. McIntyre and Austin Kenny did not know they were cousins—were not even acquainted. They did not discover their relationship until an estate in the east was settled up, and each received a list of the heirs and their addresses. Mr. Kenny lives at 811 North Cottage street and Mrs. McIntyre at the time was living at 527 Center. Their mothers were sisters.

Measured Service Boosted.
The public service commission has received a letter from Providence, R. I., testifying to the success of the "measured service" telephone system. This system is stoutly opposed by the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company in the rate hearing now pending in Oregon, and the Providence letter will be used as an argument by the commission during the hearing.

Higher Rates Asked.
The Lebanon Light & Water company has filed with the public service commission an application for authority to increase its service rates, alleging that a deficit has been impossible to avoid under the present rates.

ASTORIA RELIEF OPINION GIVEN

Elementary School Tax Is Included in State Tax Return to City

The elementary school tax of 2 mills, adopted in Oregon in 1920, is to be included in calculating the state appropriation for Astoria relief, according to an opinion of Attorney General Van Winkle in reply to an inquiry by the state tax commission. The relief statute, passed by the 1923 legislature, requires the state tax commission to certify to the secretary of state the total amount of state taxes assessed and levied against property in Astoria. Then the secretary of state is required to draw a warrant on the state treasurer for that amount, payable to the city of Astoria in a sum equal to one-half the certification of the state tax commission. The amount of the first certification will be about $77,000. Inclusion of the school tax makes a difference of about $18,000 in Astoria's favor.

Though many have tried it none has ever succeeded in making himself happy in making others miserable. One may become rich through robbing others; but the very riches will be a nest of scorpions stinging his conscience. Whatever disguise he wears before the world, he will not be able to hide his moral nakedness. A brain incapable of a noble thought, whatever the rank in society of its possessor, can never ennoble anyone.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

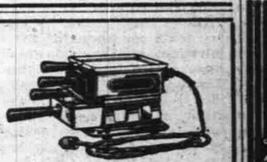

About the Salem hospital—
Let's talk about that:
A lot of Salem people were shown through the unfinished building yesterday afternoon. Among them was the writer here, Miss Gladys W. Steele, the superintendent, explained the uses proposed to be made of the rooms, from the boiler room in the basement to what will be the children's wards on the third floor. The arrangement is complete. Everything in the way of convenience has been planned for. When finished, as every one will agree who saw it yesterday afternoon, this will be one of the best arranged hospitals in the United States—to accommodate fifty patients. When the wings are added, it will be a handsome hospital, inside and outside. It will be an institution in which every Salemite will take pride. Well, in round numbers, $75,000 has so far been expended on the building. It is ready for the plasterers, and they will begin work tomorrow. They can finish in six weeks. It will take $35,000 more to finish the hospital as so far built; and furnish it ready for occupancy and use. It is understood that about $10,000 of the $25,000 is in hand.

The writer is not informed concerning the plans to secure the other $25,000. But the hospital ought to be completed. In the building now occupied there are 12 rooms. This building is to be used as quarters for the nurses. Salem needs the new hospital, badly. Some way ought to be found to be arranged for getting the balance of the money.

The construction so far is substantial and first class in all re-
