Walnut Men to Meet—An important meeting of the Western Walnut association is to be held at Portland, June 11, to discuss better grading of Oregon walnuts. Early advices from all over the Willamette valley indicate that this is to be the banner year for the Oregon walnut growers, and better grading with a view to giving the market a better reason to insist on Oregon products, is held to be imperative. All walnut growers are urged to attend and make it their own personal affair.

The mother is to have $50 for attorney's fees in the suit, and $20 a month for the custody of the child.

Boys See Animals—Through the kindness of Manager Hile of the Oregon theater, all the boys out at the State training school saw the wonderful picture "Hunting Big Game in Africa," at the school Tuesday evening. The films were taken to the school between the afternoon and the evening runs at the Liberty, and were put on by the boys having an early supper, darkening the windows and showing the film while the day was yet on. The picture made a tremendous hit with the lads, as it does with boys everywhere, and they voted their thanks to Mr. Hile for his remembrance of them.

At Old Stopping Place—All the street cars that finish their down-town run on State are now running clear through the Liberty street barrage to the regular stopping place between Commercial and Front streets. They had been held off of the Liberty Commercial block for almost a month, because of the relaying of the track and the replacement of the concrete pavement. Now it is seasoned so that the heavy cars can scoot across it and do no damage. The traveling public heaves a tremendous sigh of relief over the change for the better.

Club Leader Here—L. J. Allen, state livestock club leader, came into Salem last night with the Jersey Jubilee. He put on an exhibit of Jersey calf clubs in both Graham and Silverton on the jubilee trip and is now on his way to Corvallis where he has his headquarters at Oregon Agricultural college. He stayed at the Marion hotel last night.

Parade Delayed—The What's-the-Hurrys delayed the Decoration day parade by their everlastingly snailing into place and wasting approximately 10,000 hours of Salem's time in starting the parade; but outside of that, it was one of the most wonderful Decoration days Salem has ever known.

Klein, 1168 Oak street, who was headed south on Cottage. None of the machines were damaged to any extent.

RECITAL GIVEN AT WILLAMETTE

Roy Skeen and Lloyd Waltz of School of Expression Are Presented

One of the really charming entertainments of the year at Willamette was that presented Tuesday night. It was the recital by Roy Skeen, senior, and Lloyd Waltz, junior, in the school of expression. Mr. Waltz presented "The Traveling Man," a playlet with three principal characters, the delineation of the parts being vivid and true to life, and the play itself bubbling over with interest. Mr. Skeen presented "If I Were King," a standard classic, in a particularly forceful and vivid manner. Miss Mildred Strevey soprano, contributed a double number "Elegie" and "Morning," that greatly pleased the audience. The Willamette instrumental trio, Avery Hicks, cello, Delbert Moore, violin, and Byron Arnold, piano, rendered "Spanish Dance," in their usual finished, musicianly manner. Numerous call-backs were given during the program, indicating the appreciation of the audience of the various offerings.

SALEM THROUG PAYS TRIBUTE TO PATRIOTS

a bit of perspective to see in a Memorial day parade just what it means. Like "John Burns at Gettysburg," the question is whether one shows a hat that's white, or a feather. Not a great many white-feathered people march in the parades; and the shambling, out-of-time stepper may be the man who saved the regiment, or the ship. Only, he does look awkward!

Fine Tribute Paid
Thousands of people lined the streets, watching for the parade. It was a fine tribute to the soldiers, and the women of the patriotic bodies, who made up most of the marching column. Partly it was a personal tribute; mostly it was to the cause they have stood for, and the flag they bore. For either reason, the tribute was fine and heartfelt.

The program at the armory was not over-long. Judge Earl Race presided, and announced the numbers. First, the Salem band played Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever," the great martial piece so inseparably linked with the Spanish-American war. It was the most popular single military piece in the history of America, without doubt. It was played around the world in the nation's first war overseas, and it is still one of the most stirring martial numbers. Mrs. LaMoine R. Clark led in the congregational singing of "America." How the vast audience did sing! It was their America, and not a foreign name that they couldn't quite pronounce or understand. Veteran Chaplain Present
Dr. James Lisle, one of the last surviving chaplains of the Civil war, pronounced the invocation. Dr. Albert Loughridge, also of the Grand Army, read the first Memorial day proclamation as issued by General John H. Logan in 1868. Floyd McIntyre sang Kipling's "Recessional," the world's prayer for all nations that feel a responsibility for their mercies and their obligations to the generations yet unborn. Avery Thompson read Lincoln's Gettysburg address, in a thrilling manner that makes the great speech a personal matter to all who hear.

