

CALIFORNIA PEACH GROWERS TO RECEIVE LOWER CROP PRICES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—Reductions ranging from $10 to $15 a ton were declared today in the price to be paid to growers by the California-Canning Peach Growers' association for both clings and free stones, at a meeting of the association here.

PEACHES OFFERED LOCAL MERCHANTS

First Shipment Arrives From California and Is Taken Thursday

Peaches, not the large, luscious ones that will be on the market a little later, but peaches nevertheless, were offered for sale on the local market for the first time this season Thursday.

Twenty-five crates were received in the initial shipment from California, and before evening local merchants had taken all but seven or eight of these. It is expected that the sales of these will not be very rapid, owing to the price of the early fruit.

Local fruit is being received, as are local vegetables. One car load of bananas were unloaded yesterday by the Pacific Fruit & Produce company to supply the local demand.

at a range varying from half a cent decline to 1 1/2 cents advance. July, $1.13 1/2 to $1.14, and September, $1.13 1/2 to $1.13 1/2. In oats the outcome was an eighth off to 3/4 cent up, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents higher.

The brief flurry in corn was to liquidation of May delivery and appeared to result chiefly from the fact that a greater number of traders than usual waited until their time limit had almost expired before effecting month-end settlement of contracts. Aside from the circumstance that all the grain markets showed an upward tendency today, the corn market reflected continued scantiness of receipts. Besides, gossip was current that the after-planting movement of corn to market was already over.

In addition to optimism as to a prospective agreement between France and Germany, bullish reports about crop conditions in western Europe tended to lift the price of wheat. Scattered liquidation here, however, on the part of holders of May wheat made the market nervous and irregular as a result of offerings of July and September were scarce at times, and shorts in those months who wished to cover found it difficult to do so except at a material advance.

Oats were helped upward by the strength of corn, with crop reports good though, as to oats, advances failed to hold well. The provisions market showed sympathy with the firmness of hog values.

Number one clings were set at $45 a ton, as against $60 for last year while No. 2 were set at $22.50 as against 30 last year.

Lovell free stones were set at 35 as against $45 last year while all other freestone varieties were set at $30 as against $40 last year.

A pack of approximately seven million cases of clings is expected this season as against 7,844,000 cases last year. The Free Stone pack will be about 1,315,000 cases, approximately the same as last season.

EUROPEAN RUMOR EFFECTS MARKET

France-Germany Settlement Indicated By General Bullish Action

CHICAGO, May 31.—Indications that France and Germany were near to a settlement had a general bullish effect on the grain markets today and the corn pit, further enlivened by belated shorts who ran up the price of May corn at a rapid rate in the last few minutes of the session. Corn finished strong at 1 to 5 1/2 cent gain, May, 82 1/2 c, the top price of the day, with July, 78 1/2 to 78 3/4 c. Wheat closed unsettled

PRICES IRREGULAR AT CLOSING TIME

Erratic Movement Features Stock Market; Marks and Francs Drop

NEW YORK, May 31.—Erratic price movements took place in today's stock market with closing prices decidedly irregular.

The upward movement, which has been in progress for the last week, was resumed at the opening, but trading became dull on the rally. Some selling then came into the oil shares despite the announcement of another increase in the wholesale price of gasoline in the western Pennsylvania and mid-continent fields. This was accentuated later by selling said to be indirectly connected with the bankruptcy proceedings against the largest curb market house. Just before the close, selling pressure was exerted against the equipment shares which previously had shown impressive strength.

Rails offered good resistance to selling pressure. Reports of the first 56 class 1 roads show combined net income of $61,200,000 in April, as compared with $60,600,000 in March, and $36,200,000 in April a year ago.

End of the month requirements resulted in a stiffening of the call money rate, which opened at 5 per cent and then advanced to 5 1/2. Little time money was offered.

The further collapse of the German mark to .0014 1/2 cent was the feature of the irregular foreign exchange market. Demand sterling advanced 3/4 c to $4.62 1/2, and French francs dropped eight points to 6.52 cents.

Rob Boardman and George Barnes of the Oregon State Motor association, are pleased with the progress made by their proteges.

"Johnny" Wright, the prize basketball and track man who came into Willamette last fall and has starred all through the year, is expecting to go aboard one of the United States shipping board vessels for a summer's cruise to the orient immediately after the close of the college year. He spent two years on the water, one on the Atlantic and one on the Great Lakes, and he expects to become an "A.B." on the Pacific for this, his third summer afloat.

Annual Reception to Be Given By Salvation Army

The annual "Y. P." reception and program of the Salvation army is to be held Saturday night at the barracks, when the young people of the army families are to be entertained. Part of the entertainment the young folks furnish for themselves, music, readings, games and a general good time. They expect to have the house full.

On Sunday, Col. and Mrs. T. W. Scott and Staff Captain Paul Heisinger are to be in Salem. They will speak at the morning services at the barracks at 11 o'clock, besides at the state prison two hours earlier. Colonel Scott is the fourth highest ranking officer in the entire west, and is rated as an unusually able speaker. He will have special charge of the holiness meeting Sunday morning. Captain Heisinger is social secretary for the states of Washington and Oregon.

Excavation Is Begun For Willamette Gym

They're actually at work on the new Willamette gymnasium. Two of the student helpers were out with axes and a big crosscut saw Wednesday, and they slaughtered four of the great yellow locust trees that have to make way for the big gym. Thursday morning grading teams and men with picks and shovels started in on the job of excavating for the basement of the big building.

The new building stands farther back than the old one, but it still fronts up on the high land level as did the old. The basement will be practically on a level with the track and the lower ground of the campus, so that it is really an above-ground story except at the extreme north end. The 120-days' limit set in the building contract, should give the university the building, completed and ready for use only 10 days after the opening of the fall term, September 19th.