Governor Addresses Audience
Governor Walter M. Pierce, introduced as the speaker of the day, held the audience in the hollow of his hand for more than half an hour, with a scholarly, patriotic address peculiarly well fitted to the occasion. He is of Revolutionary stock; his mother, born in Boston, had four brothers, two of whom moved to the south in the early '50's, and the other two remained in the north; all served in the great war, two on either side and all perished—the war came that close to the governor's own family! Memorial day is a heritage of the Pierce as it is of the humblest crippled-old veteran or his proud descendants.

The speaker commented on the fact that it is now 58 years since the Grand Army came home. He traced the American history backwards, in similar units of time, making a striking comparison of what has happened in each of these units. He pictured the growth of industry and invention within the memory of the Grand Army soldiers. Napoleon in his march into and defeat by Russia in 1813, found it necessary to get back to Paris, 1300 miles, in the shortest possible time. It took him 13 days. There had been no whit of improvement since the days of Darius and Xerxes, the Persian king and conquerors of the world, 2300 years before. Scientific Advance Pictured
But the Union soldiers fought the first war in the history of the world in which the railroad entered as a factor; they have seen the growth of the telephone, the telegraph, the airplane, the submarine and every one of the deadly war machines and practices—more in the last 50 years than in all the 5000 years of recorded history.

"This is a good world we live in," he said. "It's worth the price you and others like you, in American history, have paid for it. We're not old; my mother, who passed at the age of 90, said at 88, 'Why Walter, I'm not old—there's no such thing so long as one is alive and able to serve.' We are being marvellously favored in living through to see our country as it is today."

Lincoln Eulogized
The governor is a profound student of history, and he has a grasp of the hidden meanings of the things that happen, that makes his historical addresses intensely interesting. His eulogy of Lincoln and Grant—his mother was a personal friend of Lincoln—was fine indeed. He closed with a quoted poem, "Old Glory," in which he took the Grand Army flag from "Dad" Wilson color sergeant for more than 60 years, and gave the story in dramatic form.

The day would give the lie to anyone who might want to believe that America has gone, is going or will ever go to the dogs. It couldn't, so long as people reverence the flag and what it stands for, as they did on this wonderful Memorial day.

GIRLS GIVE AWAY LIQUOR PLOT PLAN

Release of Thousands of Gallons From Warehouse Was Contemplated

CHICAGO, May 30.—Investigation of the alleged plot to release thousands of gallons of liquor from federal warehouses through bogus withdrawal permits, said by prohibition officials to have been uncovered with the arrest of Attorney John K. Monahan, a prohibition office employee, has caused suspension of six employees, several of them girls, and may reach "higher ups" according to Assistant District Attorney Joseph J. Merensky.

One woman employe has confessed that she received money from Monahan to withdraw the permits, supposedly made out to Catholic churches and charity institutions, from the mails and handed to Monahan who presented them in person at the warehouse and took out the liquor, Merensky said.

She was introduced to Monahan because a former congressman, Merensky said, the woman stated in her confession and was told that any favors she could do him "would be appreciated."
Three girls in the office, according to Merensky, were given $105 each to obtain the slips and to send them to Monahan.
Monahan was held under $2500 bond by United States Commissioner James Glass, who set his hearing for June 5.

Legion Protests Wreath; Klan Memorial Replaced

ROCKVILLE CENTER, N. Y., May 30.—A wreath from "The Rockville Center Ku Klux Klan" which was found at the base of Memorial Rock today and removed by Samuel W. Ellis, American Legion commander, was ordered returned by Village President G. Byron Lattimer, following numerous anonymous telephone calls protesting against its disappearance.

Railroads Are Planning Joint Usage of Tracks

PORTLAND, Or., May 30.—Agreement for joint use of the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation company branch between South Junction and Metolus by the O. W. and Spokane, Portland and Seattle will be signed during the next 30 days according to announcement made today by A. J. Davidson, general manager of the North Bank system.

Immediately after the agreement is signed, a sixty-day notice will be given so traffic arrangements can be made for the change in route. After the sixty day period the S. P. & S. will transfer to the O. W. tracks between the two Des Chutes points and will then begin to tear up 29 miles of Oregon trunk tracks between the two points.

At a series of meetings before the public service commission several months ago authority for the Oregon trunk was given.

MAY MAKE RUBBER
MANILA, P. I., May 30.—British North Borneo has hundreds of thousands of acres suitable for the growing of rubber, according to Sir William Rycroft, governor of that territory, who is in Manila, for a short visit. He said the Japanese have large concessions at Tawao on the east coast of Borneo, where they have 20,000 acres planted to rubber.

SMITH SUICIDES AT WASHINGTON

Trusted Henchman of Attorney Daugherty Kills Self in Hotel Room

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Jesse W. Smith, known in the inner circle of official Washington as the intimate associate and trusted political lieutenant of Attorney General Daugherty, shot and killed himself today in the hotel apartment occupied by him and the attorney general, in common, for the last two years.

Mr. Smith left behind no word of explanation, but his friends expressed the belief that it was worry over ill health which led him to end his life.
For some time he had suffered from a kidney disorder, and although outwardly he had appeared active and cheerful, he had told his physicians he had feared there was no cure for him.

War Veterans Refuse To Follow "Confeds"

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 30.—Twenty-four veterans of the war between the states refused to march in a joint Memorial Day parade here today when the chairman of the committee on arrangements, a federal veteran, refused them permission to carry the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy at the head of their column.

The veterans came from the Confederate home at Pewee valley, near Louisville, upon invitation, they said, of a committee to participate with the veterans of other wars in the exercises. The roster shows they enlisted in Texas, Kentucky, Virginia, North Carolina and Georgia. The youngest is 75 and the oldest is 90.

Pre-War Luxury Lacking At First Court Function

LONDON, May 30.—(By Associated Press.)—King George and Queen Mary tonight held the first court of the season. It was a brilliant function but there still was lacking the pre-war luxury in the gowns of the women. For the first time debutantes were permitted to wear colored frocks. The hues most favored were rose pink and forget-me-not blue.
Seven hundred guests were present, the affair being mainly diplomatic and official in character. The royal circle was rather small owing to illness and other causes.

50,000 ELKS TO MEET IN ATLANTA

Hotel Accommodations Enlarged and College Dorms to Be Utilized

ATLANTA, Ga., May 30.—Not less than 50,000 Elks from all parts of America are expected to be present at the annual convention of the grand lodge of the order which meets in Atlanta July 9 to 16. The gathering will assemble delegations from Maine to Hawaii, with present indications pointing to representation from a large majority of the 1,600 lodges in the country.

This is the first time that a convention of the grand lodge of Elks has ever been held in the southwest, and the first time in 10 years that the order has come south.
The Atlanta lodge is completing preparations to entertain a minimum of 75,000 visitors. The hotel capacity will be enlarged by July 1, college dormitories will be operated as temporary hotels, two vast Pullman cities will be set up in the heart of the city, and the grounds and buildings of the Southern Fair will be converted into a monster tourist camp to accommodate several thousand southern lodges which will make the trip by automobile. Thousands of private homes will also be opened.
A special railroad rate of a fare and a half for the round trip, under the identification plan, will be in force over practically all lines.

Solid Rock Observatory For St. Ignatius College

CLEVELAND, O., May 31.—A subterranean seismic observatory which probably will be the most completely equipped in America will be hewn in solid rock underlying the campus of the new St. Ignatius college in Fairmount Heights. Rev. Frederik L. Odenbach, S. J., professor of natural sciences and curator of the college observatory, announces.

"The rock underlying the new campus will give me a perfect foundation for my pendulum; and seismograph instruments," Father Odenbach said. "With this I shall be able to record the slightest tremor without the interference of local surface disturbances."

Department of Agriculture Will Help Hemp Growers

MANILA, May 30.—The department of agriculture is going to help the hemp growers of the southern islands. It will determine which varieties of abaca plants are best suited for given localities, and make them easily available to the growers. Some plants give 90 per cent efficiency; others only 10.

Hemp production in 1922 exceeded that of 1921 by 500,000 bales. Nineteen twenty-two saw the harvesting of 1,209,088 bales of 270 pounds each.

Whitman College Loses To State University

WALLA WALLA, May 30.—Harper, University of Washington hurler let Whitman down with 2 safe hits in today's game while his team mates were gathering 8 bingles for a 6 to 2 win over Whitman college before an immense Memorial day crowd.
Knutson, the local moundsman pitched good ball until the sixth inning when the bases being filled the batter bunted and Knutson held the ball while the two men scored. The next three sluggers hit for singles, scoring two more runs. This was Knutson's signal that he was up in the air and he was sent to the showers amidst a roar of jeers from the fans. Ward relieved him and held the visitors to two hits during the remaining three innings.

Whitman's second baseman threw his team into a state of unbusiness when he muffed three straight grounders.

A BUSINESS MAN SPEAKS
"If I had my school days to live over, I should take a course in bookkeeping in a business school."
"I estimate I have lost over $5000 because of my lack of knowledge. I know of a single instance in which I lost $17,000 because I had not enough knowledge of bookkeeping to read a business statement understandingly."
"I omitted a business course because I thought bookkeeping and stenography were merely for use in routine positions."
"The fact is there have been many occasions when such a knowledge would have been of incalculable value to me. Every man ought to know bookkeeping and shorthand."
